SUMMARY OF OUR INDUSTRY

The nuts and dry fruits industry forms an important segment of the agro commodities and food processing sector, catering to domestic consumption as well as export markets. The industry comprises sourcing, processing, grading, packaging and distribution of products such as almonds, cashews, walnuts, raisins, pistachios and other dried fruits. India is one of the leading consumers and processors of several nuts and dry fruits, supported by strong festive demand, increasing health consciousness and rising disposable incomes.

The sector has witnessed growing preference for packaged and branded products over loose sales, driven by quality assurance, food safety compliance and convenience. Expansion of modern retail, e-commerce platforms and institutional demand from bakery and confectionery segments further supports growth. With increasing formalisation, improved supply chain infrastructure and value-added processing, the industry is expected to experience steady medium- to long-term expansion.

SECTION III: RISK FACTORS

An investment in Equity Shares involves a high degree of financial risk. Investors should carefully consider all information in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, including the risks described below, before making an investment in our Equity Shares. If any of the following risks, or other risks that are not currently known or are now deemed immaterial, actually occur, our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition could suffer, the price of the Equity Shares could decline, and you may lose all or part of your investment. In making an investment decision, prospective investors must rely on their own examination of us and the terms of the Issue including the merits and risks involved. Investors should consult their tax, financial and legal advisors about particular consequences to them of an investment in the Issue. The risk factors set forth below do not purport to be complete or comprehensive in terms of all the risk factors that may arise in connection with our business or any decision to purchase, own or dispose of the Equity Shares. This section addresses general risks associated with the industry in which we operate and specific risks associated with our Company. However, there are certain risk factors where the financial impact is not quantifiable and, therefore, such financial impact cannot be disclosed in such risk factors. Unless specified or quantified in the relevant risk factors below, we are not in a position to quantify the financial or other implications of any of the risks described in this section. Any of the following risks, as well as the other risks and uncertainties discussed in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, could have a material adverse effect on our business and could cause the trading price of our Equity Shares to decline and you may lose all or part of your investment.

This Draft Red Herring Prospectus also contains forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. Our actual results could differ materially from those anticipated in these forward-looking statements as a result of certain factors, including the considerations described below and elsewhere in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus. However, there are risk factors where the impact may not be quantifiable and hence the same has not been disclosed in such risk factors. The numbering of the risk factors has been done to facilitate ease of reading and reference and does not in any manner indicate the importance of one risk factor over another.

INTERNAL RISK FACTORS

1. Substantial portion of our revenues has been dependent upon few customers, with which we do not have any firm commitments. The loss of any one or more of our major customers would have a material adverse effect on our business, cash flows, results of operations and financial condition.

The substantial portion of our revenues has been dependent upon few customers. For instance, the revenue of our top ten customers for FY 2023-24 and FY 2022-23 was ₹ 7,251.25 lakhs and ₹ 2,072.20 lakhs which accounted for 99.92 % and 92.78 % of our revenue from operations for the respective years. But for the period ended November 30, 2025 and for the FY 2024-25 the revenue from our top ten customers was ₹ 8,756.94 lakhs and ₹ 6,053.71 lakhs which accounted for 39.78% and 58.75% respectively, primarily on account of an increase in our overall customer base and revenues from new customers.

Our reliance on a limited number of customers for our business exposes us to risks, that may include, but are not limited to, reductions, delays or cancellation of orders from our significant customers, a failure to negotiate favourable terms with our key customers or the loss of these customers, all of which would have a material adverse effect on the business, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows and future prospects of our Company. In addition, we have not entered into long term agreements with our customers and the success of our business is accordingly significantly dependent on maintaining good relationship with them. The loss of one or more of these significant customers or a reduction in the amount of business we obtain from them could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

Further, there is no guarantee that we will retain the business of our existing key customers or maintain the current level of business with each of these customers. In order to retain some of our existing customers, we may also be required to offer terms to such customers which may place restraints on our resources. Additionally, our revenues may be adversely affected if there is an adverse change in any of our customers' supply chain strategies or a reduction in their outsourcing of products we offer, or if our customers decide to choose our competitors over us or if there is a significant reduction in the volume of our business with such customers. We cannot assure you that we will be able to maintain historic levels of business and/or negotiate and execute long term contracts on terms that are commercially viable with our significant customers or that we will be able to significantly reduce customer concentration in the future. Further, the sales volume may vary due to our customers' attempts to manage their inventory, market demand, product and supply pricing trends, change in customer preferences etc., which may result in decrease in demand or lack of commercial success of our products, which could reduce our sales and adversely affect our business, cash flows, results of operations and financial condition.

The following table provides the total number of customers and comparison between revenue from top 10 customers to total revenue.

Particulars	As at November 30, 2025	As at March 31, 2025	As at March 31, 2024	As at March 31, 2023
Number of Customers	794	101	14	22
Revenue from top 10 Customers (Rs. In lakhs)	8,756.94	6,053.71	7,251.25	2,072.20
% of Total Revenue	39.78%	58.75%	99.92%	92.78%

2. We have competition from various organized and unorganized local suppliers which could results in the loss of market share and impact on our net revenue and profitability

We face competition from both organized suppliers—large, established businesses with formal structures, processes and resources—and unorganized local suppliers, which are typically smaller, informal entities with less structure. This competition may result in a loss of market share, leading to a negative impact on our net revenue and profitability. Furthermore, we encounter intense competition from other wholesalers and retailers offering products similar to ours. We compete across multiple dimensions, including brand recognition, value for money, product quality, pricing and supply chain efficiency, all of which can affect our market position and financial performance. Additionally, the presence of low-cost local suppliers and the growing influence of well-established organized competitors increases the challenge of maintaining our competitive edge.

As we strive to differentiate ourselves, factors such as customer loyalty, innovation and operational efficiency become crucial to preserving our market share. If we are unable to effectively respond to competitive pressures or adjust to changing market conditions, it may limit our ability to grow, protect margins, and sustain long-term profitability. Moreover, shifts in consumer preferences, technological advancements, or new market entrants could further intensify the competitive landscape, making it even more challenging to retain our position in the market.

3. The procurement and storage of our products, spoilage and damage to such products or any contamination in our products are subject to regulatory action and damage our reputation and have adverse effect on our business results in operations and financial conditions.

All of the products that we deal in are intended for human consumption and are exposed to risks such as contamination and adulteration. While we conduct quality tests, we cannot guarantee that these tests will always be accurate. Any shortcomings in the procurement, storage, or handling of our products—whether due to negligence, human error, or other factors—could damage the products and lead to non-compliance with regulatory standard. Allegations that our products are contaminated, even if unfounded, could harm our reputation, adversely affect sales, and potentially lead to legal actions. While we cannot entirely rule out the possibility of future claims, general insurance coverage for imported products is taken. If any of our products are perceived or found to be contaminated, we could face regulatory actions, product recalls, and significant harm to our reputation, business, operations and financial condition. Despite our efforts to maintain quality standards, we cannot guarantee uniform quality across all products and any inconsistency could damage our brand value and reduce sales, especially if we become associated with negative publicity.

4. We are exposed to various costs, including shipping charges, transportation fees and warehouse expenses, which can impact our overall operational expenses and profitability

We rely on third-party suppliers for sourcing products for both trading and processing activities, including imported goods. Our business operations are subject to significant financial obligations related to logistics and warehousing, including

- Shipping costs for transporting goods from suppliers to our facilities and from our facilities to customers
- Transportation costs for moving products between warehouses and delivery locations
- Warehousing costs including rental fees, utilities, and material handling charges

These expenses constitute a material component of our operational costs. Any adverse fluctuations such as increases in fuel prices, revision in shipping tariffs, higher port charges, or increases in storage rental rates could adversely impact our cost structure and profitability, particularly if we are unable to pass on such cost increases to our customers in a timely manner or at all. Additionally, delays or inefficiencies in shipping, transportation, or warehousing operations could result in product unavailability, delayed deliveries to customers, and deterioration in customer satisfaction, which may harm our business reputation and customer relationships. In periods of high demand for warehousing space or during peak logistics seasons, we may face constraints in securing adequate storage facilities or transportation services at commercially viable rates. Our ability to effectively manage these supply chain costs, negotiate favourable terms with logistics service providers, optimize inventory levels, and implement cost-control measures will be critical to maintaining our margins. Any failure to manage these expenses effectively could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and cash flows.

5. Substantial portion of our revenue is generated from trading activities, which depends on third parties for sourcing the products.

We derive a significant portion of our revenue from trading activities. For the period ended November 30, 2025 and for the financial years 2025, 2024 and 2023, our revenue from Trading, Processing and Packaging activities were ₹21,842.19 lakhs, ₹10,303.55 lakhs, ₹7,256.71 lakhs and ₹2,233.48 lakhs. During the aforementioned financial years, we have traded mainly in dry fruits. During the period ended November 30, 2025, we commenced processing activities, which contributed ₹11,919.88 lakhs (54.14%) to our total revenue from operations. While we intend to continue developing our processing business alongside our trading operations, both verticals remain dependent on timely and cost-effective procurement from external vendors, and any disruption in the supply chain or vendor relationships could materially impact our overall business performance.

Our dependence on external vendors for product procurement expose us to various risks, including but not limited to delays, reduction or failures in timely product delivery, quality control issues due to lack of oversight, difficulties in negotiating favourable terms and potential shifts in vendors' sales strategies or focus. Any of these factors could materially impact our business, financial condition, operational results, and future prospects. Additionally, any disruption in the supply chain, whether due to vendor financial instability, geopolitical factors, or unforeseen circumstances, could further affect our ability to meet customer demand and maintain competitive pricing. As a result, any adverse changes in the performance or strategy of these vendors could have a significant negative impact on our business operations, financial outcomes, and overall market position.

The following table provides us with the bifurcation of our Trading, Processing and Packaging Activities of Dry Fruits.

6. Increases in customs duties and import tariffs on raw dry fruits pose a financial risk, as unexpected rises in these levies could negatively impact our profitability and cash flow.

We face a financial risk related to customs duties and import tariffs on dry fruits sourced from international markets. If these duties unexpectedly increase, it could hurt the Company's profitability and cash flow. Since customs duties and tariffs are recurring costs associated with our import-based business model, any unplanned rise in these charges could strain the company's financial resources, making it more difficult to maintain healthy profit margins or cover operational costs. This risk underscores the importance of monitoring and forecasting tariff expenses effectively.

Continually rising customs duties and import tariffs could lead to a situation where the company is forced to absorb these higher expenses without being able to pass them on to customers through price increases, particularly if the market is highly competitive or price-sensitive. This could result in reduced profit margins and lower overall profitability. Additionally, unexpected hikes in import duties could disrupt cash flow, making it harder for the company to meet its short-term obligations, like paying suppliers, employees, or service providers. The unpredictability of tariff policy changes adds an extra layer of financial strain, requiring the company to allocate additional resources for contingency planning or to seek ways to optimize its sourcing or operational processes to offset these costs. Effective cost management and strategic pricing adjustments are crucial to mitigate the impact of these potential financial pressures.

However, we maintain a balanced sourcing approach by procuring raw materials through a mix of inland and international suppliers based on factors such as price competitiveness, quality, and availability. This diversified sourcing model provides us with operational flexibility to adjust procurement channels depending on prevailing market conditions. Consequently, any adverse impact arising from increases in customs duties or import tariffs on imported raw materials may be partially mitigated through greater reliance on inland sourcing.

The following table provides the bifurcation between Inland and Import purchases for the period ended November 30, 2025, and year ended FY 2024-25, FY 2023-24 and FY 2022-23.

7. We are exposed to counterparty credit risk, and any delays or non-receipt of payments could negatively affect our operational results and financial performance.

We are exposed to counterparty credit risk, and significant delays or non-receipt of large payments could negatively affect our operational results. Our business involves extending credit to customers for product sales, which exposes us to the risk of uncertainty around the timely receipt of outstanding amounts. Consequently, we face the risk of uncertainties regarding the receipt of these outstanding amounts. We cannot guarantee that we will always accurately assess the creditworthiness of our customers. Additionally, macroeconomic factors beyond our control, such as a potential global financial crisis, could lead to financial difficulties for our customers, including restricted access to credit markets, insolvency or bankruptcy. These conditions may result in payment delays, requests for modified payment terms, or defaults, all of which could increase our receivables. The timely collection of dues also depends on our ability to fulfil contractual obligations and subsequently bill and collect from clients. While we have not encountered such issues in the past, failure to meet our contractual commitments could lead to delays in collecting or an inability to collect customer balances, negatively impacting our operations and cash flows.

8. The company's business is dependent on certain suppliers and the loss of one or more of them would have a material adverse effect on the business. Also, we do not have any long term agreement with our suppliers.

A substantial portion of the company's purchases has been dependent upon a few suppliers. Our inability to obtain raw material in a timely manner, in sufficient quantities could adversely affect our operations, financial condition and/ or profitability. We depend on a number of suppliers, for procurement of raw materials required for processing of our products. For the stub period ended 30th November, 2025 the top ten suppliers accounted for 50.97%, for the FY ended March 31, 2025 the company had only 5 suppliers they accounted for 100%, for the FY ended March 31, 2024 the company had only 4 suppliers and they accounted for 100% and for the FY ended March 31, 2023, the company had only 9 suppliers and they accounted for 100% of our total purchases respectively. We have not entered into long term contracts with our suppliers and prices for raw materials are normally based on the quotes we receive from various suppliers/brokers. Inadequate and unavailability/ substandard quality of the raw materials used in the manufacture of our products, could have a material adverse effect our business. Further, any discontinuation of production by these suppliers or a failure of these suppliers to adhere to the delivery schedule or the required quality and quantity could hamper our manufacturing schedule. There can be no assurance that strong demand, capacity limitations or other problems experienced by our suppliers will not result in occasional shortages or delays in their supply of raw materials to us. Further, we cannot assure you that our suppliers will continue to be associated with us on reasonable terms, or at all. Since our suppliers are not contractually bound to deal with us exclusively, we may face the risk of our competitors offering better terms to such suppliers, which may cause them to cater to our competitors alongside. In the event that we fail to secure sufficient quantities of such raw materials from our suppliers at acceptable quality and prices in a timely manner, our business, financial performance and cash flows may be adversely affected.

The following table provides the % of Purchases from top 10 Suppliers to Total Purchases for the period ended November 30, 2025, and year ended FY 2024-25, FY 2023-24 and FY 2022-23.

(Rs. In Lakhs)
Particulars	November 30, 2025	March 31, 2025	March, 31, 2024	March 31,2023
Total Purchases	15,323.29	9,043.15	5,555.89	1,737.92
% of Purchases from top 10 Suppliers	50.98%	100%	100%	100%

9. We lack backward integration in our dry fruits trading and processing business, which exposes us to supply chain risks, and our inability to meet evolving traceability and food safety standards could adversely affect our operations.

Our Company is engaged in importing dry fruits and lacks backward integration into agricultural production or processing at the source. We are dependent on third-party suppliers and traders in source countries as well as in India for procurement, which limits our control over quality, availability, pricing, and supply chain of raw materials. Additionally, dry fruits are perishable commodities subject to stringent traceability and food safety standards imposed by importing countries, including requirements for origin certification, complete supply chain traceability, compliance with FSSAI, FDA requirements, pesticide residue testing, phytosanitary certificates, etc.

Our inability to maintain complete documentation, implement robust track-and-trace systems, or ensure supplier compliance with evolving international standards could result in shipment rejections at ports, customs delays, cancellation of import permits, financial penalties, or import restrictions. Without backward integration, we have limited ability to implement preventive or corrective actions at the source level.

10. Our Company experienced negative cash flow from operations for the period ended November 30, 2025 and FY 2023-24, which may indicate underlying operational inefficiencies and could adversely affect our liquidity and financial condition.

This negative cash flow for period ended November 30, 2025 of Rs. 303.40 Lakhs arises primarily from the substantial increases in trade receivables, inventories advance paid to creditors and amid rapid revenue growth from dry fruits trading, coupled with higher advances and other current assets. Also, for the year ended FY 2023-24 the Company experienced negative cash flow of Rs. 156.15 due to increase in Trade Receivables because of rapid growth in revenue. Such cash flow mismatches expose us to liquidity risks, particularly in a working capital-intensive sector like dry fruits trading and processing, where we depend on third-party suppliers and extend credit to concentrated customers without long-term commitments.

There can be no assurance that we will generate positive cash flows from operations in future periods or sustain adequate liquidity to fund growth initiatives, including processing expansion and the proposed acquisition using Issue proceeds. Continued or recurring negative operating cash flows could impair our ability to meet obligations, procure raw materials, or pursue strategic plans, materially impacting our business, results of operations, cash flows, and financial condition. Investors should refer to “Restated Financial Statements” and “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations” on page no 263 and 311 for detailed cash flow analysis.

(Rs. In Lakhs)

Particulars	November 30, 2025	March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
Cash Flow from Operations	(303.40)	457.90	(156.15)	152.43

11. Our operating results could be materially harmed if we are unable to accurately forecast consumer demand for our products or manage our inventory.

We strive to keep optimum inventory to control our costs and working capital requirements. To maintain an optimal inventory, we monitor our inventory levels based on our projections of demand as well as on a real-time basis. We manage our inventory by constantly monitoring and tracking our current inventory levels, while keeping a small portion of reserve stock, based on our forecast for customer demand. If we fail to accurately forecast customer demand, we may experience excess inventory levels or a shortage of products available for sale. Inventory levels in excess of customer demand may result in inventory write-offs and the sale of excess inventory at discounted prices, which may cause our gross margin to suffer and could impair the strength of our brand. On the other hand, in the case we experience shortage of products, we may be unable to meet the demand for our products, and our business and operating results could be adversely affected. Therefore, an inaccurate forecast can also result in an over-supply of products, which may increase inventory costs, negatively impact cash flow, reduce the quality of inventory, shrinkages and ultimately lead to reduction in margins. Any of the aforesaid circumstances could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

12. Our insurance coverage may not fully protect us against all operational risks, which could negatively impact the results of our business

Our insurance policies may not always be sufficient or effective in covering all risks. We may not have identified every potential risk, and we might not be insured against all possible events, including operational risks. Additionally, the occurrence of events resulting in losses exceeding our policy limits or arising from uncovered risks could materially impact our financial health and future operations. There is no guarantee that claims will be fully or promptly honoured under our insurance policies. Furthermore, our financial condition could be adversely affected if we incur losses that are not covered by insurance or exceed our coverage limits. We may also face challenges in renewing certain insurance policies upon their expiration, either on acceptable terms or at all. For details of the insurance policies taken by the Company please see “Business Overview” – on page no 179 of Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

13. Our company is subject to foreign exchange control regulations, which may expose us to the risk of currency fluctuations.

Our company engages in import of dry fruits, which must comply with the rules and regulations set forth under FEMA. Our imports, expose us to currency fluctuation risks, which could directly impact our financial results. If we fail to adhere to the required timelines or are unable to manage currency fluctuation risks effectively, it could negatively affect our business, financial performance, and cash flows.

14. We have significant working capital needs. If we are unable to secure or maintain adequate cash flow, credit facilities, or other funding sources in a timely manner to meet our working capital requirements or repay our debts, it could negatively impact our operations and financial stability.

We require significant amount of working capital for procurement of goods from domestic and international suppliers, and to manage the inventory, payment terms, logistics and distributions, one of the objects of the offer is to meet our future working capital requirements, we may need additional funding to support our growth plans, manage fluctuations in market demand, and ensure smooth operations across our supply chain, ultimately enabling us to capitalize on new business opportunities and maintain financial stability. This funding will also help us manage unforeseen expenses, mitigate risks associated with currency fluctuations and ensure timely payments to suppliers and creditors. Additionally, it will enable us to invest in improving our operational efficiency, enhancing inventory management and expanding our market reach, which are essential for sustaining long-term growth and profitability. Without sufficient working capital, our ability to meet these goals and address potential challenges in a dynamic business environment could be adversely affected.

The working capital requirements for the period ended November 30, 2025 and for the last three Financial years i.e, 2025, 2024, 2023 and working is as follows:

(₹ in lakhs)

15. We have recently commenced our processing/manufacturing activities, and our limited experience in this segment may adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

Historically, our operations have been primarily focused on trading activities. We have recently entered into processing and manufacturing to enhance value addition; however, we have limited experience in managing such operations, including production processes, quality control, and regulatory compliance.

Our manufacturing activities are subject to risks such as operational inefficiencies, equipment breakdowns, supply chain disruptions, and challenges in maintaining consistent product quality, which may lead to increased costs and operational delays.

Further, these activities require significant capital investment, and there can be no assurance of achieving expected returns or optimal capacity utilization. Any failure to efficiently manage or scale our manufacturing operations or integrate them with our existing business may adversely impact our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

16. Our business is operating under various laws which require us to obtain approvals from the concerned statutory/regulatory authorities in the ordinary course of business and our inability to obtain, maintain or renew requisite statutory and regulatory permits and approvals for our business operations could materially and adversely affect our business, prospects.

Our business operates under various laws that require approvals from statutory and regulatory authorities, including the FSSAI license for food-related operations. Failure to obtain, maintain, or renew the necessary permits and approvals could significantly impact our business, operations, prospects and financial condition. Additionally, any delays or inability to comply with regulatory requirements could lead to fines, penalties, or disruptions in our operations, affecting our ability to conduct business smoothly. Changes in laws or regulations, particularly those related to food safety, health standards, or environmental compliance, could further pose challenges and require additional investments to ensure continued compliance. Such issues could harm our reputation, customer trust, and ultimately impact our financial performance.

Additionally, we are in the process of applying for certain approvals, licenses, registrations and permits, which are required for our business and further, we also intend to update the approvals, licenses, registrations and permits obtained by us in the new name of the Company pursuant to the conversion of our Company from private limited to public limited company.

Any failure to renew the approvals that have expired or apply for and obtain the required approvals, licenses, registrations or permits, or any suspension or revocation of any of the approvals, licenses, registrations and permits that have been or may be issued to us, may impede our operations. For further details see “Government and Other Statutory Approvals” on page no 329 of Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

Further in the event of non-renewal of these lease agreements, our operations and profitability may be adversely affected. We cannot assure you that we will be able to continue the above arrangement on commercially favourable terms in future. If we are required to vacate the current premises, we would be required to make alternative arrangements for our processing or warehouse unit, and we cannot assure that the new arrangements will be on commercially acceptable/favourable terms. If we do not comply with certain conditions of the lease, it may lead to termination of the lease which would have an adverse effect on our operations and there can be no assurance that renewal of lease agreement will be entered into. In the event of non-renewal of lease, we may be required to shift to our processing or warehouse unit to a new location and there can be no assurance that the arrangement our Company entered into in respect of new premises would be on such terms and conditions as the present one. For details on properties taken on lease by us please refer “Business Overview” beginning on page 179.

- 18. Our business heavily depends on trust-based relationships with our selling and distribution network, which includes wholesalers, distributors. Any disruptions to these relationships, changes in their business practices, or failure to adhere to agreed-upon payment schedules could negatively impact our operations, cash flow, and overall financial performance.

We are dependent on our selling and distribution network includes the wholesalers, retailers for sale of our products the efficiency and effectiveness of these partners play a critical role in ensuring the timely delivery and availability of our products in the market. Any disruptions in their operations, such as logistical challenges, financial instability or changes in their sales strategies, could impact our product reach, market penetration and revenue generation. As a result, maintaining strong and reliable relationships with these network partners is essential to sustaining consistent sales and business growth.

19. If we are unable to service our debt obligations in a timely manner or to comply with various financial and other covenants and other terms and conditions of our financing agreements, it may adversely affect our business, prospects, results of operations and financial condition.

As of November 30, 2025, our Company had total indebtedness in the form of short term and long-term borrowings of ₹ 727.03 lakhs. Our indebtedness could have several important consequences, including but not limited to the following:

- a portion of our cash flows may be used towards repayment of our existing debt, which will reduce the availability of our cash flows to fund working capital, capital expenditures and other general corporate requirements;
- our ability to obtain additional financing in the future at reasonable terms may be restricted;
- fluctuations in market interest rates may affect the cost of our borrowings, as some of our indebtedness is at variable interest rates;
- there could be a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations if we are unable to service our indebtedness or otherwise comply with financial and other covenants specified in the financing agreements.

For further details in this regard, please refer to chapter titled “Statement of Financial Indebtedness” beginning on page 323.

20. We are subject to strict quality requirements and any failure by us to comply with quality standards may lead to cancellation of existing and future orders.

Our business is subject to adherence with the quality standards as per market practices and the requirements of our customers. Any failure by us to achieve or maintain compliance with these requirements or standards may adversely affect our orders from our customers. Our customers may choose our competitors over us if we fail to meet the quality standards, which may in-turn harm our reputation. In case of degradation in quality, we may also become subject to legal proceedings and commercial or contractual disputes. Further, if we incur significant liabilities for which there is no or insufficient insurance coverage our business, financial condition and results of operations could be adversely affected. However, we have, to date, not experienced any material instance of cancellation of orders, legal proceedings, or contractual disputes arising from non-compliance with quality standards. We have implemented internal quality control processes and monitoring mechanisms aimed at ensuring consistent compliance with applicable quality requirements

21. We mainly operate in Northern part and Western part of India and failure to expand our operations into the Southern regions and markets may restrict our growth and adversely affect our business.

Currently, we are supplying majority of our products mainly in the Maharashtra, Madhya Pradesh, Gujarat and New Delhi region and hence more than 75 % of our revenue for the period ended November 30, 2025 and more than 90% of our revenue in last 3 financial year is generated from these regions only. Accordingly, any materially adverse social, political or economic development, natural calamities, civil disruptions, regulatory developments or changes in the policies of the state or local government in this region could adversely affect our business activities, result in modification of our business strategy, which will in turn have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition & results of operations.

Geographical and functional expansion of our business requires establishment of adequate network. As we seek to diversify our regional focus, we may face the risk that our competitors may be better known in other markets, enjoy better relationships with customers. Our lack of exposure in geographical boundaries outside our operating regions and our foray into new geographies or into new products in the existing geographies may be subject to high barriers to entry including existing competition, local laws and market dynamics and could impact our future revenues, our operating results and financial conditions.

Further, we may not be able to effectively assess the level of promotional marketing required in a particular state, and the recognition of our brands and products in such states may not be in the manner or to the extent anticipated by us. Our expansion into new geographies may also be challenging on account of our lack of familiarity with the social, political, economic and cultural conditions of these new regions, language barriers, difficulties in staffing and managing such operations and the lack of brand recognition and reputation in such regions. We may also encounter other additional anticipated risks and significant competition in such markets.

22. We have recently entered the retail segment, and our lack of experience in this business vertical may adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

Historically, our operations have been concentrated in the B2B sector. We have recently entered into the retail segment (B2C) through our newly launched brand, 'Hunger Nuts', targeting direct consumer markets. As this is a new initiative, we have limited experience in retail operations, including consumer marketing, brand positioning, distribution management, and direct-to-consumer sales. The market response and consumer acceptance remain uncertain and subject to changing consumer preferences, competitive pressures, and macroeconomic conditions. Any unfavourable market response or delay in brand establishment could expose us to increased marketing expenses, inventory obsolescence, pricing pressures, and reduced profit margins. There can be no assurance that our retail entry will be successful or yield expected financial returns within the anticipated timeframe. Furthermore, our retail expansion requires significant capital allocation and management bandwidth that may divert focus from our core B2B business. We may need to invest substantially in retail infrastructure, including distribution networks, warehousing facilities, and brand building activities, without certainty of adequate returns. Any failure to successfully establish our retail presence or manage dual business verticals effectively could materially and adversely affect our business prospects, financial condition, and results of operations.

23. Our ability to pay dividends in the future will be determined by factors such as our future earnings, financial health, cash flow, working capital needs, capital expenditures, and any restrictive covenants in our financing agreements if any

The company needs to generate enough profit to consider paying dividends to its shareholders. Without sufficient earnings, paying dividends may not be possible. The overall financial health of the company, including its assets, liabilities and equity, will affect its ability to pay dividends. If the company is facing financial challenges, it may need to reserve its cash for operational needs rather than distribute it as dividends. Regular and predictable cash inflows are crucial for the company to maintain its operations and also pay dividends. A strong cash flow ensures there is enough liquidity available for pay-outs and sometimes, the company's financing agreements may have conditions (covenants) that limit or restrict dividend payments. For example, creditors may impose conditions on the level of dividends to ensure that the company can meet its debt obligations. For details of our dividend history, see 'Dividend Policy' on page 262 of this Red Herring Prospectus.

24. Our lenders have charge over our immovable and movable properties in respect of the finance availed by us

We have secured over lenders by creating charge over our movable and immovable properties respect of purchase of property. We have extended such loan against hypothecation of our Company's Property and movable assets. Any default in repayment of such loan can potentially lead to the lenders disposing off our assets. For further information on the financing and loan agreements along with the total amounts outstanding and the details of the repayment schedule, please refer to chapter "Statement of Financial Indebtedness" beginning on page 323.

25. Our future success is closely tied to our ability to build and promote our brand while safeguarding our reputation. Failure to establish a strong brand presence or any damage to our reputation could hinder our growth and progress

Our Company is engaged in trading of wide range of dry fruits under the brand name "ADON AGRO COMMODITIES" and has recently stepped into the retail sector under the brand name "HUNGER NUTS". We believe that the market perception of our brands is a critical factor in sustaining consumer demand for our products. To maintain brand popularity and recognition, we engage in various marketing and advertising activities. Our strategy to scale up branding, promotional and digital initiatives is essential to our future success. We have already invested considerable time, effort, and resources into advertising and market promotion and will need to continue doing so. As we work to strengthen our brand recognition and expand our customer base, we may need to allocate even more resources, which could affect our profitability. However, we cannot guarantee the success of our marketing efforts, as their effectiveness depends on numerous factors, including the impact of our campaigns, the consistency and quality of our products, the variety we offer, market penetration, and product availability through retailers.

Any negative publicity or consumer perception regarding the quality of our products, the range of our product portfolio, pricing strategy, or similar factors—whether or not such claims are true—could harm the public perception of our brand. This may have a detrimental effect on our brand image, potentially reducing our brand value and eroding consumer trust. Even false or unfounded allegations related to product quality or misbranding could damage our brand reputation.

26. If we fail to successfully expand our product portfolio or fail to develop and commercialize new products that are well received by consumers in a timely manner, our operating results may be materially and adversely affected.

Our ability to compete successfully depends in large part on our ability to continue to introduce new products in the retail sector as per consumer tastes and preferences that are well received by consumers in a timely manner which in turn can grow our household user base. Our ability to roll out new products depends on a number of factors, including significant quality control and packaging of our products and effective management of our supply chain. The execution of such initiatives can be complex and costly. As such, we could experience delays in completing the development and introduction of new products in the future. To the extent we are unable to execute our strategy of continuously introducing new products, diversifying our product portfolio and satisfying consumers' changing tastes and preferences, we may not be able to grow our household user base and our competitive position.

Further our expansion into new product categories and substantial increases in product lines may expose us to new challenges and more risks. Our potential lack of familiarity with new products and the lack of relevant customer data relating to these products may make it more difficult for us to anticipate user demand and preferences. We may misjudge market demand, resulting in inventory build-up and possible inventory write-downs. We may not be able to effectively control our costs and expenses in rolling out these new product categories and scenarios. We may have certain quality issues and experience higher return rates on new products or receive more customer complaints which would harm our brand and reputation as well as our financial performance.

Furthermore, we may need to price our new products more aggressively to penetrate new markets, and gain market share or remain competitive. It may be difficult for us to achieve profitability in the new product categories and our profit margin, if any, may be lower than we anticipate, which would adversely affect our overall profitability and results of operations.

27. Increased losses resulting from fraud, employee negligence, theft, or similar incidents could negatively affect our business.

Our business, along with the industry we operate in, faces risks such as employee pilferage, damage, misappropriation of cash and issues related to inventory management and logistical errors. An increase in product losses due to these factors may require us to invest in additional security measures, surveillance equipment and inventory management systems, leading to higher operational costs. However, we cannot guarantee that these measures will fully prevent such losses. Moreover, cash management in our operations carries inherent risks, including theft, robbery, employee fraud and the challenges of transferring cash to banks. In the event of losses caused by theft, financial misappropriation, fire, breakage, or other accidents, we cannot assure that we will recover the full amount from insurance in a timely manner, or at all. Furthermore, filing insurance claims could result in higher premiums or even the termination of coverage under the relevant policy. While we have not, as of the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, experienced any material losses arising from employee pilferage, cash misappropriation, inventory-related discrepancies, or similar incidents, there can be no assurance that such events will not occur in the future.

28. Our Company has recently incorporated a wholly owned subsidiary in Dubai, and any inability to successfully establish, operate, or sustain its overseas operations could adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

We have recently incorporated a wholly owned subsidiary in Dubai to explore overseas business opportunities. As this subsidiary has been incorporated only recently, it has limited operating history, and there is no assurance that its operations will be commercially viable or sustainable in the long term.

The establishment and operation of a foreign subsidiary involve certain risks, including compliance with local laws and regulations, differences in business practices, foreign exchange fluctuations, higher administrative and compliance costs, and challenges in managing overseas operations. The subsidiary may also incur initial losses and may require additional financial or managerial support from the Company.

Any inability to successfully establish, operate, or sustain the business of our wholly owned subsidiary, or any adverse developments in the foreign jurisdiction, could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

Sr. No	Business Name	License No.	Country	Registration Date
1	Adon Agro Trading LLC	1555811	Dubai	November 13, 2025

Note: The Company has committed AED 1,00,000 towards the subscription of 100 shares as initial contribution in Adon Agro Trading L.L.C., the remittance of which is yet to be completed.

29. As we continue to grow, we may not be able to effectively manage our growth and the increased complexity of our business, which could negatively impact our brand and financial performance.

Continued growth of our business and household user base requires us to expand our product portfolio, strengthen our brand recognition, expand and enhance our sales channels, better manage our supply chain, upgrade our information systems and technologies, secure more space for our expanding workforce, and devote other resources to our business expansions, among others. As we continue to grow, managing our business will become more complicated as we develop a wider product mix, some of which we may have less experience in. In addition, as we increase our product offerings, we will need to work with a larger number of business partners and maintain and expand mutually beneficial relationships with our existing and new business partners. Our inability to manage the expansion of our products range, customer base and execute our growth strategy in a timely manner or within budgeted estimates, or our inability to meet the expectations to track the changing preferences of our customers could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

We cannot assure you that we will be able to effectively manage our growth, that our current personnel, infrastructure, systems, procedures and controls or any measures to enhance them will be adequate and successful to support our expanding operations or that our strategies and new business initiatives will be executed successfully. If we are not able to manage our growth or execute our strategies effectively, our expansion may not be successful and our business and prospects may be materially and adversely affected.

30. Inability to maintain adequate internal controls may affect our ability to effectively manage our operations, resulting in errors or information lapses.

As we continue to expand, our success depends on our ability to effectively utilize our resources and maintain internal controls. Our internal audit functions make an evaluation of the adequacy and effectiveness of internal systems on an ongoing basis so that our operations adhere to our policies, compliance requirements and internal guidelines. We periodically test and update our internal processes and systems and are exposed to operational risks arising from the potential inadequacy or failure of internal processes or systems, and our actions may not be sufficient to ensure effective internal checks and balances in all circumstances. We may need to modify and improve our financial and management control processes, reporting systems and procedures and other internal controls and compliance procedures to meet our evolving business needs. If we are unable to improve our controls, systems and procedures, they may become ineffective and adversely affect our ability to manage our operations resulting in errors or information lapses that affect our business. Our efforts in improving our internal control systems may not result in eliminating all risks. If we are not successful in discovering and eliminating weaknesses in our internal controls, our ability to manage our business effectively may materially and adversely be affected.

31. There have been instances in the past where certain forms, required to be filed with the RoC under the reporting requirements of the Companies Act, 2013 were delayed in submission.

Our Company also in the past have made delay in filings of some ROC forms as per the stipulated timelines prescribed under the Companies Act, 2013. Our Company has paid requisite late fees for such filings, and no show cause notice in respect of the same has been received by our Company till date.

The details of ROC Late Filings are as follows:

Forms	Purpose	Date of Event	Timelines	Date of Filings	Due Dates	No of days delayed

It is pertinent to note here that all the forms are approved by ROC. Further, if any such action is initiated by the regulatory authority, then the Company will have to abide by the order of such regulatory authority or pay any penalty that may be imposed by any regulatory authorities in future for non-compliance with provisions of corporate and other law which could impact the financial position of the Company to that extent. To streamline our compliance processes and prevent delays, our company has taken several corrective measures i.e. enhancement of internal monitoring systems, dedicated compliance personnel and engagement of compliance professionals.

There are no other instances of non-compliance apart from those already disclosed. The Company has taken appropriate remedial measures and has paid the requisite additional fees for all such delayed filings. These instances were unintentional, process-related, and have since been regularized. As on date, no show-cause notice has been received by the Company in respect of these delays.

32. Our business is seasonal in nature, and reduced demand during off-season periods may adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

Demand for dry fruits is significantly higher during festive and wedding seasons, while remaining comparatively low during off-season periods. Consequently, a substantial portion of our revenues is generated during peak months, and we experience lower sales volumes during the off-season.

Extended off-season periods may result in underutilization of our resources, slower inventory turnover, and increased pressure on our cash flows. In anticipation of peak demand, we are also required to maintain higher inventory levels, which exposes us to risks such as price fluctuations, higher storage costs, and potential inventory obsolescence if demand does not materialize as expected.

Further, any inability to accurately forecast demand or effectively manage operations and working capital during off-season periods may adversely impact our profitability and overall financial performance.

33. Pricing pressure from our competitors may affect our ability to maintain or increase our product prices and, in turn, our revenue from product sales, gross margin and profitability may decline, which may materially and adversely affect our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.

Competitive pricing by our competitors may manifest in various forms, including, among others, through our competitors lowering their prices for similar products. This may lead to a decrease in our revenues and profits. Moreover, if we fail to follow our retail price stipulations, our brand value and the public perception of our brand positioning could be negatively affected. We cannot assure you that we will be able to avoid future pricing pressure from our competitors or offset the impact of any price reductions through improved operational efficiencies, cost-effective sourcing alternatives, or other cost reductions through other productivity initiatives. If we were to face competitive pricing from our competitors, and the aforementioned measures or other steps we take fail to maintain or increase our margins and revenues from operations, our business, financial condition and results of operations may be adversely affected.

34. Our Company is involved in a pending writ petition before the Hon'ble Bombay High Court regarding the alleged undervaluation of imported goods, which may result in a significant financial liability of up to Rs. 444.45 lakhs including potential differential duty, penalty and redemption fines.

Our Company is currently involved in a material legal proceeding with the Directorate of Revenue Intelligence (DRI) regarding the import of in-shell walnuts. On December 22, 2025, the DRI issued a Seizure Memo under Section 110 of the Customs Act, 1962, alleging that the declared CIF values of goods imported under six Bills of Entry were substantially lower than contemporary market prices.

In response, our Company filed a writ petition before the Hon'ble Bombay High Court challenging the conditions for the provisional release of these goods. While the High Court directed the provisional release of the goods, this was subject to our Company furnishing a bank guarantee of 50% of the estimated differential duty i.e. Rs. 172.08 lakhs. As of November 30, 2025, our contingent liabilities related to indirect tax matters amounting to Rs. 444.45 lakhs.

Although the goods have been provisionally released and no Show Cause Notice (SCN) has been issued as of the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, the underlying adjudication proceedings by customs authorities remain pending and ongoing. The maximum estimated financial exposure in this matter is approximately ₹444.45 lakhs. This exposure includes potential differential duty, redemption fines under Section 125, and penalties under Sections 112(a) and 114A of the Customs Act, 1962.

We cannot assure you that the final outcome of these adjudication proceedings will be in our favor. An adverse decision by the regulatory authorities could require us to pay significant sums, which would lead to a drain on our cash flows and adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations. Furthermore, such litigation could harm our reputation and standing with customs and other regulatory authorities.

35. If we fail to acquire new consumers or fail to do so in a cost-effective manner, we may not be able to increase revenue or maintain profitability.

Our business has grown substantially in recent years, with the increase in our customer database. Our revenue from operations has grown from ₹ 2,233.48 lakhs in Financial Year 2023 to ₹ 7,256.71 Lakhs to ₹ 10,303.55 Lakhs and ₹ 22,015.16 Lakhs in Financial Year 2024, Financial Year 2025 and for the period ended 30th November, 2025, respectively. However, we cannot assure you that our historical growth rates will be sustainable or achieved at all in the future. If we fail to acquire new consumers, or fail to do so in a cost-effective manner, we may not be able to increase our review or maintain profitability.

Furthermore, we may have to incur sustained advertising and promotional expenditures or offer more incentives than we anticipate in order to attract consumers and convert them into purchasing consumers. If one or more of our marketing efforts fails to deliver the expected outcome, our business, financial position and results of operations may be adversely affected.

36. There are outstanding legal proceedings involving our Company. Any adverse outcome in such proceedings may have an adverse impact on our reputation, business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

A summary of outstanding matters set out below includes details of criminal proceedings, tax proceedings, statutory and regulatory actions and other material pending litigation involving Our Company, as at the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

We cannot assure you that any of the outstanding litigation matters will be settled in our favour or that no additional liabilities will arise out of these proceedings. In addition to the above, we could also be adversely affected by complaints, claims or legal actions brought by persons, including before consumer forums or sector-specific or other regulatory authorities in the ordinary course of business or otherwise, in relation to our business operations, our intellectual property, our branding or marketing efforts or campaigns or our policies. We cannot assure you that such complaints, claims or requests for information will not result in investigations, enquiries or legal actions by any regulatory authority or third persons against us.

*The Company have not used this trademark in the past and is not currently using this trademark in any of its operations.

There can be no assurance that our trademark application except registered will be accepted and the trademark will be registered. Any other vendor in the similar line of business as ours may use the above-mentioned trademark and we may have a lesser recourse to initiate legal proceedings to protect our brand name. In the event we are not able to obtain registrations due to opposition by third parties or if any injunctive or other adverse order is issued against us in respect of our trademark for which we have applied for registration, we may not be able to use such trademark and / or avail the legal protection or prevent unauthorized use of such trademark by third parties, which may adversely affect our goodwill and business.

The registration of intellectual property including trademarks is a time-consuming process and there can be no assurance that any registration applications we may pursue will be successful and that such registration will be granted to us. If we fail to register the appropriate intellectual property, or our efforts to protect relevant intellectual property prove to be inadequate, the value attached to our brand and proprietary rights could deteriorate, which could have a material adverse effect on our business growth and prospects, financial condition, results of operations, and cash flows.

In particular, the use of similar trade names by third parties may result in confusion among our customers, and we are exposed to the risk that entities in India and elsewhere could pass off their products as our products, including imitation products, which may adversely affect sale of our products, resulting in a decrease in market share due to a decrease in demand for our products. Such imitation products may not only result in loss of sales but also adversely affect our reputation and consequently our future sales and results of operations. In the event of such unauthorized use, we may be compelled to pursue legal action for the protection of our brand and intellectual property, which may divert our attention and resources thereby affecting our business operations. Any litigation, whether or not it is resolved in our favour, could result in significant expense to us and divert the efforts of our technical and management personnel, which may adversely affect our business operations or financial results. For any of these reasons, despite our efforts, we may be unable to prevent third parties from infringing upon or misappropriating our intellectual property.

38. We are dependent on our promoters and other key personnel, and the loss of, or our inability to attract or retain, such persons could affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

Our performance depends largely on the efforts and abilities of our promoters and other key personnel. They have gained experience in this line of business and have over the years built relations with suppliers, customers and other persons who are connected with us and have been actively involved in the day to day operations and management, further we believe that the inputs and experience of our promoters, in particular, and other key personnel are valuable for product development and branding, successful delivery of products and our overall business operations and the strategic directions taken by our Company. For details in relation to the experience of our key management personnel, see “Our Management” on page 238. We cannot assure you that these individuals will not leave us or join a competitor or that we will be able to retain such personnel or find adequate replacements in a timely manner, or at all. We may also be required to increase our levels of employee compensation more rapidly than in the past to remain competitive in attracting employees that our business requires. The loss of the services of such persons may have an effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

39. We have in the past entered into related party transactions and may continue to do so in the future.

Our Company has entered into various transactions with our directors and promoters. These transactions, inter-alia includes, remuneration, loans and advances. For details, please refer to “Annexure – IX- Related Party Transactions” under Section titled “Financial Information” and Chapter titled “Capital Structure” beginning on page 263 and 93 respectively. Our Company has entered into such transactions due to easy proximity and quick execution on arm’s length price as per Companies Act 2013 and other applicable laws. Although all related-party transactions that we may enter into in the future are subject to approval by our Audit Committee, Board or shareholders, as required under the Companies Act, we cannot assure you that such future transactions or any other future transactions, individually or in aggregate, will not have an adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations or that we could not have achieved more favourable terms if such transactions are not entered into with related parties. Furthermore, it is likely that we may enter into related party transactions in the future. Any future transactions with our related parties could potentially involve conflicts of interest. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that such transactions, individually or in the aggregate, will not have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, cash flows, results of operations and prospects.

40. Our business is dependent on our manufacturing/processing unit and we are subject to certain risks in our manufacturing process. Obsolescence, destruction, theft, breakdowns of our major plants or machineries or failures to repair or maintain the same may affect our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.

Our manufacturing/ processing unit is located at Plot No. Gen-65, Ground Floor, MIDC, TTC Industrial Area, Mahape, Navi Mumbai, 400710. Our business is dependent upon our ability to manage our manufacturing/ processing unit, which is subject to various operating risks, including those beyond our control, such as the breakdown and failure of equipment or industrial accidents and severe climate conditions and natural disasters. Any significant malfunction or breakdown of our machinery may entail significant repair and maintenance costs and cause delays in our operations. If we are unable to repair breakdown of machinery in a timely manner or at all, our operations may need to be suspended until we procure new machinery to replace the same.

Our company has taken cold storage facility from third parties to store the perishable products. Certain of our raw materials are perishable products and consequently, any malfunction and break down of the cold storage facility may significantly impact on other raw materials could result in slow down or cessation of our operations which may adversely affect our business and prospects.

Obsolescence, destruction, theft or breakdowns of our major plants or machineries may significantly increase our machineries purchase cost and the depreciation of our plants and machineries, as well as change the way our management estimates the useful life of our plants and machineries. In such cases, we may not be able to acquire new plants or machineries or repair the damaged plants or machineries in time or at all. We may experience significant price increases due to supply shortages, inflation, transportation difficulties or unavailability. Such obsolescence, destruction, theft, breakdowns, repair or maintenance failures or price increases may not be adequately covered by the insurance policies availed by our Company and may have an effect our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.

Although we have not experienced any significant disruptions at our manufacturing/ processing unit in the past, we cannot assure you that there will not be any disruptions in our operations in the future. Our inability to effectively respond to such events and rectify any disruption, in a timely manner and at an acceptable cost, could lead to the slowdown or shut-down of our operations or underutilization of our manufacturing/ processing unit, which in turn may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

41. Under-utilization of our manufacturing capacities could have an adverse effect on our business, future prospects and future financial performance.

Our capacity utilization levels are dependent on our ability to carry out uninterrupted operations at manufacturing facility, the availability of raw materials, industry/ market conditions, as well as by the product requirements of, and procurement practice followed by, our customers. In the event we face prolonged disruptions at our facility including due to interruptions in the supply of electricity or as a result of labour unrest, or are unable to procure sufficient raw materials, we would not be able to achieve full capacity utilization of our manufacturing facility, resulting in operational inefficiencies which could have a material adverse effect on our business and financial condition. For further information, see “Business Overview - Capacity and Capacity Utilization” on page 179. These rates are not indicative of future capacity utilization rates, which is dependent on various factors, including demand for our products, availability of raw materials, our ability to manage our inventory and improve operational efficiency. Under-utilization of our manufacturing capacities over extended periods, or significant under-utilization in the short-term, could materially and adversely impact our business, growth prospects and future financial performance.

42. The markets in which we compete are characterized by consumers and their rapidly changing tastes and preferences and therefore as a result our Company may be affected by any disruptions in the industry.

We are in the business of manufacturing, processing, trading and marketing of wide range of spices, dry fruits frozen/ semi fried products and other grocery products that is majorly used for commercial and household consumption. Thus, the markets in which we compete are characterized by changing consumer tastes, preferences, evolving industry standards and continuous improvements in product quality and variants. These conditions frequently result in short product life cycles. Moreover, we are dependent on the spending habits of the consumers in India. If the end-user demand is low for our products, we may see significant changes in orders from our customers and may experience greater pricing pressures. If technologies or standards supported by us become obsolete or fail to gain widespread commercial acceptance, we may experience a reduced demand for our products which may result in a decline in sales and in operating margins depending on the nature of the product and the end user demand and all of these combined may gradually result in a loss to our business.

43. The orders placed by customers may be delayed, modified or cancelled, which may have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We may encounter problems in executing the orders in relation to our products, or executing it on a timely basis. Moreover, factors beyond our control caused by matters such as acts of God, strikes, civil commotion, riots, war, revolution, acts of governments, lack of adequate production capacity, failure or delay in plant start up, breakdown and downtime of machinery, shortage of raw materials, etc. or the control of our customers may postpone the delivery of such products or cause its cancellation. Due to the possibility of cancellations or changes in scope and schedule of delivery of such products, resulting from our customers’ discretion or delay in procurement of raw material or problems we encounter in the delivery of such products or reasons outside our control or the control of our customers, we cannot predict with certainty when, if or to what extent we may be able to deliver the orders placed. Additionally, delays in the delivery of such products can lead to customers delaying or refusing to pay the amount, in part or full, that we expect to be paid in respect of such products. In addition, even where a delivery proceeds as scheduled, it is possible that the customers may default or otherwise fail to pay amounts owed.

44. We are dependent on third-party transportation providers for the supply of raw materials and delivery of our finished products and traded products.

Our success depends on the supply and transport of the various raw materials required for our manufacturing/processing unit and to deliver orders from our location to consumers, which are subject to various uncertainties and risks. While transportation restrictions, if any, could have an adverse effect on supplies and deliveries to and from our customers and suppliers. In addition, raw materials and finished products may be lost or damaged in transit for various reasons including occurrence of accidents or natural disasters. There may also be a delay in delivery of raw materials and traded products which may also affect our business and results of operations negatively. In the event we fail to maintain a sufficient volume of raw materials and delivery of such materials to us is delayed, we may be unable to meet our purchase orders in a timely manner or at all, which may result in loss of sales opportunities that our competitors may capitalize on, thereby adversely affecting our business, financial condition, results of operations, and cash flows. Any compensation received from insurers or third-party transportation providers and courier services may be insufficient to cover the cost of any delays and will not repair damage to our relationships with our affected customers and distributors. We may also be affected by an increase in fuel costs, as it will have a corresponding impact on freight charges levied by our third-party transportation providers. This could require us to expend considerable resources in addressing our distribution requirements, including by way of absorbing these excess freight charges to maintain our selling price, which could adversely affect our results of operations, or passing these charges on to our customers, which could adversely affect demand for our products. In order to partially mitigate the above risks, we have invested in two (2) trucks owned by our Company, which we utilise for transportation of raw materials and finished products, thereby reducing our dependence on third-party logistics providers and enabling greater control over our supply and delivery operations.

45. Our business may be adversely affected by geopolitical instability, armed conflicts or trade disruptions in the United States and the Middle East region.

Our business involves procurement of dry fruits from various geographies. We import a portion of our raw materials from international markets including the United States and certain countries in the Middle East, while also exporting our products to customers in the Middle East region. Ongoing geopolitical tensions and armed conflicts involving the United States, Israel, Iran and other countries in the Middle East may disrupt international trade flows, shipping routes and economic conditions in these regions. Any escalation of such conflicts may lead to delays in procurement of raw materials, increased freight and insurance costs, disruptions in logistics and supply chains, or reduced demand in our export markets. Such developments could adversely affect our business operations, profitability and cash flows.

Notwithstanding the above, we however have a diversified sourcing and sales strategy. We procure raw materials from multiple suppliers across different geographies and also maintain a mix of inland and international procurement depending on price competitiveness and availability.

46. Our manufacturing/processing activities require deployment of labour and depend on availability of labour. In case of unavailability of such labour, our business operations could be affected.

Our manufacturing operations require deployment and our ability to retain labour. In case such labour workforce is unavailable, or we are unable to identify and retain such labour our business could be adversely affected. We hire daily labour from contractor as per our daily operational requirement. Our dependence on such contract labour may result in significant risks for our operations, relating to the availability of such contract labourers, as well as contingencies affecting availability of such contract labour during peak periods in labour intensive sectors such as ours. We cannot guarantee that we may be able to continue with the same on favourable terms or at all. Any such failure may impact the operations, business process and profitability. Additionally, there have been amendments in the labour and Employment related laws, which may have a direct impact on our employee costs and consequently, on our margins. Further, latest amendments in labour laws in India may lead to increasing cost of compliance, wages, social security, occupational safety, health and working conditions. We cannot assure you that we will continue to comply with all these labour related laws and that as we continue to grow our business in the future, our labour and employee costs coupled with operating compliances and expenses will not significantly increase.

Any strikes or lock-outs, work stoppages, slowdowns, shut downs, supply interruptions or costs or other factors beyond our control, may disrupt our operations and could negatively impact our financial performance or financial condition. Additionally, our inability to recruit employees, in particular skilled employees and retain our current workforce could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and profitability. There can be no assurance that we will not experience slowdowns or shutdowns in the manner described above, or in any other manner, in the future, for reasons which are beyond our control. Any slowdown or shutdown will adversely impact our results of operations, market share and financial condition.

47. We appoint contract labour for carrying out certain of our operations and we may be held responsible for paying the wages of such workers if the independent contractors through whom such workers are hired default on their obligations, and such obligations could have an adverse effect on our cash flows and results of operations.

We appoint independent contractors who in turn engage on-site contract labour for performance of certain of our operations on contractual basis. Although we do not engage such labour directly, we may be held responsible to pay their social benefits or shortfall in wages and provide certain amenities and facilities, if the independent contractors fail to do so, by a regulatory body or court, which may adversely affect our cash flows and results of operations.

48. We have to improve information technology and advancements in technology to enhance operational efficiency, streamline processes, and better meet the evolving demands of our customers.

By adopting modern systems and tools, we aim to improve data accuracy, reduce operational costs and foster innovation across all areas of the business. Additionally, upgrading our technology infrastructure will enable us to stay competitive, improve decision-making through better data insight and provide enhanced customer service through digital platforms. This technological improvement will also help us scale our operations, automate routine tasks and ensure seamless integration between different business functions. By leveraging advanced analytics, we can gain deeper insights into market trends and consumer behavior, allowing us to make more informed decisions. Furthermore, investing in cybersecurity measures will safeguard our data and protect sensitive information, enhancing trust with customers and partners. Ultimately, these technological advancements will position us for sustainable growth, help us adapt to industry changes, and enable us to offer innovative solutions to our stakeholders. To do all this, we need cost-efficient strategies and adequate financial resources to invest in the necessary technology upgrades, training, and infrastructure. This includes budgeting for software, hardware, cybersecurity measures and ongoing maintenance to ensure that the systems remain up to date. Additionally, we will need to allocate funds for staff development to ensure they are well-equipped to use new technologies effectively. Proper financial planning and cost management will be critical to achieving these improvements without straining our resources or negatively impacting other areas of the business.

49. Our Company has experienced exceptionally high year-on-year growth in Revenue from Operations and Profit After Tax in recent periods, which is primarily due to a small operational base and a significant transition in our business model; such growth rates may not be sustainable or indicative of our future financial performance.

We have recently witnessed significant percentage increases in our financial results. Our Revenue from Operations increased by approximately 224.91% from ₹2,233.48 lakhs in FY 2023 to ₹7,256.71 lakhs in FY 2024. Similarly, our Profit After Tax (PAT) surged by approximately 1,983% from ₹8.59 lakhs in FY 2023 to ₹178.97 lakhs in FY 2024, followed by a further increase of approximately 303.48% to ₹722.10 lakhs in FY 2025. These significant percentage increases are, in large part, attributable to the relatively small base of our operations following our incorporation in January 2022. As our business matures and the base of our operations expands, we may not be able to maintain or replicate such high growth rates.

Furthermore, a substantial portion of our recent growth is linked to our strategic transition from a trading-centric model to an integrated operating structure encompassing in-house processing and value addition. During the period ended November 30, 2025, our newly commenced processing and packaging activities contributed ₹11,919.88 lakhs, or 54.14% of our total revenue from operations. As we have only recently commenced these manufacturing activities, we have limited experience in managing production processes, quality control, and regulatory compliance at scale.

Our future performance is subject to various uncertainties, including our ability to successfully manage this integrated model, maintain procurement relationships with third-party vendors, and respond to intense competition from both organized and unorganized players. Any operational inefficiencies, equipment breakdowns, or inability to achieve optimal capacity utilization in our processing unit could disrupt our current trajectory. Investors should not rely on our historical percentage growth rates as a definitive indicator of our future performance, and any inability to sustain our momentum could materially and adversely affect our results of operations and the trading price of our Equity Shares.

50. We could be harmed by employee misconduct or errors that are difficult to detect and any such incidences could adversely affect our financial condition, results of operations and reputation.

Employee misconduct or errors could expose us to business risks or losses, including regulatory sanctions and serious harm to our reputation. There can be no assurance that we will be able to detect or deter such misconduct. Moreover, the precautions we take to prevent and detect such activity may not be effective in all cases. Our employees may also commit errors that could subject us to claims and proceedings for alleged negligence, as well as regulatory actions on account of which our business, financial condition, results of operations and goodwill could be adversely affected.

51. Our promoter and the promoter group will jointly continue to retain majority shareholding in our Company after the Issue, which will allow them to determine the outcome of the matters requiring the approval of shareholders.

Our promoter along with the promoter group will continue to hold collectively upto 73% of the Equity share capital of the company. As a result of the same, they will be able to exercise significant influence over the control of the outcome of the matter that requires approval of the majority shareholder vote. Such a concentration of the ownership may also have the effect of delaying, preventing or deterring any change in the control of our company. In addition to the above, our promoter will continue to have the ability to take actions that are not in, or may conflict with our interest or the interest of some or all of our minority shareholders, and there is no assurance that such action will not have any adverse effect on our future financials or results of operations.

52. Any variation in the utilization of the Net Proceeds as disclosed in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus shall be subject to certain compliance requirements, including prior approval of the shareholders of our Company.

We propose to utilize the Net Proceeds towards utilization for the working capital requirement of our Company and general corporate purposes. For further details of the proposed objects of the Issue, see “Objects of the Issue” beginning on page 106. Further, we cannot determine with any certainty if we would require the Net Proceeds to meet any other expenditure or fund any exigencies arising out of the competitive environment, business conditions, economic conditions or other factors beyond our control. In accordance with the Companies Act, 2013 and the SEBI ICDR Regulations, we cannot undertake any variation in the utilization of the Net Proceeds as disclosed in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus without obtaining the approval of shareholders of our Company through a special resolution.

In the event of any such circumstances that require us to vary the disclosed utilization of the Net Proceeds, we may not be able to obtain the approval of the shareholders of our Company in a timely manner, or at all. Any delay or inability in obtaining such approval of the shareholders of our Company may adversely affect our business or operations. Further, our Promoters would be required to provide an exit opportunity to the shareholders of our Company who do not agree with our proposal to modify the objects of the Issue, at a price and manner as prescribed by SEBI. Additionally, the requirement to provide an exit opportunity to such dissenting shareholders of our Company may deter our Promoters from agreeing to the variation of the proposed utilization of the Net Proceeds, even if such variation is in the interest of our Company. Further, we cannot assure you that the Promoters will have adequate resources at their disposal at all times to enable them to provide an exit opportunity. In light of these factors, we may not be able to vary the objects of the Issue to use any unutilized proceeds of the Issue, if any, even if such variation is in the interest of our Company. This may restrict our Company’s ability to respond to any change in our business or financial condition, if any, which may adversely affect our business and results of operations.

- 53. *The Objects of the Issue for which funds are being raised, are based on our management estimates and the same have not been appraised by any bank or financial institution or any independent agency. The deployment of funds in the project is entirely at our discretion, based on the parameters as mentioned in the chapter titled “Objects of the Issue”.

The fund requirement and deployment, as mentioned in the “Objects of the Issue” on page 106 of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus is based on the estimates of our management and has not been appraised by any bank or financial institution or any other independent agency. These fund requirements are based on our current business plan. We cannot assure that the current business plan will be implemented in its entirety or at all. In view of the highly competitive and dynamic nature of our business, we may have to revise our business plan from time to time and consequently these fund requirements. Since the Issue is for an amount not exceeding ₹5,000 lakhs, in terms of SEBI ICDR Regulations, our Company is not required to appoint an Independent Monitoring Agency for overseeing the deployment of utilization of funds raised through this Issue. The deployment of these funds raised through this Issue, is hence, at the discretion of the management and the Board of Directors of our Company and will not be subject to monitoring by any independent agency. Any inability on our part to effectively utilize the Issue proceeds could adversely affect our finances.

Further, we cannot assure that the actual costs or schedule of implementation as stated on page 106 under chapter “Objects of the Issue” will not vary from the estimated costs or schedule of implementation. Any such variance may be on account of one or more factors, some of which may be beyond our control. Occurrence of any such event may delay our business plans and/or may have an adverse bearing on our expected revenues and earnings.

- 54. *We have not identified any alternate source of funding and hence any failure or delay on our part to mobilize the required resources or any shortfall in the Issue proceeds may delay the implementation schedule.

The proposed fund requirement as detailed in the section titled “Objects of the Issue” is to be funded from the proceeds of this IPO. We have not identified any alternate source of funding and hence any failure or delay on our part to mobilize the required resources or any shortfall in the Issue proceeds may delay the implementation schedule. We therefore, cannot assure that we would be able to execute our future plans/strategy within the given timeframe. For details, please refer the Chapter titled “Objects of the Issue” beginning on page 106.

- 55. *Any future issuance of our Equity Shares may dilute prospective investors’ shareholding, and sales of our Equity Shares by our major shareholders may adversely affect the trading price of our Equity Shares.

Our growth is dependent on having a strong balance sheet to support our activities. In addition to the internally generated cash flow, we may need other sources of financing to meet our capital needs which may include entering into new debt facilities with lending institutions or raising additional equity in the capital markets. We may need to raise additional capital from time to time, dependent on business conditions. The factors that would require us to raise additional capital could be business growth beyond what the current balance sheet can sustain; additional capital requirements imposed due to changes in regulatory regime or significant depletion in our existing capital base due to unusual operating losses. Any fresh issue of shares or convertible securities would dilute existing holders, and such issuance may not be done at terms and conditions, which are favourable to the then existing shareholders of our Company. If our Company decides to raise additional funds through the incurrence of debt, our interest obligations will increase, and we may be subject to additional covenants, which could further limit our ability to access cash flows from our operations. Such financings could cause our debt-to-equity ratio to increase or require us to create charges or liens on our assets in favour of lenders. We cannot assure you that we will be able to secure adequate financing in the future on acceptable terms, in time, or at all. Our failure to obtain sufficient financing could result in the delay or abandonment of our expansion plans. Our business and future results of operations may be affected if we are unable to implement our expansion strategy.

Any issuance of Equity Shares by our Company may dilute shareholding of investors in our Company; and hence affect the trading price of our Company's Equity Shares and its ability to raise capital through an issue of its securities. In addition, any perception by investors that such issuances or sales might occur could also affect the trading price of our Company's Equity Shares. Additionally, the disposal, pledge or encumbrance of Equity Shares by any of our Company's major shareholders, or the perception that such transactions may occur may affect the trading price of the Equity Shares. No assurance may be given that our Company will not issue Equity Shares or that such shareholders will not dispose of, pledge or encumber their Equity Shares in the future.

56. Industry information included in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus have been derived from industry report.

There can be no assurance that such third-party statistical, financial and other industry information is either complete or accurate. We have relied on the report of certain independent third party for purposes of inclusion of such information in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus. This report is subject to various limitations and based upon certain assumptions that are subjective in nature. We have not independently verified data from such industry report and other sources. Although, we believe that the data may be considered to be reliable, their accuracy, completeness and underlying assumptions are not guaranteed and their dependability cannot be assured. While we have taken reasonable care in the reproduction of the information, the information has not been prepared or independently verified by us, or any of our respective affiliates or advisors and, therefore, we make no representation or warranty, express or implied, as to the accuracy or completeness of such facts and statistics. Due to possibly flawed or ineffective collection methods or discrepancies between published information and market practice and other problems, the statistics herein may be inaccurate or may not be comparable to statistics produced for other economies and should not be unduly relied upon. Further, there is no assurance that they are stated or compiled on the same basis or with the same degree of accuracy as may be the case elsewhere. Statements from third parties that involve estimates are subject to change, and actual amounts may differ materially from those included in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

57. Any increase in interest rates would have an adverse effect on our results of operations and will expose our Company to interest rate risks.

We are dependent upon the availability of equity, cash balances and debt financing to fund our operations and growth. Any fluctuations in interest rates may directly impact the interest costs of such loans and, in particular, any increase in interest rates could adversely affect our results of operations. Furthermore, our indebtedness means that a material portion of our expected cash flow may be required to be dedicated to the payment of interest on our indebtedness, thereby reducing the funds available to us for use in our general business operations. If interest rates increase, our interest payments will increase and our ability to obtain additional debt and non-fund-based facilities could be adversely affected with a concurrent adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. For further details, please refer chapter titled "Statement of Financial Indebtedness" beginning on page 323.

58. Information relating to our installed capacities and the historical capacity utilization of our manufacturing facility included in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus is based on various assumptions and estimates and future production and capacity utilization may vary.

Information relating to our installed capacities and the historical capacity utilization of our manufacturing facility included in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus is based on various assumptions and estimates of our management, including proposed operations, assumptions relating to availability and quality of raw materials and assumptions relating to potential utilization levels and operational efficiencies. Actual utilization rates may differ significantly from the estimated installed capacities or historical estimated capacity utilization information of our facility. Undue reliance should therefore not be placed on our installed capacity or historical estimated capacity utilization information for our manufacturing facility included in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

59. The Issue Price of the Equity Shares may not be indicative of the market price of the Equity Shares after the Issue.

Prior to the Issue, there has been no public market for the Equity Shares, and an active trading market on the Stock Exchanges may not develop or be sustained after the Issue. Listing is not guarantee that a market for the Equity Shares will develop, or if developed, the liquidity of such market for the Equity Shares. The Issue Price of the Equity Shares is determined by our Company in consultation with the Book Running Lead Manager through the Book Building Process. This price will be based on numerous factors, as described under “Basis for the Issue Price” on page 115 and may not be indicative of the market price of the Equity Shares at the time of commencement of trading of the Equity Shares or at any time thereafter. The market price of the Equity Shares may be subject to significant fluctuations in response to, among other factors, variations in our operating results of our Company, market conditions specific to the industry we operate in, developments relating to India, volatility in securities markets in jurisdictions other than India, problems such as temporary closure, broker default and settlement delays experienced by the Indian Stock Exchanges, strategic actions by us or our competitors, variations in the growth rate of financial indicators, variations in revenue or earnings estimates by research publications, and changes in economic, legal and other regulatory factors. Consequently, the price of our Equity Shares may be volatile, and you may be unable to resell your Equity Shares at or above the Issue Price, or at all. There has been significant volatility in the Indian stock markets in the recent past, and our Equity Share price could fluctuate significantly because of market volatility. A decrease in the market price of our Equity Shares could cause investors to lose some or all of their investment.

60. Investors other than retail (including non-institutional investors, QIBs and Corporate Bodies) are not permitted to withdraw or lower their Bids (in terms of quantity of Equity Shares or the Amount) at any stage after submitting an application.

Pursuant to the SEBI ICDR Regulations, Investors other than retail (including non-institutional investors and Corporate Bodies) are not permitted to withdraw or lower their application (in terms of quantity of Equity Shares or the Amount) at any stage after submitting an application. While our Company is required to complete Allotment pursuant to the Issue within three working days from the Issue Closing Date, events affecting the applicant’s decision to invest in the Equity Shares, including material adverse changes in international or national monetary policy, financial, political or economic conditions, our business, results of operation or financial condition, may arise between the date of submission of the Application and Allotment. Our Company may complete the Allotment of the Equity Shares even if such events occur, and such events limit the Bidder’s ability to sell the Equity Shares Allotted pursuant to the Issue or cause the trading price of the Equity Shares to decline on listing.

61. Non-compliance with increasingly health, environmental and labour laws and other applicable regulations, may adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

We are subject to various laws and government regulations, including in relation to health, environmental protection and labour. These laws and regulations impose controls on air and water discharge, storage, transport, handling, disposal and other aspects of our manufacturing operations. Improper handling or storage of these materials could result in accidents, injure our personnel, property and damage the environment. We obtain the requisite registrations and approvals from time to time and aim to maintain industrial hygiene assessments and employing other prescribed safety measures. The occurrence of any such event in the future could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition. We may be impleaded in any environmental legal proceedings in the course of our business due to non-compliances with terms and conditions of regulatory approvals or authorizations. In addition, environmental laws and regulations in India have increasingly become more stringent. The scope and extent of the new environmental regulations, including their effect on our operations, cannot be predicted with any certainty. We may incur increased costs and other burdens relating to compliance with such new requirements, which may also require significant management time and other resources, and any failure to comply may adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and prospects.

62. We operate in an environmentally sensitive industry and are subject to disruptions due to unpredictable or unseasonal weather impacting the geographies from where we procure our raw material. Consequently, extreme climatic changes or natural calamities impacting such geographies, may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

Dry fruits are agri produce and therefore their cultivation is dependent on sensitive weather conditions, including water, rainfall, sunlight, etc. Changes in the weather due to severe, unpredictable or unseasonal changes and abnormalities like draught, unpredictable rainfall or storm may impact the farming of dry fruits, its quality or taste and also impact the availability and price of such agri produce. Such abnormalities may have an adverse impact on our operations across our value chain including but not limited to the procurement operations and processing activities. We may be subjected to decreased availability of dry fruits, nuts, seeds and berries which are the primary raw material for our business operations. Such decreased availability of raw material in turn may increase our acquisition cost from similar or alternate markets and may result in higher cost of operations with material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial conditions.

Further, while we forecast the demand for our products and accordingly plan our procurement volumes for import operations, any error in our forecast could result in surplus stock, which may not be sold in a timely manner. The raw material procured has a specific shelf life and if not sold prior to expiry, may lead to losses or if consumed after expiry, may lead to health hazards. We cannot assure you that we will be able to sell surplus stock in a timely manner, or at all, which in turn may adversely affect our business, results of operations, future cash flows and financial condition.

63. We may incur additional cost on marketing and advertising campaigns for increasing the brand awareness of our products and such marketing and advertising campaigns may not be effective compared to our competitors' advertising and promotional programs which could adversely affect our competitive position.

We currently plan to make sustained investment in social media and mass media channels, such as regular advertisements/commercials and big ticket and high impact media properties, to promote our products, as increasing the awareness of the Hunger Nuts and related brands of our Company is an important part of our strategy to expand our business into new regions and locations in India. However, our marketing and advertising campaigns may not be effective to the extent planned or at all and we may, therefore, fail to attract new customers or retain existing customers. In order to promote our brand we need to continuously innovate and develop our mass media and social media strategies in order to maintain brand appeal with customers. In addition, we may fail to penetrate new target markets if our marketing and advertising programs are unsuccessful or not appropriately tailored to appeal to the target market or if our competitors increase their spending on advertising and promotion or their marketing and advertising campaigns is effective than ours. If our marketing and advertising campaigns are not as effective as our competitors, our ability to increase our brand awareness and our competitive position could be adversely affected, which would have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition. In addition, if we increase our investment in marketing and advertising to remain competitive, our profitability could be adversely affected, which would have a material adverse effect on our financial condition.

64. Our inability or failure to recognise, respond to and effectively manage the accelerated impact of social media could materially adversely affect our business.

In recent years, there has been a marked increase in the use of social media platforms in India, including blogs, social media websites and applications, and other forms of Internet-based communications which allow individuals access to a broad audience of consumers and other interested persons. Many social media platforms immediately publish the content for their subscribers and participants post, often without filters or checks on accuracy of the content posted. The dissemination of inaccurate information online could harm our business, reputation, prospects, financial condition and operating results, regardless of the information's accuracy. The damage may be immediate without affording us an opportunity for redress or correction. Other risks associated with the use of social media include improper disclosure of proprietary information, negative comments about our brands, exposure of personally identifiable information, fraud, hoaxes or malicious exposure of false information. The inappropriate use of social media by our customers or employees or suppliers or other third parties could increase our costs, lead to litigation or result in negative publicity that could damage our reputation and adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

65. The emergence of modern trade channels like hypermarkets and supermarkets may adversely affect our pricing ability, and result in temporary loss of retail shelf space and disrupt sales of food products, which may have an adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition.

We sell our products under the brand “Hunger Nuts” to retail customers through modern trade channels like supermarkets and hypermarkets. While these retail chains provide us with an opportunity to improve our supply chain efficiencies and increase the visibility of our brands, it also increases the negotiating position of such stores. We cannot assure you that we will be able to negotiate our agreements particularly on pricing or credit, on terms favourable to us, or at all. Any inability to enter into these agreements favourably may have an adverse effect on our pricing and margins, and consequently adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition.

From time to time, retailers change distribution centres that supply products to particular retail stores. If a new distribution centre has not previously distributed our products in that region, it may take time for distribution to commence. Even if a retailer approves the distribution of products in a new region, product sales may decline while the transition in distribution takes place. If we do not get approval to have our products offered in a new distribution region or if getting this approval takes longer than anticipated, our sales and operating results may suffer.

In addition, our increased focus on selling our products directly through our website and e-commerce platforms may further result in us losing our traditional indirect distributors and retailers since customers may prefer buying products directly from website rather than visiting retail channels.

EXTERNAL RISK FACTORS

66. Political, economic and other factors that are beyond the control that could adversely affect our Business.

Our business, and the market price and liquidity of our Company’s shares, may be affected by changes in Government policies, including taxation, social, political, economic or other developments in or affecting India could also adversely affect our business.

The Indian economy and its securities markets are influenced by economic developments and volatility in securities markets in other countries. Investors’ reactions to developments in one country may have adverse effects on the market price of securities of companies located in other countries, including India. Negative economic developments, such as rising fiscal or trade deficits, or a default on national debt, in other emerging market countries may also affect investor confidence and cause increased volatility in Indian securities markets and indirectly affect the Indian economy in general.

Economic growth is affected by various factors including domestic consumption and savings, balance of trade movements, namely demand and movements in key imports, global economic uncertainty. Consequently, any future slowdown in the Indian economy could negatively impact our business, operational results and financial condition. Additionally, changes in government or economic policies could adversely affect the overall economic environment in our operational areas, and specifically our business.

Since we are engaged in the import business high inflation rates in India could also increase our costs without a proportional increase in revenues, thereby reducing our operating margins.

67. Changing laws, rules and regulations and legal uncertainties, including adverse application of corporate and tax laws, may adversely affect our business, prospects and results of operations.

The regulatory and policy environment in which we operate is evolving and subject to change. Such changes, including the instances mentioned below, may adversely affect our business, results of operations and prospects, to the extent that we are unable to suitably respond to and comply with any such changes in applicable law and policy.

Any increase in taxes and levies, or the imposition of new taxes and levies in the future, could increase the cost of production and operating expenses. Taxes and other levies imposed by the central or state governments in India that affect our industry include customs duties, excise duties, Goods and Services Tax, income tax and other taxes, duties or surcharges introduced on a permanent or temporary basis from time to time. Any adverse changes in any of the taxes levied by the central or state governments may adversely affect our competitive position and profitability.

In addition to this any, we are required to comply with a variety of local, national and international trade laws, including control laws, sanctions and trade restrictions. Non-compliance with these regulations can result in penalties, shipment delays, or restrictions on future business operations.

A majority of the provisions and rules under the Companies Act, 2013 have come into effect. The Companies Act, 2013 has brought into effect significant changes to the Indian company law framework, such as in the provisions related to issue of capital (including provisions in relation to issue of securities on a private placement basis), disclosures in Issuing documents, corporate governance norms, accounting policies and audit matters, related party transactions, introduction of a provision allowing the initiation of class action suits in India against companies by shareholders or depositors, a restriction on investment by an Indian company through more than two layers of subsidiary investment companies (subject to certain permitted exceptions), prohibitions on loans to directors and restrictions on directors and key managerial personnel from engaging in futures trading. Further, the Companies Act, 2013 imposes greater monetary and other liability on us and our directors for any non-compliance. To ensure compliance with the requirements of the Companies Act, 2013 and SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015, we may need to allocate additional resources, which may increase our regulatory compliance costs and divert management attention. The Companies Act, 2013 introduced certain additional requirements which do not have corresponding equivalents under the Companies Act, 1956. Accordingly, we may face challenges in interpreting and complying with such provisions due to the limited jurisprudence on them. In the event our interpretation of such provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 differs from, or contradicts with, any judicial pronouncements or clarifications issued by the Government in the future, we may face regulatory actions or we may be required to undertake remedial steps. Further, we cannot currently determine the impact of provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 which are yet to be notified. Any increase in our compliance requirements or in our compliance costs may have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

68. Financial instability in both Indian and International financial markets could adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition.

The Indian financial market and the Indian economy are influenced by economic and market conditions in other countries, particularly in emerging market in Asian countries. Financial turmoil in Asia, Europe, the United States and elsewhere in the world in recent years has affected the Indian economy.

Economic conditions are different in each country, investors' reactions to developments in one country can have an adverse effect on the securities of companies in other countries, including India. A loss in investor confidence in the financial systems of other emerging markets may cause increased volatility in Indian financial markets and, indirectly, in the Indian economy in general. Any global financial instability, including further deterioration of credit conditions in the U.S. market, could also have a negative impact on the Indian economy. Financial disruptions may occur again and could harm our results of operations and financial condition.

69. Destination countries may impose varying levels of duties on our products. Any increase in these duties could negatively affect our business and operational results.

Our Company engages in both import and export of products, we are subject to fluctuations in duties, tariffs, and other levies imposed by both sourcing and destination countries. There can be no assurance that such duties or trade barriers will remain stable. Any increase in import duties on raw materials or export duties, changes in trade policies, or imposition of new tariffs in the countries where we export our products could adversely impact our cost structure, pricing competitiveness, demand for our products, and overall business and operational performance.

70. A slowdown in economic growth in India could have an adverse impact on our business operations.

As we are incorporated in India and have all of our assets and employees based here, our business is heavily influenced by the economic conditions in India. Any slowdown in the Indian economy could negatively impact our operations, including our ability to grow and maintain the quality of our assets, as well as execute our strategic objectives.

Factors that may adversely affect the Indian economy, and hence our results of operations, may include:

- any increase in Indian interest rates or inflation;
- prevailing income conditions among Indian consumers and Indian corporations;
- volatility in, and actual or perceived trends in trading activity on, India's principal stock exchanges;
- variations in exchange rates;
- changes in India's tax, trade, fiscal or monetary policies;

- political instability, terrorism or military conflict in India or in countries in the region or globally, including India's neighbouring countries

Any slowdown in the Indian economy, a decline in the growth of the sectors we are involved in, or future volatility in global commodity prices could negatively impact our borrowers and contractual counterparties. This, in turn, could adversely affect our business, financial performance, and the value of our Equity Shares.

71. Market demand fluctuations and supply chain Disruption

Our Company is involved in the Business of import and of the dry fruits. Market demand for dry fruits can be unpredictable due to a variety of factors, and understanding these fluctuations is crucial for companies involved in the import and of such products. Here are the key drivers:

a. Seasonality

Market demand for dry fruits can be unpredictable due to a variety of factors, and understanding these fluctuations is crucial for companies involved in the import and of such products. Here are the key drivers:

b. Consumer Preferences:

Shifts in consumer preferences can significantly affect demand. For instance, as health trends evolve, dry fruits may either gain popularity (due to their perceived health benefits) or lose favor if consumers turn to newer snack options or alternative superfoods. Demand could also fluctuate based on consumer tastes—whether they prefer organic or conventional dry fruits, for example.

c. Economic Conditions

A country's economic situation plays a large role in determining purchasing power. In periods of economic prosperity, consumers tend to spend more on premium products, such as high-quality dry fruits. On the other hand, during recessions or economic slowdowns, consumers may cut back on non-essential items, including luxury or higher-priced dry fruits, leading to reduced sales.

d. Market Competition

A surge in competition, whether from local producers or international suppliers, can impact demand. If competing countries can offer lower prices or superior quality, it can lead to a loss in market share for a company. Additionally, trade regulations or changes in tariff structures in different regions can impact market dynamics, causing demand to shift unexpectedly

e. Cultural and Regional Factors:

Certain dry fruits are more popular in specific regions or cultures, which can influence demand. For example, almonds may be highly popular in Western countries, while pistachios might have stronger demand in Middle Eastern and Mediterranean regions. A shift in cultural trends or even food habits can influence demand fluctuations.

Supply chain disruptions refer to any unforeseen events or circumstances that hinder the ability of a company to obtain, process, or deliver goods. For an import/ business dealing with dry fruits, several factors can cause supply chain issues. A shift in the reliability of suppliers, whether due to their own operational challenges or changes in their business models, can lead to supply chain interruptions. For example, if a key supplier of dry fruits experiences production delays, this will directly impact the company's ability to meet market demand.

- 72. Foreign investors are subject to restrictions under Indian law that may limit our ability to attract investment from abroad. This could negatively impact the market price of our Equity Shares.

As an Indian company, we are subject to exchange controls under FEMA that regulate borrowing in foreign currencies. These regulatory restrictions may limit our access to financing for ongoing projects, potentially hindering our ability to secure funding on competitive terms or refinance existing debt. Furthermore, we cannot guarantee that the necessary approvals will be granted, or that they will be granted without stringent conditions. Limitations on foreign debt could negatively impact our business growth, operational results, and financial condition.

Further, under the foreign exchange regulations currently in force in India, transfers of shares between non-residents and residents are freely permitted (subject to certain exceptions) if they comply with the pricing guidelines and reporting requirements specified by the RBI. If the transfer of shares, which are sought to be transferred, are not in compliance with such pricing guidelines or reporting requirements or fall under any of the exceptions referred to above, then the prior approval of the RBI will be required. Additionally, shareholders who seek to convert the Rupee proceeds from a sale of shares in India into foreign currency and repatriate that foreign currency from India will require a no objection/ tax clearance certificate from the income tax authority. There can be no assurance that any approval required from the RBI or any other government agency can be obtained on any particular terms or at all.

73. Natural or man-made disasters could have a negative impact on our operations, cash flows, and financial condition. Additionally, hostilities, terrorist attacks, civil unrest, and other acts of violence could disrupt financial markets and adversely affect our business

The occurrence of natural disasters, including cyclones, storms, floods, earthquakes, tsunamis, tornadoes, fires, explosions, pandemic disease and man-made disasters, including acts of terrorism and military actions, could adversely affect our results of operations, cash flows or financial condition. Terrorist attacks and other acts of violence or war may adversely affect the Indian securities markets. In addition, any deterioration in international relations, especially between India and its neighbouring countries, may result in investor concern regarding regional stability which could adversely affect the price of the Equity Shares. In addition, India has witnessed local civil disturbances in recent years and it is possible that future civil unrest as well as other adverse social, economic or political events in India could have an adverse effect on our business.

74. Global Commodity Price Volatility often subject to fluctuations in global commodity prices, which can be influenced by various factors.

Commodity price volatility refers to the fluctuations in the prices of raw materials and goods that are traded globally. This volatility can occur frequently and is often unpredictable, resulting from changes in market conditions, geopolitical events, or shifts in supply and demand. Any disruption in the supply chain of a commodity, such as poor harvests due to weather events, strikes, or geopolitical tensions in production regions, can create a sudden scarcity of that commodity, causing prices to rise. For instance, if a major producer of dry fruits like almonds experiences drought conditions, it can lead to reduced supply and increased prices globally. On the demand side, shifts in consumer preferences, market trends, or increased consumption due to factors like population growth, changing diets, or emerging markets can lead to surges in demand, pushing prices higher. Similarly, a decrease in demand due to factors like economic downturns or health trends can drive prices down.

Political instability, trade wars and conflicts can disrupt global supply chains and lead to uncertainty in commodity markets. For example, sanctions, tariffs, or regional conflicts might disrupt the of key raw materials, driving up prices. During a global recession, demand for commodities may decrease, resulting in falling prices. During periods of strong economic growth, demand increases, which can drive prices higher.

75. Changes in technology may render our current technologies obsolete or require us to make substantial investments.

Modernization and technological upgrades are crucial for reducing costs and boosting output. Without timely upgrades, our technology and machinery may become outdated, potentially impacting our operations and financial health, and diminishing our competitive edge. While we have invested in advanced technology, we remain committed to continuously updating our technology, plant and machinery to stay aligned with the latest industry standards. Should new technologies emerge in our sector, we may need to adopt them or upgrade our existing equipment. Additionally, the costs associated with upgrading technology and modernizing our plant and machinery are substantial, which could have a significant impact on our finances and operations.

76. Our performance is linked to the stability of policies and the political situation in India.

The Government of India has traditionally exercised, and continues to exercise, a significant influence over many aspects of the economy. Our business, and the market price and liquidity of our Equity Shares, may be affected by interest rates, changes in government policy, taxation, social and civil unrest and other political, economic or other developments in or affecting India. Any political instability in India may adversely affect the Indian securities markets in general, which could also adversely affect the trading price of our Equity Shares. Any political instability could delay the reform of the Indian economy and could have a material adverse effect on the market for our Equity Shares. There can be no assurance to the investors that these liberalization policies will continue under the newly elected government. Protests against privatization could slow down the pace of liberalization and deregulation. The rate of economic liberalization could change, and specific laws and policies affecting companies foreign investment, currency exchange rates and other matters affecting investment in our securities could change as well. A significant change in India's economic liberalization and deregulation policies could disrupt business and economic conditions in India and thereby affect our business.

77. Investors may be subject to Indian taxes arising out of income arising on the sale of and dividend on the Equity Shares.

Under current Indian tax laws, unless specifically exempted, capital gains arising from the sale of equity shares held as investments in an Indian company are generally taxable in India. Any capital gain realized on the sale of listed equity shares on a Stock Exchange held for more than 12 months immediately preceding the date of transfer will be subject to long term capital gains in India at the specified rates depending on certain factors, such as whether the sale is undertaken on or off the Stock Exchanges, the quantum of gains and any available treaty relief. Accordingly, you may be subject to payment of long term capital gains tax in India, in addition to payment of Securities Transaction Tax ("STT"), on the sale of any Equity Shares held for more than 12 months immediately preceding the date of transfer. STT will be levied on and collected by a domestic stock exchange on which the Equity Shares are sold.

Further, any capital gains realized on the sale of listed equity shares held for a period of 12 months or less immediately preceding the date of transfer will be subject to short term capital gains tax in India. Further, withholding tax may be applicable on sale of shares by Non- Resident / FII under section 115E and 115AD.

No dividend distribution tax is required to be paid in respect of dividends declared, distributed or paid by a domestic company after March 31, 2020 and, accordingly, such dividends would not be exempt in the hands of the Shareholders both for residents as well as non-residents. Our Company may or may not grant the benefit of a tax treaty (where applicable) to a non-resident Shareholder for the purposes of deducting tax at source pursuant to any corporate action, including dividends.

There is no certainty on the impact of Indian tax laws or other regulations, and which may adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations or on the industry in which we operate. Investors are advised to consult their own tax advisors and to carefully consider the potential tax consequences of owning Equity Shares.

78. The Equity Shares have never been publicly traded, and the Issue may not result in an active or liquid market for the Equity Shares. Further, the price of the Equity Shares may be volatile, and you may be unable to resell the Equity Shares at or above the Issue Price

Prior to the Issue, there has been no public market for the Equity Shares, and an active trading market on the Indian Stock Exchanges may not develop or be sustained after the Issue. Listing and quotation do not guarantee that a market for the Equity Shares will develop, or if developed, there will be liquidity of such market for the Equity Shares. The Issue Price of the Equity Shares may bear no relationship to the market price of the Equity Shares after the Issue.

The market price of the Equity Shares after the Issue can be volatile as a result of several factors beyond our control, including volatility in the Indian and global securities markets, our results of operations, the performance of our competitors, developments in the Indian and global machine tools industry, changing perceptions in the market about investments in this sector in India, investor perceptions of our future performance, adverse media reports about us or our sector, changes in the estimates of our performance or recommendations by financial analysts, significant developments in India's economic liberalisation and deregulation policies, and significant developments in India's fiscal regulations. In addition, the Stock

Exchanges may experience significant price and volume fluctuations, which may have a material adverse effect on the market price of the Equity Shares.

General or industry-specific market conditions or stock performance or domestic or international macroeconomic and geopolitical factors unrelated to our performance may also affect the price of the Equity Shares. In particular, the stock market as a whole in the past has experienced extreme price and volume fluctuations that have affected the market price of many companies in ways that may have been unrelated to the companies' operating performances. For these reasons, investors should not rely on recent trends to predict future share prices, results of operations or cash flow and financial condition.

79. The sale of Equity Shares by our Promoters in future may adversely affect the market price of the Equity Shares

After the completion of the Issue, our Promoters will still own a significant percentage of our issued Equity Shares. The sale of a large number of the Equity Shares by our Promoters could adversely affect the market price of the Equity Shares. Similarly, the perception that any such primary or secondary sale may occur, could adversely affect the market price of the Equity Shares. No assurance may be given that our Promoters will not dispose of, pledge or encumber their Equity Shares in the future.

80. There is no guarantee that our Equity Shares will be listed on the relevant stock exchange in a timely manner or at all.

There is no guarantee that our Equity Shares will be listed on the relevant stock exchange in a timely manner or at all. In accordance with Indian law, permission for listing and trading of our Equity Shares will not be granted until after certain actions have been completed in relation to this Issue and until Allotment of Equity Shares pursuant to this Issue. In accordance with current regulations and circulars issued by SEBI, our Equity Shares are required to be listed on the relevant stock exchange within such time as mandated under UPI Circulars, subject to any change in the prescribed timeline in this regard. However, we cannot assure you that the trading in our Equity Shares will commence in a timely manner or at all. Any failure or delay in obtaining final listing and trading approvals may restrict your ability to dispose of your Equity Shares.

Illustration of the Book Building and Price Discovery Process:

Bidders should note that this example is solely for illustrative purposes and is not specific to the Issue. Bidders can bid at any price within the Price Band. For instance, assume a Price Band of ₹20 to ₹ 24 per share, Issue size of 3,000 Equity Shares and receipt of five Bids from Bidders, details of which are shown in the table below. The illustrative book given below shows the demand for the Equity Shares of the Issuer at various prices and is collated from Bids received from various investors

Quantity Bid	Amount (₹)	Cumulative Quantity	Subscription
500	24	500	16.67%
1,000	23	1,500	50.00%
1,500	22	3,000	100.00%
2,000	21	5,000	166.67%
2,500	20	7,500	250.00%

The price discovery is a function of demand at various prices. The highest price at which the Issuer is able to issue the desired number of Equity Shares is the price at which the book cuts off, i.e., ₹ 22.00 in the above example. The Company in consultation with the BRLMs, may finalise the Issue Price at or below such Cut-Off Price, i.e., at or below ₹ 22.00. All Bids at or above this Issue Price are valid Bids and are considered for allocation in the respective categories.

Steps to be taken by the Bidders for Bidding:

By consistently delivering quality products and maintaining customer satisfaction, our Company fosters long-term success.

Rationale for Increase in Working Capital Requirements:

Our need for incremental working capital is briefly explained below:

Strengthening our Dry Fruit Processing Operations

We have commenced our processing activities for dry fruits at our facility in the Financial Year 2025–26. With the expansion of processing operations, our requirement for working capital is expected to increase to support procurement of raw dry fruits, processing-related expenses, packaging materials, and other operational costs. Processing activities also require maintaining adequate inventory levels of raw materials and finished goods to ensure timely fulfillment of customer orders and efficient utilization of the facility. Accordingly, additional working capital will be required to support the scaling up of our processing operations and to maintain continuity in our production and supply chain.

Expanding Retail Presence:

Our company has strategically expanded its retail presence, under our trademark 'Hunger Nuts' and our supply in hyper markets/super markets. The growth in the number of retail points in the future increases the demand for inventory and working capital to maintain optimal stock levels and meet customer expectations efficiently.

Expanding Geographical Presence:

We plan to continue our strategy of diversifying and expanding our presence in other states for the growth of our business. Through further diversification of our operations geographically, we hope to hedge against risks of operations in only specific areas and protection from fluctuations resulting from business concentration in limited geographical areas.

Expanding Export Presence:

We also propose to expand our export presence by entering new international markets and strengthening relationships with overseas customers. Export operations typically involve longer credit cycles, higher inventory holding periods, and additional logistics and compliance-related costs. As a result, increased working capital will be required to support higher export volumes, manage receivables, and maintain adequate inventory levels to meet international demand in a timely manner.

Enhanced Product Portfolio:

Our primary objective is to expand our product portfolio to enhance our market presence and capture future growth opportunities. In upcoming period, we intend to increase our product portfolio by adding snacks and other products as we grow our presence in retail segment.

Seasonal Fluctuations:

The nature of our business is influenced by seasonal fluctuations, particularly driven by variations in demand for dry fruits during specific periods of the year. These factors can impact the availability of materials and cost of raw materials, necessitating a higher working capital to manage procurement during periods of price volatility and to ensure uninterrupted supply. Further, demand for dry fruits generally increases during festive seasons and certain months of the year, resulting in relatively higher revenue in those periods compared to other quarters.

Composite Supply Chain:

We procure raw materials, in addition to bearing operational expenses related to manufacturing and distribution. A larger working capital is needed to cover expenses until the final sale and payment since the entire realization of income is frequently dependent on the sale of goods to the customers.

Quality Assurance and Compliance:

Ensuring regulatory compliance and quality standards is crucial for food processing companies. This dedication to quality can result in higher testing, certification, and health and safety standard compliance expenses, which would raise the need for working capital.

In summary, our business model's intricacy, along with the demands of expanding retail operations, controlling seasonality, and upholding strict quality standards, make a larger working capital investment necessary for the fiscal 2026 and 2027. With this additional funding, we will be able to take advantage of the market's current growth potential, maintain effective operations, acquire raw materials on schedule, and maintain the standards and quality that our partners and customers have come to expect.

Justification:

Sr. No.	Particulars	Justification
1.	Trade receivable Days	From FY 2022-23 to FY 2024-25, trade receivable holding days has been in range of 13 and 90 days while for the period ended November 30, 2025, trade receivable holding days has been 51 days, with anticipated further increase to 65 days in FY 2026-27. This increase in days is influenced by the major shift in our product mix from the wholesale segment to the retail segment resulting increase our share of business in retail, we will have to extend credit period and also to increase the market share the Company will need to increase the credit period.
2.	Trade Payables	From FY 2022-23 to FY 2024-25 trade payables holding days range from 37 days to 82 days while for the period ended November 30, 2025 the trade payables holding days are 38 days. Trade Payables holding days for the provisional FY 2025-26 and projected FY 2026-27 aims to reduce from 82 days in FY 2024-25 to 52 Days and 50 days respectively. With additional working capital funding, our Company intends to reduce trade payables to avail cash discount as well as competitive purchase price to increase overall profitability of our Company. A combination of lesser credit terms and increased business volume with our suppliers will help us secure better prices from them. The company has maintained and has secured several purchase orders and submitted applications for further opportunities. We believe that our company has fostered positive relationships with its vendors and adheres to the policy of making payments within the allowed credit period to enjoy better operational margins.

3.	Inventories	The company did not have any Closing Inventory till FY 2023-24 and hence the historic holding days of inventories is there for FY 2024-25 and for the period ended November 30, 2025 which are 2 days and 13 days respectively. With the perspective to increase business operations and to enter into retail sector and increasing in processing activities of dry fruits, the Company estimates an increase in inventories holding days to 21 days in FY 2026-27. This increase in inventory days is attributed to the rise in purchases and which has additionally contributed to higher turnover.
4.	Other Current Assets	Other Current Assets mainly include advances given to suppliers for import of stock, advances to vendors, prepaid expenses and other operational deposits. For FY 2023-24 and FY 2024-25, the balances under other current assets were Rs. 70.53 lakhs and Rs. 84.23 lakhs respectively, and for the period ended November 30, 2025, the same stood at Rs. 1,455.97 lakhs, which is projected to increase to Rs.2,184.32 lakhs and Rs. 3,061.74 lakhs in FY 2025-26 and FY 2026-27 respectively. The increase is primarily attributable to higher advances provided to suppliers for procurement and import of inventory in order to secure favourable pricing and ensure timely availability of stock.
5.	Other Current Liabilities	Other Current Liabilities mainly include advances received from customers. For FY 2023-24 and FY 2024-25, the balances under other current liabilities stood at Rs. 190.88 lakhs and Rs. 15.91 lakhs respectively, and for the period ended November 30, 2025 the same was Rs. 324.22 lakhs, which is projected to increase to Rs. 400.37 lakhs and Rs. 476.89 lakhs in FY 2025-26 and FY 2026-27 respectively. The increase is primarily attributable to the expected growth in business operations, higher sales volumes and expansion of the customer base, resulting in higher advances received from customers.

GLOBAL ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

As per the IMF’s World Economic Outlook (WEO) published in January 2026, global growth is projected to remain resilient at 3.3 percent in 2026 and at 3.2 percent in 2027.

Global headline inflation is expected to decline from an estimated 4.1 percent in 2025 to 3.8 percent in 2026 and further to 3.4 percent in 2027. The inflation projections are also broadly unchanged from those in October and envisage inflation returning to target more gradually in the United States than in other large economies.

Note: E = Estimates, F = Forecast

Source: IMF World Economic Outlook January, 2026 update

Note: Advanced Economies and Emerging & Developing Economies are as per the classification of the World Economic Outlook (WEO). This classification is not based on strict criteria, economic or otherwise, and it has evolved over time. It comprises of 40 countries under the Advanced Economies including the G7 (the United States, Japan, Germany, France, Italy, the United Kingdom, and Canada) and selected countries from the Euro Zone (Germany, Italy, France etc.). The group of emerging market and developing economies (156) includes all those that are not classified as Advanced Economies (India, China, Brazil, Malaysia etc.)

Growth in advanced economies is projected to be 1.8 percent in 2026 and 1.7 percent in 2027. In the United States, the economy is projected to expand by 2.4 percent in 2026, supported by fiscal policy and a lower policy rate, while the impact of higher trade barriers also gradually wanes. This 0.3 percentage point upward revision from the October forecast reflects a stronger-than expected GDP outturn in the third quarter of 2025, a rebound in activity in the first quarter of 2026 compared with that in the fourth quarter of 2025 following the end of the federal government shutdown, and the associated carryover.

In emerging market and developing economies, growth is expected to continue to hover just above 4.0 percent in 2026 and 2027. Relative to the projection in October, growth in 2025 for China is revised upward by 0.2 percentage point to 5.0 percent. The revision reflects stimulus measures and additional policy bank lending for investment. Growth for 2026 is also revised upward by 0.3 percentage point to 4.5 percent, reflecting the lower US effective tariff rates on Chinese goods due to the yearlong trade truce agreed to in November and stimulus measures that are assumed to be implemented over two years. The economy's growth rate is expected to decelerate to 4.0 percent in 2027 as structural headwinds assert themselves.

In India, growth is revised upward by 0.7 percentage point to 7.3 percent for 2025, reflecting the better-than expected outturn in the third quarter of the year and strong momentum in the fourth quarter. Growth is projected to moderate to 6.4 percent in 2026 and 2027 as cyclical and temporary factors wane.

In the Middle East and Central Asia, growth is projected to accelerate from 3.7 percent in 2025 to 3.9 percent in 2026 and to 4.0 percent in 2027, supported by higher oil output, resilient local demand, and ongoing reforms. Growth is also expected to accelerate in sub-Saharan Africa, from 4.4 percent in 2025 to 4.6 percent in 2026 and 2027, supported by macroeconomic stabilization and reform efforts in key economies. In Latin America and the Caribbean, growth is projected to moderate to 2.2 percent in 2026 and bounce to 2.7 percent in 2027 as countries in the region approach potential from different cyclical positions. In emerging and developing Europe, a sharp slowdown in 2025 to a growth rate of 2.0 percent is expected to reverse, with economies in the region expanding at an average rate of 2.3 percent in 2026 and 2.4 percent in 2027. In most regions, the rebound also reflects the fading effect of shifting trade policies.

GDP Growth across Major Regions

GDP growth across major global regions—including Europe, Latin America & the Caribbean, Middle East & Central Asia, and Sub-Saharan Africa—continues to display varied trajectories. The global outlook presents a mixed scenario, with emerging economies continuing to outperform advanced economies.

Note: F = Forecast

Source: IMF World Economic Outlook January, 2026 update

In Emerging and Developing Asia, growth is projected to moderate from 5.4% in CY 2025 to 5.0% in CY 2026 and further projected at 4.8% during CY 2026. India's expected growth in 2025 has been uplifted at 7.3% in CY 2025, supported by resilient rural consumption and sustained infrastructure investments, up from 6.5% in CY2024. The growth estimate for 2026 and 2027 is kept at 6.4%. In contrast, China's growth is estimated at 5.0% in CY2025, and to further decelerate at 4.5% in 2026 and 4.0% in 2027.

Sub-Saharan Africa is projected to grow at 4.4% in CY 2025, increased from 4.1% in CY 2024, with growth is expected to accelerate further at 4.6% in CY 2026. This gradual improvement is being supported by better weather conditions and more efficient supply chain operations.

In the Middle East and Central Asia, the economy is forecasted to expand from 3.7% in CY 2025 to 3.9% in CY 2026, and further at around 4.0% in CY 2027, driven by stabilization in oil production and ongoing economic reforms.

For Latin America and the Caribbean, the economy is expected to slow from 2.4% in CY 2025, to 2.2% in CY2026, but increase again at 2.7% in CY 2027 reflecting stable yet subdued economic momentum supported by stronger macroeconomic management across key economies.

Emerging and Developing Europe remains subdued, with growth estimated at 2.0% in CY 2025, down from 3.5% in CY 2024, expected to rise modestly to 2.3% in CY 2026 and further at 2.4% in 2027. However, the recent Greenland issue and tariff imposition by the US President has posed fresh challenges for the region. The region continues to face structural manufacturing challenges, particularly in major economies like Germany.

Overall, while global growth is expected to remain steady at 3.3% in CY 2025~CY2026 and at 3.2% in CY2027, regional disparities persist, influenced by a combination of domestic challenges, external geopolitical tensions, and fluctuating commodity prices.

Index of Industrial Production (IIP) Growth Trends:

As per the Index of Industrial Production (IIP), the industrial sector grew by 4.0% in FY 2025, moderating from 5.9% in FY 2024 and 5.2% in FY 2023. This deceleration in overall IIP growth in FY 2025 reflects a softening of industrial momentum amidst global headwinds and tighter financial conditions.

Among key components:

- Manufacturing (which holds a 77.6% weight in IIP) registered a slower growth of 3.9% in FY 2025, compared to 5.5% in FY 2024 and 4.7% in FY 2023.
- Mining growth also moderated sharply to 2.9% in FY 2025 from 7.5% in FY 2024 and 5.8% in FY 2023.
- Electricity growth remained relatively stable at 5.1% in FY 2025, slightly down from 7.1% in FY 2024 and significantly lower than 8.9% in FY 2023.

This slowdown indicates tightening domestic demand and spillover effects from a weaker global industrial cycle.

Use-based Classification Trends:

Source: Ministry of Statistics & Programme Implementation (MOSPI)

According to the use-based classification:

- Capital Goods segment growth slowed to 5.5% in FY 2025, down from a high of 13.1% in FY 2023 and 6.3% in FY 2024, indicating a reduction in investment momentum.
- Primary Goods also witnessed slower growth at 3.9%, compared to 6.1% in FY 2024 and 7.5% in FY 2023.
- Intermediate Goods rebounded modestly to 4.1% in FY 2025, up from 3.8% in FY 2023, although still lower than 5.3% in FY 2024.
- Infrastructure/Construction Goods slowed to 6.6% in FY 2025 from 9.7% in FY 2024 and 8.4% in FY 2023, pointing to softening construction and infrastructure activity.
- Consumer Durables grew significantly by 7.9%, rebounding from 3.6% in FY 2024 and 0.6% in FY 2023, indicating improved demand in consumer electronics and appliances.
- In contrast, Consumer Non-Durables contracted by 1.6% in FY 2025, reversing the 4.1% growth in FY 2024, likely reflecting subdued rural and essential goods demand.

The divergence in growth across segments suggests an uneven industrial recovery in FY 2025. While certain consumer categories have rebounded, investment-related and primary sectors remain under pressure.

The latest growth rates of IIP as per Use-based classification in October 2025 over October 2024 are (-)0.6 percent in Primary goods, 2.4 percent in Capital goods, 0.9 percent in Intermediate goods, 7.1 percent in Infrastructure/ Construction Goods, (-)0.5 percent in Consumer durables and (-)4.4 percent in Consumer non-durables. Based on use-based classification, top three positive contributors to the growth of IIP for the month of October 2025 are Infrastructure/ construction goods, Intermediate goods and Capital goods.

Overview on Key Demographics ParametersPopulation growth and Urbanization

India's economic trajectory and consumption dynamics are closely tied to its demographic shifts. According to the World Bank, India's population expanded from approximately 0.75 billion in 1984 to 1.45 billion in 2024, consolidating its position as the world's most populous nation. This growth underlines the emergence of a vast labour force and consumer base, essential for driving sustained economic progress.

A key demographic indicator—the age dependency ratio—has witnessed a steady decline over the last four decades. From a high of 76.54% in 1984, it reduced to 71.77% in 1994, 62.88% in 2004, and 53.24% in 2014, before reaching a low of 46.56% in 2024. This downward trend signifies that for every 100 working-age individuals, there are now fewer than 47 dependents, compared to over 76 dependents in the mid-1980s. Such a shift reflects a growing share of the working-age population, unlocking India's demographic dividend—a critical driver of productivity, savings, and investment.

Together, the rising total population and declining dependency ratio provide a dual advantage: a larger workforce capable of supporting economic activity and a lower demographic burden, which allows for higher disposable incomes and consumption growth. These demographic fundamentals form a strong backbone for India's long-term economic and private consumption expansion.

Urbanization Trend in India

Source: World Bank Database

Urbanization, too, is transforming India's socio-economic fabric. The urban population rose from 424.96 million in 2014 (32.38% of total population) to 522.93 million in 2023 (36.36%), and further to approximately 534.91 million in 2024 (36.87%), according to World Bank estimates. This rapid growth in urban areas underscores the need for sustainable urban planning, investment in infrastructure, and development of smart cities to accommodate and benefit from the shifting population dynamics.

Labour Force in India

India's labour force has experienced significant growth over the past decade. In 2010, the total labour force was approximately 467.56 million. By 2024, this number had increased to 607.69 million, reflecting a Compound Annual Growth Rate (CAGR) of 1.89% over the 14-year period.

This upward trend underscores the expanding working-age population and the country's ongoing economic development. However, it also highlights the need for effective employment policies to ensure that the growing labour force is adequately absorbed into productive sectors.

The labour force participation rate (LFPR) has also seen fluctuations, influenced by various socio-economic factors. As of 2024, the LFPR stood at 45.1%, indicating the percentage of the working-age population that is either employed or actively seeking employment.

These statistics emphasize the importance of implementing strategies that not only create employment opportunities but also enhance the quality and inclusivity of jobs across different sectors of the economy.

Breakdown of Employment by Factor

According to the Periodic Labour Force Survey (PLFS) 2023–24, the employment distribution across various sectors exhibits distinct gender-based patterns. A significant portion of male workers are engaged in agriculture, followed by notable participation in construction, manufacturing, and trade-related activities. In contrast, female workers are predominantly employed in agriculture, with considerable involvement in manufacturing and other services sectors. While female representation in trade and construction is lower compared to males, Additionally, a substantial proportion of employed women are self-employed, often contributing as unpaid helpers in household enterprises or operating small businesses, indicating a reliance on informal employment avenues.

Disposable Income and Consumer Spending

Gross National Disposable Income (GNDI) represents the total income available to a nation's residents for consumption and saving after accounting for income transfers with the rest of the world. In FY24, Per capita GNDI grew by 10.9%, followed by a moderate growth of 8.6% in FY25. This steady increase indicates that households and businesses had more income at their disposal, which is critical for supporting both consumption and savings—key components of economic resilience and expansion.

The rise in GNDI has translated into higher consumer spending, as reflected in the growth of Private Final Consumption Expenditure (PFCE), which measures the total value of goods and services consumed by households. Per Capita PFCE grew by 8.7% in FY24 and further accelerated to 10.9% in FY25, highlighting strong consumer confidence and robust domestic demand.

Union Budget FY 25-26 Highlights

The Union Budget FY 2026–27, presented by Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, introduces a comprehensive set of measures aimed at stimulating economic growth, enhancing infrastructure, and fostering inclusive development. With a focus on sectors such as agriculture, MSMEs, infrastructure, innovation, and exports, the budget seeks to create a conducive environment for sustained economic expansion.

• Capital Expenditure and Infrastructure Development

In FY2026-27, the Union Budget has increased the public capex towards to ₹12.2 lakh crore from the previous ₹11.21 lakh crore (3.1% of GDP) which was earmarked in FY 2025–26. To strengthen the confidence of private developers regarding risks during infrastructure development and construction phase, the budget proposed to set up an Infrastructure Risk Guarantee Fund to provide prudently calibrated partial credit guarantees to lenders.

• Support for MSMEs

Recognizing the pivotal role of Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) in India's economic landscape, the budget introduced a three-pronged approach to support the sector. The budget introduced a dedicated ₹10,000 crore SME Growth Fund as well as proposed to top up the Self-Reliant India Fund set up in 2021, with ₹2,000 crore to continue support to micro enterprises and maintain their access to risk capital. With TReDS, more than ₹7 lakh crore has been made available to MSMEs. To leverage its full potential, the budget further proposed four measures: (i) mandate TReDS as the transaction settlement platform for all purchases from MSMEs by CPSEs, serving as a benchmark for other corporates; (ii) introduce a credit guarantee support mechanism through CGTMSE for invoice discounting on TReDS platform; (iii) link GeM with TReDS for sharing information with financiers about government purchases from MSMEs, encouraging cheaper and quicker financing; (iv) introduce TReDS receivables as asset-backed securities, helping develop a secondary market, enhancing liquidity and settlement of transactions. Moreover, Government will facilitate Professional Institutions such as ICAI, ICSI, ICMAI to design short-term, modular courses and practical tools to develop a cadre of ‘Corporate Mitras’, especially in Tier-II and Tier-III towns, which will help MSMEs meet compliance requirements at affordable costs.

• Agriculture Related Schemes

To diversify farm outputs, increase productivity, enhance farmers’ incomes, and create new employment opportunities, the budget announced support schemes related to high value crops such as coconut, sandalwood, cocoa and cashew in coastal areas. Agar trees in Northeast and nuts such as, almonds, walnuts and pine nuts in hilly regions will also be supported. India is the world’s largest producer of coconuts. About 30 million people, including nearly 10 million farmers, depend on coconuts for their livelihood. To further enhance competitiveness in coconut production, the Budget proposed a Coconut Promotion Scheme to increase production and enhance productivity through various interventions including replacing old and non-productive trees with new saplings/plants/varieties in major coconut growing States. A dedicated programme is proposed for Indian cashew and cocoa to make India self-reliant in raw cashew and cocoa production and processing, enhance export competitiveness and transform Indian Cashew and Indian Cocoa into premium global brands by 2030. Further, the Central Government will partner with State Governments to promote focused cultivation and post-harvest processing to restore the glory of the Indian Sandalwood ecosystem. To rejuvenate old, low-yielding orchards and expand high-density cultivation of walnuts, almonds and pine nuts, the budget announced to support a dedicated programme to enhance farmer incomes and in bringing value addition by engaging youth.

INDUSTRY OVERVIEW- NUTS AND DRY FRUITS INDUSTRY

Introduction

The global Nuts and Dry Fruits Industry constitute a critical segment of the international food, nutrition, and agricultural value chain. It comprises a broad spectrum of high-value commodities including almonds, cashews, pistachios, walnuts, hazelnuts, raisins, apricots, figs, dates, prunes, berries, and specialised mixed formulations. The industry integrates multiple stages—cultivation, harvesting, shelling, drying, grading, sorting, processing, packaging, storage, logistics, and distribution—supported by increasingly sophisticated global sourcing networks across major producing regions.

Value Chain Analysis

The nuts and dry fruits industry value chain encompasses a series of interconnected activities, ranging from agricultural production to end consumption. Each stage contributes to value addition, quality differentiation, cost structure and margin profile, and is influenced by factors such as agro-climatic conditions, technological adoption, scale of operations, regulatory compliance and market demand.

1. Cultivation & Procurement

The value chain begins with cultivation and procurement. In India, domestic production supports crops such as groundnuts and certain dry fruits, including raisins. Tree nuts such as almonds, pistachios and walnuts are produced in limited quantities due to climatic constraints, necessitating imports to meet domestic demand. Cultivation activities include land preparation, sowing, irrigation, fertiliser application, pest management and harvesting. Post-harvest, raw produce is aggregated through farmer producer organisations, cooperatives, local traders and commission agents. For imported nuts and dry fruits, procurement occurs through long-term sourcing arrangements or spot purchases from overseas suppliers. Pricing and availability at this stage are influenced by crop yields, global commodity prices, seasonal variations and currency fluctuations.

2. Cleaning, Grading & Sorting

After procurement, nuts and dry fruits undergo primary processing, which involves cleaning to remove foreign matter, grading based on size and quality, and sorting to separate defective or damaged pieces. This stage ensures consistent product quality, reduces wastage, and prepares the produce for further processing or direct sale. Effective grading and sorting are critical for meeting both domestic and export quality standards.

3. Shelling & Processing

Processing is the core value-adding stage in the industry. Nuts are shelled, cracked, roasted, blanched or chopped, while dry fruits may be dehydrated, sulphured or moisture stabilised. In addition, products may be mixed or blended to create assortments, trail mixes, customised formulations or ready-to-consume packs. Processing not only enhances product quality, safety and shelf life, but also enables premiumisation and catering to diverse consumer preferences. India has developed strong processing capabilities in segments such as cashews and groundnuts, supporting both domestic consumption and exports.

4. Packaging & Labelling

Packaging and labelling are integral to preserving product quality, ensuring compliance with regulatory standards and enhancing brand recognition. Products are packaged in bulk formats for institutional buyers and exports, and in retail packs for consumers. Packaging types include vacuum-sealed pouches, jars, tins and nitrogen-flushed packs, designed to maintain freshness and prevent contamination. Branding and labelling provide information on product type, weight, nutritional value, certifications and expiry dates, contributing to consumer trust and higher realisations.

5. Storage & Logistics

Processed nuts and dry fruits require controlled storage to maintain quality and prevent moisture absorption, infestation or spoilage. Organised players use temperature- and humidity-controlled warehouses, while logistics cover transportation from processing facilities to warehouses, ports, distribution centres and retail outlets. Efficient storage and logistics minimise losses, optimise inventory cycles, and ensure timely availability across markets.

6. Distribution & Retail

Distribution channels include wholesalers, distributors, modern trade outlets, e-commerce platforms and institutional buyers such as hotels, restaurants and bakeries. Retail sales occur through supermarkets, specialty stores, online platforms and traditional kirana outlets. Distribution efficiency and network reach significantly influence market penetration and pricing. Organised retail, coupled with robust e-commerce penetration, has facilitated wider access to value-added and branded products.

7. End Consumption

The final stage of the value chain is consumption by end users. Consumption patterns are influenced by income levels, health awareness, lifestyle preferences, seasonal demand and price sensitivity. Products reaching this stage reflect cumulative value addition, including processing, packaging, branding and distribution costs. Increasing preference for ready-to-eat, hygienically packaged and value-added products has driven growth in the organised segment.

GLOBAL AND INDIAN INDUSTRY OUTLOOK – NUTS AND DRY FRUITS

4.1 Global Nuts and Dry Fruits Industry

The global nuts and dry fruits industry has witnessed sustained expansion over the past decade, supported by rising health-conscious consumption, premiumisation of snack categories, and increasing utilisation across bakery, confectionery, dairy alternatives, cereals, and processed foods. Between 2013/14 and 2025/26, global production across the combined complex has grown consistently, reflecting both supply-side investments in major producing regions and strong downstream demand. Tree nuts, groundnuts, and dry fruits collectively account for the core of global production, each demonstrating distinct growth patterns, value dynamics, and end-use relevance.

1. Tree Nuts

The global tree nut industry has emerged as a high-growth segment within the broader agri-commodities ecosystem, driven by rising health awareness, expanding applications in food processing, and sustained demand from high-income and emerging markets. Over the past decade, production, trade, and consumption patterns have undergone significant transformation, supported by improvements in crop management, expansion of commercial orchards, and strengthening supply chains across major producing regions.

Tree nuts have become central to global food, snack, bakery, and confectionery markets, while peanuts and dry fruits complement the category as high-volume, nutrient-dense commodities witnessing comparable global demand.

World Treenut Production - Product Wise Split (%)

Source: Nuts & Dried Fruit Global Statistical Report-2023, 2024, 2025

Global tree nut production has grown significantly over the past decade, increasing from 3.73 million metric tonnes (MMT) in 2015/16 to 6.02 MMT in 2024/25, and is projected at 5.93 MMT in 2025/26, reflecting a CAGR of 4.19%. This expansion has been driven by rising consumer demand for nutrient-rich, high-value tree nuts, including almonds, walnuts, cashews, pistachios, hazelnuts, pecans, and other premium varieties. These nuts are valued for their high plant-protein content, healthy fats, vitamins, and antioxidants, which have supported their growing use in snacks, plant-based beverages, bakery, confectionery, and fortified health-food products.

The global supply of tree nuts is concentrated in a limited number of countries, with the United States, Türkiye, and China collectively accounting for a substantial portion of production. Their dominance is underpinned by large-scale commercial orchards, favourable agro-climatic conditions, advanced irrigation systems, and well-developed processing and export infrastructure, which facilitate both domestic consumption and international trade.

Among tree nut varieties, almonds represent the largest share of global production at 27%, followed by walnuts (22%), cashews (20%), pistachios (14%), and hazelnuts (11%). Sustained yield improvements and strategic orchard expansion in major producing regions have reinforced supply growth, ensuring that global demand can be met across diverse applications and markets.

2. Groundnuts

The global groundnut (peanut) industry has witnessed steady growth over the past decade, supported by strong demand for edible oils, snacks, confectionery, and protein-rich ingredients across both developed and emerging markets. Groundnuts, are valued for their high protein content, healthy fats, vitamins, and versatility in food processing, making them a staple crop for human consumption and industrial applications.

Source: Nuts & Dried Fruit Global Statistical Report-2023, 2024, 2025

Global groundnut production expanded from 40.82 million metric tonnes (MMT) in 2015/16 to 51.81 MMT in 2024/25, and is projected to remain at 51.81 MMT in 2025/26, representing a CAGR of 2.35% over the period. While growth is lower relative to tree nuts, groundnuts remain a core raw material for edible oils, snack foods, confectionery, traditional dishes, and peanut butter. Yield improvements, adoption of high-yield varieties, and expanded cultivation areas in major producing countries have supported stable supply.

China and India together account for nearly half of global groundnut output, benefiting from favourable agro-climatic conditions, large-scale cultivation, and well-established processing infrastructure. Other producers, including Nigeria and the USA, play an important role in both domestic and export markets.

3. Dry fruits

The global dry fruits industry has shown steady performance over the past decade, supported by growing consumer preference for healthy, natural, and convenient foods. Dry fruits, including dried grapes (raisins/ sultanas), dates, figs, apricots, cranberries, prunes, and tropical fruits, are valued for their nutritional content, long shelf life, and versatility in snacking, bakery, confectionery, and health-focused products. Rising awareness of dietary fiber, antioxidants, and natural sugars has further reinforced their demand across developed and emerging markets.

World Dry Fruits Production - Product Wise Split (%)

Global dry fruits production has increased from 2.78 million metric tonnes (MMT) in 2015/16 to 3.24 MMT in 2024/25, and is projected at 3.14 MMT in 2025/26, reflecting a CAGR of 1.86%. The segment is dominated by dried grapes (42%) and table dates (37%), together accounting for nearly four-fifths of global output. Production is concentrated in Iran, USA, and Türkiye, each contributing approximately 7%, supported by favourable climatic conditions, established processing infrastructure, and advancements in dehydration and post-harvest handling techniques. Demand is driven by applications in bakery, breakfast cereals, trail mixes, confectionery, yogurt toppings, festive gifting, and emerging nutraceutical formulations, with growth underpinned by rising preference for natural sweeteners, clean-label ingredients, and functional nutrition. Value-added products such as packaged mixes, flavoured dry fruits, and fortified variants help enhance margins in an otherwise moderately price-sensitive market.

Overall, the global nuts and dry fruits complex reflects a balanced industry outlook: tree nuts lead in growth and premium value, groundnuts dominate in scale and affordability, and dry fruits maintain steady demand driven by health-centric and natural ingredient trends.

4.2 Indian Nuts and Dry fruits Industry

The Indian nuts and dry fruits market constitutes a segment of the broader Indian Food and Beverage (“F&B”) industry. The segment includes products consumed in raw, processed, or packaged forms and caters to household consumption as well as institutional, food processing, confectionery, bakery, and gifting applications. The market operates within an ecosystem influenced by agricultural availability, consumer consumption behaviour, retail channel development, and macroeconomic factors.

Indian Food and Beverage Industry Context

The Indian F&B industry has experienced sustained expansion over the past decade, supported by socio-economic development, rising disposable incomes, and evolving urban consumption patterns. The industry encompasses packaged foods, baked goods, dairy products, confectionery, snacks, and beverages, and contributes approximately 3% to India’s gross domestic product while accounting for nearly two-thirds of the total retail market. The sector provides employment to more than 7.5 million individuals and supports allied sectors such as agriculture, logistics, retail, and hospitality services.

Structural Characteristics of the Operating Environment

The operating environment for the nuts and dry fruits segment is shaped by several structural characteristics of the Indian F&B industry, including:

- Availability of agricultural produce and import linkages supporting raw material sourcing.
- Cost competitiveness across processing, packaging, and distribution activities.
- Increasing urbanisation and changes in household structures influencing food consumption preferences.

Consumption and Usage Patterns

Consumption of nuts and dry fruits in India spans multiple use cases and consumer segments. These products are consumed directly in raw or processed forms, including roasted, salted, or flavoured variants, and are commonly used as snacks within households across urban and rural markets. Snacking consumption includes both between-meal intake and partial meal substitution in certain consumer segments, reflecting evolving dietary habits and lifestyle patterns.

Nuts and dry fruits are also utilised as ingredients in packaged food products such as breakfast cereals, snack bars, trail mixes, confectionery, bakery items, dairy-based products, and ready-to-eat foods. In addition to household consumption, the segment serves institutional and commercial demand from food processing companies, bakeries, confectioners, hotels, restaurants, and catering service providers. These applications contribute to demand for nuts and dry fruits as functional and flavouring inputs within the broader food processing value chain.

Consumption patterns vary based on factors including regional dietary preferences, income levels, price sensitivity, and product availability. While loose and unbranded formats continue to account for a portion of consumption, packaged and branded offerings have gained prominence through organised retail and e-commerce channels, supporting wider access and standardisation across markets.

This segment primarily comprises loose, unbranded or minimally processed products distributed through traditional retail formats, mandis, and local wholesalers. Consumption in this segment is largely price-driven and concentrated in mass-market categories such as groundnuts, loose raisins, dates, and economy-grade nuts, which are extensively used for household consumption, oil extraction, traditional sweets, and food processing applications.

The non-premium segment is expected to grow at a moderate CAGR of approximately 5% over FY 2025–FY 2030, reflecting steady demand from traditional consumption channels. Based on this growth trajectory, the segment is projected to reach USD 22,732 million by FY 2030.

The premium segment accounted for approximately 30% of the total market value in FY 2025, with an estimated market size of USD 7,633 million, despite representing a smaller share of overall volumes. This segment includes branded, packaged, graded, and value-added products, such as roasted and flavoured nuts, nut mixes, coated nuts, premium dry fruits, organic variants, and gift packs. Demand in this segment is driven by urbanisation, rising disposable incomes, increasing health awareness, preference for standardised quality and food safety, and the rapid expansion of organised retail, e-commerce, and quick-commerce platforms.

The premium segment is expected to grow at a higher CAGR of approximately 12% over FY 2025–FY 2030, significantly outpacing the non-premium segment. As a result, the premium segment is projected to reach USD 13,323 million by FY 2030, accounting for a progressively higher share of total market value.

Overall, the Indian nuts and dry fruits market is witnessing a structural shift from non-premium, loose formats towards premium, branded and value-added offerings. While the non-premium segment will continue to account for a majority of volumes, the premium segment is expected to be the primary driver of incremental value growth over the medium to long term.

Segmentation based on Type

Based on product classification, the Indian nuts and dry fruits market can be segmented into Tree nuts, Groundnuts, and Dry fruits. Each segment exhibits distinct growth drivers, consumption behaviour, and value dynamics.

Market Segmentation by Type

• Tree Nuts

Tree nuts constitute the largest segment of the Indian nuts and dry fruits market, accounting for approximately 51% of total market value in FY 2025, with an estimated market size of USD 13,073.40 million. The segment benefits from premium positioning, rising health awareness, and expanding consumption through organised retail and digital channels. Reflecting these structural drivers, the tree nuts segment is expected to grow at a CAGR of approximately 8.50% over FY 2025–FY 2030, outpacing overall market growth. On this basis, the segment is projected to reach USD 19,657.91 million by FY 2030, thereby increasing its share of total market value over the forecast period.

Market Segmentation by Type of Treenuts

Source: Infomerics Analytics & Research

Within the tree nuts segment, market value is highly concentrated across a limited number of nut types, reflecting variations in affordability, culinary integration, processing intensity, and consumer familiarity. Cashews represent the dominant category, accounting for approximately 64.60% of total tree nut market value, with an estimated market size of USD 8,445.00 million. Cashews enjoy widespread acceptance across Indian households and food service establishments due to their versatility, taste profile, and extensive use in traditional sweets, savoury preparations, bakery, confectionery, and gifting applications. The availability of multiple value-added formats, including roasted, flavoured, and coated variants, further strengthens their market leadership.

Walnuts constitute the second-largest tree nut category, accounting for approximately 23.76% of the tree nuts market, with an estimated market size of USD 3,106.55 million. Demand for walnuts is supported by their strong health positioning, particularly their association with heart health, brain health, and omega-3 fatty acid content, which has driven increasing consumption among health-conscious and urban consumers.

From a product-form perspective, the walnut market is broadly divided between in-shell walnuts and shelled walnut kernels, each catering to distinct consumer segments and end-use applications. In-shell walnuts are estimated to account for approximately 55–60% of total walnut consumption by value in India. This format is widely distributed through traditional retail channels, mandis, and seasonal markets, and is preferred for household cracking, festive consumption, and gifting, owing to perceptions of freshness, authenticity, and longer shelf life provided by the intact shell.

Shelled walnut kernels account for the remaining 40–45% of the walnut market by value and represent the faster-growing sub-segment. Shelled walnuts offer greater convenience, uniform quality, and ease of use, making them increasingly preferred for bakery, confectionery, packaged foods, health snacks, breakfast cereals, and institutional consumption. Growth in this segment is supported by rising penetration of organised retail, branded packaging, and value-added formats, including chopped, graded, and vacuum-packed kernels.

Overall, while in-shell walnuts continue to dominate volumes, the shelled walnut segment is gaining share over time, driven by premiumisation, changing consumption habits, and expanding use in processed and packaged food applications. This shift is expected to support higher realisations and value growth within the walnut category over the medium to long term.

Almonds account for approximately 9.32% of the tree nuts market, with an estimated market size of USD 1,218.85 million. Almonds are widely perceived as a premium and nutritious product and are commonly consumed as a daily health supplement, snack, or gifting item. Demand is supported by strong penetration in organised retail and rising consumption in sliced, blanched, roasted, and flavoured formats, particularly in urban markets.

Pistachios form a smaller yet premium segment, contributing approximately 2.27% of the tree nuts market, with an estimated market size of USD 296.53 million. Pistachios are primarily consumed as a premium snack and gifting product, with demand concentrated in urban centres and during festive periods, supported by their premium pricing and limited domestic availability.

Other nuts, including Hazelnuts, Macadamias, Pine nuts and Brazil nuts, collectively account for a negligible share of the overall tree nuts market, with each contributing less than 0.05% individually. Consumption of these products remains niche and is largely limited to confectionery, bakery, gourmet food applications, and premium health products, with distribution predominantly through organised retail and institutional channels.

Overall, the tree nuts segment is characterised by high value concentration, strong premiumisation trends, and significant scope for value addition, positioning it as a key driver of incremental value growth within the Indian nuts and dry fruits market.

• Groundnuts

Groundnuts represent the second-largest segment, accounting for approximately 39% of total market value in FY 2025, with an estimated market size of USD 10,008.24 million. This segment is characterised by high-volume, mass-market consumption, supported by widespread use across edible oil extraction, snacks, processed foods, and traditional diets.

Groundnut consumption is relatively price-sensitive and closely linked to staple food demand, agricultural output, and commodity price cycles. While demand remains structurally stable, value growth is comparatively moderate due to limited premiumisation and high price competition.

• Dry Fruits

Dry fruits account for approximately 9% of the total market value in FY 2025, with an estimated market size of USD 2,362.42 million. The segment comprises dates, figs, raisins, dried apricots, dried prunes, and dehydrated berries, which differ in terms of consumption patterns, end-use applications, and degree of premiumisation.

Demand for dry fruits is supported by diversified end-use applications across bakery, confectionery, breakfast cereals, trail mixes, nutritional supplements, and festive gifting. Increasing consumer preference for natural sweeteners, clean-label ingredients, and functional nutrition has further strengthened consumption, particularly within urban and organised retail markets.

Market Segmentation by Type of Dry Fruits

Source: Infomerics Analytics & Research

Within the dry fruits segment, dates constitute the largest category, accounting for approximately 39.79% of the segment value, with an estimated market size of USD 939.96 million. Dates benefit from widespread household consumption, use as a natural sweetener, and strong seasonal demand during festive and religious periods, supporting both retail and institutional consumption.

From a product-form perspective, the dates market is commonly segmented into wet dates and dry dates, based on moisture content, shelf life, and consumption patterns. Wet dates are estimated to account for approximately 75–80% of total dates consumption by value in India. This segment benefits from strong consumer preference for softer texture, fresher taste, and premium varieties, with demand concentrated in urban markets, organised retail formats, and during seasonal and religious occasions. Wet dates typically command higher realisations but require faster turnover and more controlled storage and logistics due to their higher moisture content.

Dry dates are estimated to account for the remaining 20–25% of the dates market by value. Dry dates have lower moisture content, longer shelf life, and greater ease of storage and transportation, making them suitable for bulk handling, year-round retail availability, and use in bakery, confectionery, processed foods, and institutional applications. Dry dates are more prevalent in traditional trade and wholesale channels due to their storability and price competitiveness.

Overall, while wet dates dominate the dates category by value, dry dates play a complementary role, providing supply stability and broader application across food processing and mass-market consumption.

Figs represent the second-largest category, contributing approximately 34.31% of the dry fruits market, with an estimated market size of USD 810.49 million. Demand for figs is supported by their health positioning, rising awareness of dietary fibre and mineral content, and increasing use in premium retail, health foods, and nutraceutical applications.

Raisins account for approximately 25.05% of the dry fruits segment, with an estimated market size of USD 591.83 million. Raisins are widely used across bakery, confectionery, breakfast foods, traditional sweets, and food processing, benefiting from their versatility and relatively affordable pricing compared to other dry fruits.

Other dry fruits, including dried apricots (0.66% share; USD 15.67 million), dried prunes (0.17% share; USD 3.90 million), and dehydrated berries (0.02% share; USD 0.58 million), together account for a limited share of the overall segment. Consumption of these products remains niche, primarily concentrated in premium retail, institutional channels, and specialised food applications, reflecting higher price points and limited domestic availability.

The dry fruits segment is expected to grow at a CAGR of approximately 7.02% over FY 2025–FY 2030, broadly in line with overall market growth. Based on this trajectory, the segment is projected to reach USD 3,316.72 million by FY 2030, supported by expanding packaged consumption, increasing use in processed foods, and gradual premiumisation.

Area and Production of Nuts and Dry fruits in India

The horticulture sector forms a key component of India's agricultural output and provides raw material for various food processing, snacking, and value-added segments. This section presents the area under cultivation and production of select horticulture crops in India for the period FY2020-21 to FY2024-25. The analysis is limited to crops for which consistent, crop-wise official data is available.

Area is expressed in ('000 hectare) and Production is expressed in ('000 Metric Tonne)

- Almonds The area under almond cultivation remained stable at approximately 10 thousand hectares throughout the review period. Production increased gradually from 11 thousand metric tonnes in FY2020-21 to 13 thousand metric tonnes in FY2024-25, indicating marginal improvements in productivity without a corresponding expansion in cultivated area.
- Walnuts The area under walnut cultivation declined from 109 thousand hectares in FY2020-21 to 81 thousand hectares in FY2024-25. Despite this contraction in acreage, production increased from 281 thousand metric tonnes in FY2020-21 to 318 thousand metric tonnes in FY2023-24, before moderating to 292 thousand metric tonnes in FY2024-25. This trend reflects relatively higher yields during the period, partially offsetting the reduction in cultivated area.

- Cashews Cashew cultivation recorded a gradual increase in area from 1,159 thousand hectares in FY2020-21 to 1,202 thousand hectares in FY2024-25. Production increased correspondingly from 738 thousand metric tonnes to 795 thousand metric tonnes over the same period. Production levels remained stable in FY2023-24 and FY2024-25, indicating consistent output supported by steady acreage expansion.
- Pecans The area under pecan cultivation remained negligible at approximately 1 thousand hectare during the review period. No material production was reported for pecans between FY2020-21 and FY2024-25, reflecting the limited commercial cultivation of this crop in India.
- Groundnuts Groundnuts represent a key edible nut and oilseed crop in India. The area under cultivation declined from 6,010 thousand hectares in FY2020-21 to 4,710 thousand hectares in FY2023-24, before increasing to 5,750 thousand hectares in FY2024-25. Production remained relatively stable in the range of 10,130 thousand metric tonnes to 10,300 thousand metric tonnes from FY2020-21 to FY2023-24, followed by an increase to 11,900 thousand metric tonnes in FY2024-25. The divergence between area and production trends indicates improvements in yield and production efficiency in the most recent fiscal year.

Overall, while the area under cultivation for certain select horticulture crops has exhibited variability during the review period, production levels have remained stable or increased for most crops. This indicates gradual improvements in productivity and cultivation practices. The analysis is restricted to crops for which official, crop-wise data is available; several other nuts and dry fruits consumed in India are largely import-dependent and therefore do not have comparable domestic cultivation or production statistics.

Sourcing of Nuts and Dry Fruits – Domestic Production and Imports

The nuts and dry fruits industry in India is characterised by a combination of domestic agricultural production and imports, driven by agro-climatic diversity, crop-specific suitability, scale of cultivation, and processing capabilities. Domestic production is concentrated in select regions, while several categories—particularly tree nuts and premium dry fruits—remain structurally import-dependent due to climatic limitations and limited commercial cultivation.

Distribution of Nuts and Dry Fruits within India and Exports

The distribution of nuts and dry fruits in India comprises a combination of domestic consumption across organised and unorganised channels and exports to select international markets. The domestic market remains predominantly unorganised, particularly in low-value, high-volume categories such as groundnuts, raisins, and unbranded dates, while the organised segment is steadily gaining share, driven by changing consumer preferences and channel expansion.

• Domestic Distribution within India

Nuts and dry fruits are distributed domestically through a multi-tier supply chain involving farm-gate traders, mandis, small processors, local wholesalers, importers, distributors, organised retail chains, e-commerce platforms, and institutional buyers. The unorganised segment, comprising farm-gate intermediaries, mandis, small-scale processors, and loose-product retailers, is estimated to account for approximately 65–70% of total market volumes. This segment is characterised by fragmented supply chains, limited branding, variable quality standards, and price-driven competition.

At the same time, the organised segment—comprising branded packaged nuts and dry fruits, roasted and flavoured products, nut mixes, coated nuts, and premium dry fruit offerings—accounts for an estimated 30–35% of the market and is expanding at a faster pace than the unorganised sector. Growth in organised distribution is supported by increasing consumer preference for standardised quality, food safety certifications, value-added formats, and convenience packaging, along with the rapid expansion of modern trade formats, e-commerce platforms, and direct-to-consumer (D2C) brands.

Geographically, domestic distribution of nuts and dry fruits exhibits a well-defined regional concentration. Western and northern India account for a significant share of trade and consumption, driven by higher urbanisation, purchasing power, and traditional consumption patterns. Maharashtra and Gujarat function as key trading and processing hubs, particularly for imported nuts, dates, and value-added products. Rajasthan and Delhi NCR serve as major wholesale and redistribution centres, supplying northern and central India.

Southern states such as Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, and Telangana represent important consumption as well as processing markets, supported by organised retail penetration and institutional demand from the food processing and hospitality sectors. Eastern and north-eastern regions account for a relatively smaller share of domestic volumes, though demand is gradually increasing with improving retail access and urbanisation.

Consumption is geographically widespread, with higher per-capita consumption in urban and semi-urban centres, and demand exhibiting seasonal peaks during festive periods, weddings, and gifting cycles. Institutional demand from food processing, bakery, confectionery, hospitality, and catering sectors also contributes meaningfully to domestic distribution volumes.

Trade Dynamics

India's nuts and dry fruits trade reflects a structurally differentiated pattern across product categories, with a pronounced import dependence in certain segments and a strong export orientation in others. Over the period from 2021 to 2025, total imports of nuts and dry fruits increased from USD 2,684.41 million to USD 3,777.59 million, while exports fluctuated within a narrower range, from USD 1,185.97 million in FY 2021 to USD 1,175.42 million in FY 2025. This trend indicates a widening trade deficit for the category, primarily driven by rising imports.

Source: MEIDB, Infomerics Analytics & Research

The data exhibits clearly differentiated dynamics across segments. Tree nuts constitute the largest segment in terms of trade value and remain structurally import-dependent due to agro-climatic constraints, limited domestic production of key varieties, and strong consumption demand driven by urbanisation and changing dietary preferences. As a result, this segment consistently records a significant trade deficit.

Groundnuts, in contrast, are predominantly export-oriented and represent India's strongest segment within the category. Supported by favourable agro-climatic conditions, large cultivation area, and established processing and export infrastructure, groundnuts consistently generate a substantial export surplus, with imports remaining negligible.

Dry fruits occupy an intermediate position, characterised by moderate import dependence and a gradually improving export profile. Imports are driven by demand for products such as dates, figs, and raisins, while exports, though relatively small, have shown steady growth, reflecting increasing value addition and niche market penetration. Overall, the segment-wise variation highlights the divergent supply-demand fundamentals within India's nuts and dry fruits trade.

Tree Nuts

Import Export Trend of Tree Nuts (In USD Million)

Product Wise Import Composition (%)

Top Countries

Source: MEIDB, Infomerics Analytics & Research

Tree nuts account for the largest share of India's trade in the nuts and dry fruits category, highlighting their critical role in overall consumption and trade flows. During the period from FY 2021 to FY 2025, the segment remained structurally import-oriented, driven by agro-climatic constraints, limited domestic production of key varieties, and steadily rising consumer demand. Imports of tree nuts increased from USD 2,202.32 million in 2021 to USD 3,215.45 million in 2025, indicating sustained demand growth despite a temporary moderation in FY 2024.

An analysis of the product-wise trade composition in FY 2025 further underscores India's dependence on imports for tree nuts. Cashew accounted for the largest share of imports at USD 1,669.43 million, followed by almonds at USD 1,122.83 million and pistachios at USD 296.53 million. Imports of other varieties, including walnuts (USD 120.19 million), hazelnuts, macadamias, pine nuts, and Brazil nuts, remained relatively limited in value. This concentration indicates that a significant portion of import dependence is driven by a few high-consumption varieties.

Exports of tree nuts in FY 2025 stood at USD 349.33 million and were primarily led by cashew, which accounted for USD 338.22 million of total exports, reflecting India's established processing and export capabilities in this segment. Exports of other tree nuts remained negligible, with almonds at USD 2.51 million, walnuts at USD 7.84 million, pistachios at USD 0.66 million, and marginal exports of hazelnuts, macadamias, pine nuts, and Brazil nuts. This skewed export composition indicates limited diversification of India's tree nut export basket.

Overall, the widening gap between imports and exports highlights a persistent trade deficit in the tree nuts segment, largely driven by high imports of almonds, cashews, and pistachios. While India has demonstrated export strength in processed cashew, the limited export presence in other tree nut categories underscores the need for targeted initiatives aimed at domestic cultivation where feasible, productivity enhancement, and value-added processing to improve export competitiveness and reduce import dependence over the medium to long term.

Groundnuts

Source: MEIDB, Infomerics Analytics & Research

Groundnuts constitute a key export-oriented segment within India's nuts and oilseeds trade, supported by strong domestic production, established processing capabilities, and consistent demand from international markets. Over the period from FY 2021 to FY2025, India has remained a net exporter of groundnuts, with exports significantly exceeding imports, reflecting the country's comparative advantage in cultivation and processing.

Imports of groundnuts remained negligible throughout the period under review, increasing marginally from USD 1.06 million in FY2021 to USD 1.42 million in FY 2025, indicating limited dependence on overseas sourcing. In contrast, exports demonstrated relative resilience despite year-on-year fluctuations. Exports declined from USD 727.21 million in FY 2021 to USD 629.28 million in 2022, before recovering to USD 831.62 million in 2023 and further increasing to USD 861.56 million in FY 2024. In FY 2025, exports moderated to USD 749.99 million, reflecting variability in global demand, pricing trends, and crop output.

Overall, the sustained export surplus in groundnuts underscores India's strong position in global groundnut trade. The segment benefits from favourable agro-climatic conditions, large cultivation area, and a well-developed export ecosystem. While export values remain subject to cyclical fluctuations, groundnuts continue to represent a structurally export-led category, contributing positively to India's agricultural trade balance.

Dry Fruits

Import Export Trend of Dry Fruits (In USD Million)

Dry Fruits Wise Import Composition (%)

Top Countries

Source: MEIDB, Infomerics Analytics & Research

Dry fruits form a significant segment within India's nuts and dry fruits category and have remained structurally import-oriented over the period from FY 2021 to FY 2025. The segment's trade dynamics are shaped by limited domestic availability of certain products, dependence on specific producing geographies, and rising consumption driven by changing dietary habits and increasing preference for convenience and health-oriented foods. Imports of dry fruits increased from USD 481.03 million in 2021 to USD 560.72 million in FY 2025, reflecting sustained growth in domestic demand, despite interim moderation in FY 2023.

An analysis of the product-wise trade composition in FY 2025 highlights the concentration of imports in a few key dry fruit categories. Dates accounted for the largest share of imports at USD 289.96 million, followed by figs at USD 155.94 million and raisins at USD 94.67 million. Imports of other dry fruits, including dried apricots (USD 15.67 million), dried prunes (USD 3.90 million), and dehydrated berries (USD 0.58 million), remained relatively limited. This concentration underscores India's reliance on imports for specific dried fruit varieties, particularly dates and figs.

Exports of dry fruits in FY 2025 stood at USD 76.10 million and were predominantly driven by raisins, which accounted for USD 72.13 million of total exports, reflecting India's relatively stronger production and processing capabilities in this category. Exports of other dry fruits remained marginal, with dates at USD 1.87 million, figs at USD 0.95 million, dried apricots at USD 0.42 million, dried prunes at USD 0.09 million, and dehydrated berries at USD 0.64 million. The export profile thus remains highly concentrated, with limited diversification across product categories.

Overall, the significant gap between imports and exports indicates a persistent trade deficit in the dry fruits segment, largely driven by high imports of dates and figs. While exports, particularly of raisins, have shown improvement in recent years, the limited export presence across other dry fruit categories highlights the need for enhanced domestic processing, quality improvement, and value addition to strengthen export competitiveness and reduce import dependence over the medium to long term.

Processing and Value Addition in the Nuts and Dry Fruits Industry

Processing of nuts and dry fruits constitutes a critical intermediate stage in the industry value chain, enabling the conversion of raw agricultural produce into safe, shelf-stable, graded and value-added products suitable for domestic consumption as well as export markets. Processing activities play a key role in reducing post-harvest losses, ensuring compliance with food safety standards, enhancing shelf life, and supporting product differentiation.

Globally, the nuts and dry fruits processing industry has witnessed steady growth, supported by increasing consumer preference for healthy snacks, plant-based diets, functional foods and convenience products. Processing has increasingly shifted from basic cleaning and grading towards value-added formats such as roasted and flavoured nuts, nut mixes, coated products, nut butters, pastes, flours and ingredient applications for bakery, confectionery and dairy alternatives.

In India, nuts and dry fruits processing spans a wide spectrum, ranging from small, labour-intensive units engaged in basic shelling, drying and loose distribution to organised processors operating mechanised shelling, roasting, optical sorting and packaging facilities catering to organised retail, institutional buyers and export markets.

Scope of Processing Activities

Processing of nuts and dry fruits typically includes one or more of the following activities, depending on the product category and end-use application. The extent of processing varies by category. Products such as cashews and groundnuts undergo extensive processing and grading, while products such as almonds, pistachios and walnuts are often imported and processed primarily for retail packaging, roasting and blending.

Key Processing Activities at different stages

Processing Stage	Key Activities	Output / Value Added
Primary Cleaning & Drying	Cleaning, sun/mechanical drying, removal of foreign matter	Reduced moisture content and lower post-harvest spoilage

Shelling & Dehusking	Manual or mechanised shelling and peeling	Conversion into edible kernels
Grading & Sorting	Size grading and colour sorting (manual or optical)	Uniform quality and price differentiation
Thermal Processing	Roasting, blanching and frying	Improved taste profile and enhanced shelf life
Value Addition	Flavouring, coating, mixing and grinding	Premium, differentiated and value-added products
Packaging	Vacuum or modified atmosphere packaging (MAP), retail packs	Extended shelf life and brand positioning

Global Processing Landscape

At a global level, processing capacity is concentrated near major producing regions as well as consumption centres. The global industry is characterised by increasing automation, investment in food safety infrastructure, traceability systems and compliance with international standards such as HACCP, ISO 22000 and equivalent certifications.

Global processors are increasingly focusing on premiumisation, flavour innovation and functional product development, supported by rising demand from organised retail, food service and ingredient manufacturers.

Indian Processing Landscape

India occupies a significant position in the global processing ecosystem for select categories, particularly cashews, groundnuts and raisins, supported by domestic agricultural production, imported raw materials and a large processing workforce.

The Indian processing industry remains predominantly unorganised, especially in basic shelling, drying and loose-format processing. However, the organised processing segment has been expanding steadily, driven by increasing food safety requirements, branding, value-added product demand and growth in organised retail and e-commerce channels.

Cashew processing represents one of the most established segments, with India historically functioning as a major processor of raw cashew nuts into kernels for domestic consumption and exports. Groundnut processing benefits from large domestic production and includes roasting, snack manufacturing, oil extraction and export-oriented grading. Raisin processing is concentrated in regional clusters with established dehydration and sorting infrastructure.

Value Addition and Margin Expansion

Value addition is a key driver of profitability in the processing segment. Transition from bulk or loose products to branded, packaged and flavoured formats enables processors to capture higher realisations and access organised retail and export markets.

Processed products such as nut mixes, coated nuts, nut butters and ingredient supplies for bakery and confectionery applications command higher margins compared to raw kernels, albeit requiring higher capital investment, quality control and regulatory compliance.

Key Trends and Growth Outlook in Nuts and Dry Fruits Processing

The nuts and dry fruits processing industry is being shaped by rising health awareness, premiumisation, automation, regulatory compliance and channel diversification. In India, processing activity is expected to grow faster than raw consumption, supported by increasing packaged food penetration and export opportunities.

Over the medium to long term, the processing segment is expected to witness sustained growth, driven by urbanisation, rising disposable incomes, evolving dietary preferences and the gradual shift from loose to packaged consumption. The industry is also expected to see increasing formalisation and consolidation as organised players expand capacity and market share.

MARKET DYNAMICS

Detailed Overview

1. Rising Health Awareness and Nutritional Demand

Increasing awareness of the nutritional benefits of nuts and dry fruits—rich in proteins, healthy fats, vitamins, and antioxidants—is driving consumption across age groups. Consumers are increasingly integrating nuts into daily diets, smoothies, breakfast cereals, and meal replacements. Over the medium term, demand is expected to be sustained by health-driven consumption and wellness trends.

2. Premiumisation and Diversification of Diets

With rising disposable incomes and evolving lifestyles, consumers are opting for premium, organic, and exotic nut varieties. Cashews, almonds, pistachios, walnuts, and specialty berries are witnessing higher adoption in gourmet, ready-to-eat, and festive offerings. The trend toward diversified consumption and gifting is expected to expand product portfolios and pricing tiers over the next 3–7 years.

3. Expansion of Organised Retail and E-commerce Channels

Retail modernisation, hypermarkets, supermarkets, and online grocery platforms are increasingly influencing buying patterns. E-commerce platforms enable wider product reach, bundling options, and subscription-based models, particularly in urban and semi-urban markets. Enhanced retail penetration and digital commerce adoption are expected to be key growth enablers over the medium and long term.

4. Growth in Food Processing, Confectionery, and Gifting Demand

Nuts and dry fruits are extensively used in processed foods, bakery and confectionery products, health snacks, and seasonal gifting. Rising consumption in institutional catering, hotels, and festive packaging sectors contributes to consistent demand. Product innovations such as spiced mixes, flavoured nuts, and ready-to-eat packs are expected to drive growth in high-value segments.

5. Cultural, festive, and traditional consumption patterns

Deep-rooted cultural practices, religious festivals, and gifting traditions continue to support baseline demand for nuts and dry fruits across households. Seasonal spikes during festivals such as Diwali, Eid, and weddings ensure demand stability, while premium gifting formats are expected to enhance value growth over the medium to long term.

6. Policy Support, Export Promotion, and FDI Inflows

Government programs such as export incentives, APEDA schemes, and agricultural credit support for nut cultivation encourage production, processing, and global competitiveness. Policies aimed at improving cold chain logistics, packaging standards, and quality certification enhance export potential, particularly to the Middle East, Europe, and Southeast Asia.

7. Innovation in Packaging, Value-Added Products, and Blends

Advances in packaging—such as vacuum-sealed packs, portion-controlled sachets, and recyclable materials—enhance shelf life and consumer convenience. Development of mixed nut packs, flavoured nuts, and ready-to-eat products supports differentiation and higher margins. Over the next five years, product innovation is expected to be a major driver for domestic and international market expansion.

Detailed Commentary on Key Challenges

1. Climate Variability Affecting Crop Yields

Nut and dry fruit production is highly sensitive to monsoon patterns, temperature fluctuations, and drought conditions. Irregular rainfall, rising temperatures, and pest incidences can reduce yields of almonds, cashews, walnuts, and pistachios, creating supply constraints and price volatility in both domestic and export markets.

2. Supply Chain and Logistics Inefficiencies

Limited cold chain infrastructure, inadequate warehousing, and fragmented transportation networks can lead to post-harvest losses, reduced shelf life, and higher distribution costs. Improving logistics, storage, and processing facilities remains critical to maintaining product quality and market competitiveness.

3. Price Volatility Due to Import/Export Dynamics

India imports certain nuts (e.g., cashews from Vietnam, almonds from the US) while also exporting to global markets. Fluctuations in international prices, currency exchange rates, and trade policies can impact profitability and pricing strategies. Global demand-supply imbalances may also affect long-term stability.

4. Quality and Safety Compliance Requirements

Consumers and regulatory bodies increasingly demand traceability, food safety certifications (FSSAI, ISO, HACCP), and adherence to international standards. Failure to comply can lead to rejection in export markets, recalls, and reputational risks. Investments in quality control systems and certifications are therefore essential.

5. Dependence on Key Producing Regions and Labour

Production is concentrated in select states (e.g., almonds in Jammu & Kashmir, cashews in Kerala and Maharashtra, walnuts in Himachal Pradesh). Labor shortages during peak harvest seasons and regional disruptions can constrain supply. Mechanisation and efficient labour management are needed to mitigate these risks.

6. Competition from Global Players and Substitutes

International suppliers and alternative snack products (e.g., roasted seeds, granola mixes) compete with domestic nuts and dry fruits. Competitive pricing, brand positioning, and product differentiation are required to maintain market share domestically and globally.

PESTEL ANALYSIS OF THE INDUSTRY

GOVERNMENT INITIATIVES, POLICY SUPPORT AND REGULATORY FRAMEWORK

The nuts and dry fruits industry in India operates within a comprehensive regulatory and policy framework designed to ensure food safety, quality assurance, fair trade practices, and global competitiveness. The sector is governed through a combination of food safety regulations, legal metrology requirements, taxation and trade policies, as well as government-supported development and export promotion initiatives. The key regulatory and policy measures applicable to the industry are summarised below.

1. Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI)

The Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (“FSSAI”) is the principal regulatory body responsible for ensuring food safety, hygiene, licensing, and quality standards for businesses operating in the dry fruits and nuts sector.

- Product Standards: FSSAI classifies dry fruits and nuts as processed food products. Such products are required to comply with prescribed quality standards relating to cleanliness, wholesomeness, and freedom from contaminants such as mould, insects, shells, or other extraneous matter. Uniformity in appearance, texture, and flavour is also mandated to ensure consistency and consumer safety.
- Hygiene and Sanitation: Under Schedule 4 of the Food Safety and Standards Act, 2006, food business operators involved in processing, packaging, storage, and distribution of dry fruits must maintain hygiene and sanitation standards. This includes clean processing environments, pest control, adequate ventilation, sanitised equipment, and personnel training on food safety practices.
- Licensing and Registration: All food business operators are required to obtain the relevant FSSAI registration or licence based on the scale of operations, turnover, and nature of activities, including imports and e-commerce operations. Licensing involves periodic renewals, inspections, and audits to ensure ongoing compliance with food safety norms.

2. Legal Metrology Act, 2009

Draft Red Herring Prospectus

The Legal Metrology Act, 2009 ensures accuracy, fairness, and transparency in trade practices, particularly for products sold by weight such as dry fruits and nuts. Key requirements include:

- Registration under the Legal Metrology Act for packaged commodities
- Compliance with prescribed standards for weights, measures, and labelling
- Model approval certification for weighing and measuring instruments
- Importer registration (LMPC licence) for packaged dry fruits
- Licences for dealers, manufacturers, and repairers of weights and measures, as applicable
- Periodic renewal of licences and compliance audits
- These measures ensure accurate measurement, transparent pricing, and consumer protection.

3. Government Development and Infrastructure Support

- Mission for Integrated Development of Horticulture (MIDH): The MIDH scheme provides support for orchard development, quality planting material, and creation of post-harvest infrastructure, including packhouses, cold storage facilities, and processing units. Recent expansions under MIDH include hydroponics, aquaponics, vertical farming, and precision agriculture to improve productivity, reduce post-harvest losses, and enhance supply consistency.
- Agriculture Infrastructure Fund (AIF) and Allied Programmes: The AIF and associated schemes facilitate financing for cold storage, grading units, packhouses, testing facilities, and logistics infrastructure, thereby improving supply chain efficiency and supporting both domestic distribution and export operations.

4 Export Promotion and Trade Facilitation

The Agricultural and Processed Food Products Export Development Authority (“APEDA”) supports the industry in expanding export potential through:

- Financial assistance for packhouses, cold chains, refrigerated transport, pre-shipment treatment, and testing facilities
- Export readiness programmes, including quality certification and compliance support
- Promotion of value-added products and supply chain enhancements
- Guidance for compliance with regulations of importing countries

These initiatives enable adherence to international standards and facilitate market access for Indian dry fruits globally.

5. Taxation and Trade Policy Environment

- Goods and Services Tax (GST): Dry fruits are currently subject to GST. Industry stakeholders have represented for rationalisation of GST rates to improve affordability and consumption.
- Import Duties: Certain dry fruits, such as walnuts, attract high import duties. Industry proposals advocate rationalised duty structures, including fixed per-kilogram duties, to stabilise prices and balance domestic and imported supply.
- Production-Linked Incentive (PLI) Proposals: Stakeholders have proposed PLI-style incentives for domestic processing to encourage value addition, reduce import dependence, and support investment in processing infrastructure.

6. Quality, Traceability, and Export Compliance

Export-oriented operations are required to comply with quality standards and certifications mandated by importing countries. This includes adherence to processing, packaging, labelling, and testing norms. APEDA and related institutions provide guidance and support to exporters in meeting these requirements.

TECHNOLOGY AND DIGITAL TRANSFORMATION

The Indian nuts and dry fruits industry is undergoing a rapid transformation driven by technological innovation and digitalization. From advanced processing and sorting machinery to smart packaging, cold-chain automation, IoT-enabled monitoring, and digital supply-chain management, technology is reshaping operational efficiency, quality assurance, and market access. These developments are enhancing product consistency, reducing post-harvest losses, improving traceability, and enabling the production of value-added and premium offerings for domestic and export markets.

Advanced Sorting, Grading & Quality Control

Advanced sorting and grading technologies, including optical and laser-based systems, are increasingly being adopted to ensure precise separation of nuts and dry fruits by size, colour, and quality. These systems, combined with hygienic cleaning, steam treatment, and sterilization processes, are helping processors maintain consistent quality, reduce post-harvest losses, and meet international food safety standards, thereby strengthening export readiness.

1. Advanced Sorting, Grading & Quality Control

Advanced sorting and grading technologies, including optical and laser-based systems, are increasingly being adopted to ensure precise separation of nuts and dry fruits by size, colour, and quality. These systems, combined with hygienic cleaning, steam treatment, and sterilization processes, are helping processors maintain consistent quality, reduce post-harvest losses, and meet international food safety standards, thereby strengthening export readiness.

2. Automation in Processing & Packaging

Automation in processing and packaging is gaining momentum across the sector. Fully and semi-automated lines are now being used for weighing, filling, sealing, and labelling of products, while innovations in packaging—such as resealable pouches, eco-friendly materials, single-serve snack packs, and premium gifting assortments—are enhancing convenience and appeal for modern consumers. These technologies improve throughput, hygiene, and shelf-life, while supporting the growing demand for value-added products.

3. Cold-Chain Infrastructure & Preservation Technologies

Cold-chain infrastructure and preservation technologies are becoming essential to maintain product quality over long supply chains. Controlled-atmosphere storage, temperature- and humidity-monitored cold storage facilities, and refrigerated transport help prevent rancidity, microbial spoilage, and quality degradation. Real-time monitoring of storage conditions ensures optimal preservation, reduces losses, and supports both domestic distribution and export markets.

4. Digital Traceability & Supply-Chain Transparency

Digital traceability and supply-chain transparency are increasingly critical as exporters and domestic brands seek compliance with global quality standards. Batch-level tracking, IoT-enabled monitoring, and cloud-based platforms allow real-time oversight from farm to processor to retailer, enabling efficient recall management and enhancing consumer trust. These systems also provide valuable data for quality assurance, inventory management, and regulatory reporting.

5. Industry 4.0 & Smart Manufacturing

Industry 4.0 and smart manufacturing practices are being integrated into processing operations, with robotics, AI-based quality checks, and predictive maintenance systems improving operational efficiency and reducing human error. Data analytics tools support demand forecasting, production scheduling, and inventory optimization, allowing processors to better align supply with market demand and minimize costs.

6. R&D & Innovation in Value-Added Products

Research and development are driving innovation in value-added products. Process innovations in roasting, flavoring, and shelf-life extension, along with the development of nutraceutical and health-focused formulations, are enabling the creation of premium, ready-to-eat, and convenience-oriented offerings. This supports product differentiation, helps capture new consumer segments, and improves margins for manufacturers.

7. Digital Sales, Distribution & After-Sales Support

Digitalization is also transforming sales, distribution, and after-sales services. E-commerce platforms, B2B marketplaces, QR-coded verification, and mobile-based service management are enhancing market reach and operational efficiency. AI-enabled demand forecasting, customer relationship management, and analytics tools are strengthening engagement with both institutional buyers and end consumers, enabling better supply alignment and improved brand loyalty.

8. Sustainability & Resource Optimization

Sustainability and resource optimization are increasingly embedded in operations across the sector. Energy-efficient dryers, water-recycling systems, and recyclable or eco-friendly packaging are helping reduce environmental footprint. Digital monitoring of energy and water consumption enables compliance with ESG standards and supports cost efficiency, while high-quality packaging and process optimization allow the industry to meet the growing expectations of conscious consumers and international markets.

COMPETITIVE LANDSCAPE

The Indian nuts and dry fruits industry operates in a diverse and competitive ecosystem comprising large domestic processors, organised retail players, export-oriented aggregators, MSME-based processors, and international importers. Competition is increasingly shaped by quality differentiation, processing efficiency, supply-chain robustness, and brand positioning, rather than only price. Companies are investing in advanced processing, value-added product portfolios, cold-chain logistics, digital traceability, and international certifications to strengthen market share, expand exports, and enhance consumer trust.

1. Key Factors Shaping Competition

1. Technology-Led Differentiation & Processing Efficiency

Competition is increasingly driven by the use of advanced processing and packaging technologies such as optical sorters, laser grading systems, automated roasting lines, and nitrogen-flush or vacuum packaging. These capabilities improve product uniformity, reduce contamination risks, and extend shelf life. Firms with superior technology deliver consistent quality and achieve higher margins in both domestic and export markets.

2. Vertical Integration & Control Across the Value Chain

Players that integrate sourcing, processing, packaging, and distribution gain clear competitive advantages through tighter quality control, reduced procurement costs, and enhanced traceability. Integrated firms can scale value-added products—roasted, flavoured, coated nuts, mixes, and gift assortments—while meeting stringent food-safety norms required by institutional buyers and exporters.

3. Pricing Power, Import Dependence & Cost Competitiveness

The industry remains sensitive to global price movements because India imports a significant share of nuts such as almonds, walnuts, and pistachios. Competitive advantage depends on managing sourcing relationships, efficient logistics, and cost-effective operations without compromising grade specifications. Firms that balance quality with price competitiveness retain institutional clients and premium retail visibility.

4. Digitalisation, Traceability & Supply-Chain Transparency

The adoption of IoT-based monitoring, cloud-led inventory systems, and QR-coded traceability is becoming a key differentiator. Digital tools ensure transparency across sourcing, storage, and quality checks, enabling compliance with stringent export regulations and building consumer trust—particularly important in premium and health-focused product categories.

5. Quality Assurance, Certifications & Food Safety Compliance

Consistent grading, freshness, uniform size, and contamination-free supply are central to competitive positioning. Firms with strong quality systems and certifications (ISO, HACCP, FSSAI, USDA Organic) gain preference from retailers, e-commerce platforms, and export markets. This shifts competition from purely price-led offerings to reliability and safety-driven differentiation.

6. Supply Chain Resilience & Cold-Chain Infrastructure

Given the perishable nature of nuts and dry fruits, companies with robust cold storage, controlled-atmosphere warehousing, and refrigerated logistics significantly outperform competitors. Strong supply-chain capabilities reduce spoilage, ensure year-round availability, and support premium SKUs where quality loss directly impacts brand perception.

2. Competitive Strategies

The competitive environment in India's nuts and dry fruits industry is shaped by product differentiation, supply-chain control, origin-based branding, and expansion into value-added formats. Companies increasingly adopt multi-pronged strategies—including import diversification, backward integration into sourcing, advanced quality assurance systems, digital distribution, and premiumisation—to safeguard margins in a volatile global commodity environment. The shift from a fragmented, trader-driven model to organised, brand-led participation has intensified competition across sourcing, processing, packaging, distribution, and consumer engagement. Key Competitive strategies are:

1. Multi-Origin Sourcing & Direct Procurement Integration

Companies increasingly diversify sourcing across major origins (US, Turkey, Iran, Vietnam, Afghanistan, Africa) to mitigate price volatility and climatic risks. Many are also integrating directly with growers, cooperatives, and packers through long-term contracts and farm-level procurement systems. This combination ensures supply stability, improves traceability, reduces intermediary margins, and enhances consistency in quality specifications.

2. Product Premiumisation & Value-Added Innovation

Firms are expanding beyond raw nuts into flavoured, roasted, coated, and blended products, along with trail mixes, health mixes, functional formulations, and ready-to-eat snack formats. Premiumisation strengthens margins, differentiates brands, and enables deeper penetration in urban, health-conscious, and gift-oriented consumer segments.

3. Investment in Advanced Processing, Grading & Packaging Technology

Competitive positioning is reinforced through adoption of optical sorters, infrared grading, automated roasting and seasoning systems, MAP/nitrogen-flush packaging, and strong food-safety frameworks (FSSC 22000, HACCP). These investments improve shelf life, reduce contamination risks, enhance uniformity, and meet stringent requirements of organised retail, e-commerce, and export channels.

4. Omnichannel Brand Building Across Retail & E-Commerce

Organised players are strengthening consumer-facing brands through presence across modern trade, quick-commerce platforms, marketplaces, and D2C websites. Digital branding, influencer-led campaigns, subscription models, and nutrition-focused communication help build premium positioning and recurring demand.

5. Segment Diversification into Gifting, Institutional & HoReCa Markets

Companies are expanding into corporate gifting, festive assortments, hotels, airlines, bakeries, and food-processing industries. Customised bulk packs and seasonally curated assortments help reduce dependence on retail seasonality and increase overall sales stability.

6. Supply-Chain & Cold-Chain Optimisation

To preserve quality and reduce wastage, firms invest in port-based warehouses, controlled-atmosphere storage, and distribution hubs near key consumption markets. Temperature-controlled logistics, real-time monitoring, and efficient distribution planning enhance product quality and improve retailer service levels.

7. Pricing Efficiency, Hedging & Market Intelligence

Given exposure to global price fluctuations, firms adopt forward contracts, staggered procurement, and data-driven hedging strategies. Integrated market intelligence systems help manage volatility and maintain competitive pricing compared to traders and import-driven players.

8. Strengthened Traceability, Compliance & Food-Safety Leadership

Enhanced traceability—through QR codes, blockchain-led documentation, and origin-linked quality reporting—helps companies meet APEDA guidelines, import regulations, and retailer audits. Compliance leadership is becoming a key competitive differentiator, especially for export-oriented processors.

9. Strategic Partnerships, Co-Branding & Product Co-Development

Partnerships with global origin cooperatives, flavour houses, and food-technology firms enable accelerated product innovation, specialised processing capabilities, and faster entry into premium or niche categories. These collaborations help Indian brands compete effectively with global entrants.

3. Barriers to Entry

The Indian nuts and dry fruits industry is characterised by a combination of structural, regulatory, and market-driven barriers that limit new entrants from rapidly scaling operations. The sector's dependency on global sourcing, stringent quality standards, capital-intensive post-harvest infrastructure, and the need for strong brand trust reinforce the dominance of established importers, processors, and branded players. As consumer preferences shift toward premium, traceable, and value-added products, entry barriers have intensified across sourcing, compliance, supply chain management, and distribution. Key barriers include:

1. High Dependence on Imports and Volatile Global Pricing

India relies heavily on imported almonds, walnuts, pistachios, cashews, cranberries, and blueberries. New entrants face exposure to currency fluctuation, freight volatility, and international price cycles. Import-dependent procurement also requires strong relationships with origin suppliers, which new players typically lack, making cost competitiveness difficult.

2. Capital-Intensive Quality, Sorting & Packaging Infrastructure

Setting up optical sorters, X-ray/IR graders, roasting lines, nitrogen-flush packaging, and food-safety compliant facilities requires significant upfront investment. Established players already operate automated units with FSSC 22000/HACCP certifications, creating a high entry threshold for smaller or unorganised firms seeking entry into organised retail.

3. Regulatory Compliance & Traceability Requirements

Compliance with FSSAI standards, APEDA export protocols, pesticide-residue limits, and retailer-specific audits requires strong quality systems. Increasing emphasis on traceability and origin authentication (QR-based tracking, batch-level documentation) raises both cost and capability barriers for new entrants.

4. Strong Incumbent Relationships with Global Origin Suppliers

Large Indian importers maintain long-standing ties with growers and cooperatives in the US, Turkey, Iran, Vietnam, and African markets. These partnerships ensure priority allocation, favourable pricing, and access to premium grades. New entrants struggle to secure reliable supply, particularly during global shortages or climatic disruptions.

5. Brand Loyalty and High Marketing Costs

Organised brands have invested significantly in premium positioning, health-driven communication, influencer marketing, and D2C channels. Competing with established consumer trust—especially in almonds, cashews, raisins, and trail mixes—requires sustained marketing expenditure, which acts as a barrier for newcomers.

6. Cold Chain, Warehousing & Logistics Competencies

Maintaining quality in nuts, berries, and seeds requires controlled-atmosphere storage, port-based warehousing, temperature-monitored logistics, and moisture-control systems. Building such a supply chain is expensive and operationally specialised, limiting entry to players with strong logistics capabilities.

7. Working Capital Intensity Due to Bulk Import Cycles

Imports are typically purchased in large container-load quantities to optimise freight and maintain inventory for seasonal demand (festive, wedding, winter). This ties up substantial working capital. New players without strong balance sheets struggle to compete with established firms that hedge and purchase efficiently.

8. Difficulty in Scaling Value-Added and Differentiated Products

Value-added segments—flavoured nuts, mixes, coated nuts, and functional blends—require R&D capabilities, consistent seasoning profiles, automated lines, and food technologist expertise. New entrants find it challenging to match the consistency, innovation pipeline, and SKU breadth of incumbent brands.

4. Consolidation Trends

The Indian nuts and dry fruits industry is gradually moving from a fragmented trading ecosystem toward a more consolidated, brand-led structure. Increasing compliance requirements, growing demand for packaged products, and the need for scale-efficient sourcing and processing are accelerating consolidation among importers, processors, and retail-facing brands. Key consolidation trends in the industry are:

- Shift Toward Organised and Branded Players

A steady consumer shift from loose to packaged dry fruits is driving consolidation, as organised companies with strong distribution, branding, and food-safety compliance outcompete small traders. This is expanding the share of national brands and integrated processors.

- Rising Capital & Compliance Requirements

Investment in cold chain, automated sorting, nitrogen-flush packaging, and FSSAI/traceability standards is increasing. Larger players can absorb these costs more efficiently, prompting smaller processors to merge, partner, or outsource to integrated operators.

- E-Commerce and Quick-Commerce Driven Concentration

Digital and quick-commerce platforms prefer compliant, consolidated suppliers for reliability, fulfilment capability, and SKU consistency. This naturally reduces supplier fragmentation and strengthens the position of a few large, tech-enabled brands.

- Strengthening of Import Linkages and Origin Contracts

Long-term sourcing relationships in the US, Middle East, Turkey, Vietnam, and Afghanistan are consolidating procurement power with larger importers. Smaller traders increasingly rely on these origin-linked aggregators for stable supply.

- Entry of FMCG, Health-Food, and D2C Players

Large FMCG and investor-backed health-food brands are expanding into nuts and value-added dry fruit mixes through acquisitions and brand extensions. Their scale, marketing capability, and pan-India reach are accelerating consolidation across premium and value-added segments.

✓ Integrated Operating Model The Company operates an integrated business model encompassing sourcing, importing, in-house processing, packaging, and distribution of dry fruits, enabling greater control over product quality, customisation, and value addition compared to pure trading entities. ✓ Diversified Product Portfolio The Company offers a broad range of dry fruits, nuts, processed variants, assorted mixes, and ready-to-consume snack products, catering to bulk, wholesale, retail, institutional, and gifting segments. ✓ In-house Processing Capabilities The establishment of in-house processing activities such as cleaning, grading, shelling, cracking, sorting, mixing and packaging allows the Company to move beyond bulk trading into higher-margin value-added products. ✓ Multiple Distribution Channels The Company has expanded its sales channels to include bulk B2B trading, wholesale and retail supply, institutional sales, direct-to-consumer formats, and corporate gifting, reducing dependence on any single channel. ✓ International Sourcing Network The Company maintains sourcing relationships with overseas suppliers across regions such as Asia, the Middle East, and North Africa, supporting product availability across different dry fruit categories.	✗ Relatively Limited Operating History Incorporated in 2022, the Company has a comparatively short operating track record, which may limit historical performance assessment and long-term benchmarking. ✗ Dependence on Imports A significant portion of raw materials is imported, exposing the Company to foreign exchange fluctuations, international logistics disruptions, and changes in import regulations or duties. ✗ Working Capital Intensity The dry fruits business is working capital intensive due to bulk procurement requirements, inventory holding, and price volatility in global commodity markets. ✗ Scale of Operations Compared to established national brands and large integrated players, the Company operates at a relatively smaller scale, which may impact bargaining power with suppliers and logistics partners.

Opportunities (External / Market Realities)	Threats (External / Sector Challenges)
🌀 Growing Demand for Packaged and Value-Added Dry Fruits Increasing consumer preference for packaged, hygienic, and value-added food products supports expansion in processed, flavoured, and customised dry fruit offerings. 🌀 Expansion of Retail and E-commerce Channels Growth in organised retail, online platforms, and quick-commerce creates opportunities to increase direct-to-consumer sales and brand visibility. 🌀 Corporate and Festive Gifting Segment Rising demand for corporate gifting, festive hampers, and customised assortments presents opportunities to scale the Company's gifting vertical. 🌀 Product Diversification and New SKUs The Company can further expand into additional nut varieties, seeds, health mixes, and innovative snack formats aligned with evolving consumer preferences. 🌀 Geographic Expansion Opportunities exist to expand distribution into additional domestic markets and selectively explore export opportunities for processed and packaged products.	⚠️ Commodity Price Volatility Prices of dry fruits and nuts are subject to fluctuations due to climatic conditions, global supply-demand dynamics, and geopolitical tensions, including conflicts involving the United States, Israel, Iran and the broader Middle East region, which may disrupt supply chains and impact procurement costs and margins. ⚠️ Intense Competition The industry is highly competitive, with participation from unorganised traders, regional processors, and established branded players, exerting pressure on pricing and margins. ⚠️ Regulatory and Compliance Risks Changes in food safety regulations, import policies, customs duties, or quality standards may increase compliance costs or impact sourcing. ⚠️ Logistics and Supply Chain Disruptions Dependence on international sourcing exposes the Company to risks related to shipping delays, port congestion, and freight cost volatility. ⚠️ Shifts in Consumer Preferences Rapid changes in consumer demand, taste preferences, or health trends may require continuous product adaptation and innovation.

FUTURE OUTLOOK

The future outlook for the Indian nuts and dry fruits industry remains strongly positive, supported by sustained structural demand, improving supply-chain integration, and continued formalisation. Rising disposable incomes, accelerated urban consumption, and the shift toward healthier snacking are expected to deepen penetration across both metropolitan and Tier II/III markets. Consumption will also rise as nuts, seeds, and berries become a regular component of packaged foods, bakery, confectionery, dairy alternatives, nutraceuticals, and ready-to-eat products, creating stable institutional demand.

Supply-side dynamics are anticipated to improve with increased orchard productivity, expanded post-harvest infrastructure, scientific grading and sorting, and better cold-chain logistics. Government-backed programmes for horticulture development, GI tagging, export facilitation, and quality certification are expected to support long-term capacity enhancement. At the same time, India's strategic positioning as a major processing and value-addition hub—supported by investments in roasting, flavouring, packaging, and private-label manufacturing—will continue to attract organised players. However, the industry remains dependent on imports for several key products such as almonds, pistachios and certain berries, and geopolitical tensions in key producing regions, including recent conflicts involving Iran and Israel, may intermittently disrupt supply chains and create short-term price volatility. The rise of integrated players that manage procurement, processing, branding, and omnichannel distribution is expected to improve sourcing diversification and supply chain resilience over the medium term.

Digital transformation will remain a critical growth catalyst. Wider adoption of traceability solutions, data-driven procurement tools, blockchain-based quality assurance, automated grading, and AI-enabled demand forecasting will enhance transparency and reduce wastage. E-commerce and quick-commerce channels will continue expanding the consumer base, especially for premium and flavoured variants. Online-first brands are expected to scale rapidly due to favourable unit economics, subscription models, and targeted digital marketing.

In the broader market landscape, premiumisation will advance through increased demand for exotic nuts and berries, organic and residue-free variants, functional blends, and customised nutritional mixes. Institutional procurement by hotels, airlines, cafés, and FMCG companies will further strengthen as India's food services and packaged foods industries expand. Export opportunities are likely to grow gradually, supported by trade agreements, improved quality compliance, and India's evolving role as a processing hub for global private-label brands.

Overall, the industry is projected to expand steadily over the medium term, driven by sustained consumer preference shifts, supportive policy reforms, improved supply-chain efficiency, and rising participation of organised players. While price volatility and import dependence will continue to influence margins, the long-term trajectory indicates strong growth, deeper market penetration, and higher value addition across the value chain.

CORE BUSINESS VERTICALS FOR REVENUE

The company has a major of five business verticals:

1. Containerised Bulk Sales
2. Wholesale Sales
3. Modern Trade
4. Export Sales
5. Direct-to-customer (D2C)

1) Containerised Bulk Sales

The Company undertakes containerised bulk sales of dry fruits, nuts and seeds, primarily catering to institutional customers, traders, manufacturers and distributors. Under this vertical, products are supplied in large volumes using containerised logistics or bulk packaging formats, enabling efficient handling, storage and transportation of consignments.

Customers under this segment typically procure products for further processing, value addition, repacking or redistribution under their own brands or through established trade channels. This business vertical allows the Company to optimize logistics costs, achieve economies of scale and maintain steady off-take of high volumes. Due to the nature of bulk transactions and repeat orders from institutional clients, containerised bulk sales form a significant contributor upto 45.07% as on November 30, 2025 of the Company's overall revenues.

2) Wholesale Sales

The wholesale sales vertical comprises the supply of dry fruits, nuts and seeds to wholesalers, regional distributors and traders across multiple domestic markets in India. Products are generally sold in bulk or semi-bulk packaging formats and are further distributed by channel partners to retailers, kirana stores, modern trade outlets and smaller traders. This vertical enables the Company to achieve deeper market penetration and ensures consistent, volume-driven sales across diverse geographies.

In addition to wholesale distribution, this segment also includes corporate gifting sales, wherein the Company supplies customized or pre-packed assortments of dry fruits and nuts to corporate clients, institutions and business houses, particularly during festive seasons and special occasions. Corporate gifting orders typically involve bulk quantities with specific packaging, branding or assortment requirements and offer higher value realization compared to standard wholesale transactions.

By catering to both conventional wholesale channels and corporate gifting requirements, this vertical enhances revenue diversification, strengthens customer relationships and supports the Company's brand presence in institutional markets.

CORPORATE GIFTING

The Company has commenced operations in the corporate gifting segment, wherein it undertakes customised gifting solutions for corporate customers. Under this segment, the Company supplies processed and traded dry fruits that are packaged in customised and aesthetically designed boxes, jars and gift packs, as per customer requirements. Corporate orders are typically received from large corporate customers for festive occasions, events and client gifting. The Company manages the entire process, including product selection, packaging, customisation and delivery. The corporate gifting segment enables the Company to cater to bulk orders, enhance brand visibility and diversify its revenue streams.

3) Modern Trade

The modern trade vertical comprises supply of processed and packed dry fruits, nuts and seeds to organised retail chains, supermarkets, hypermarkets and large-format stores across India. Under this segment, the Company supplies products either directly to retail chains or through their designated distribution systems, in compliance with quality control, packaging specifications, labelling norms and regulatory requirements prescribed by such retailers.

4) Export Sales

The export sales vertical involves the supply of dry fruits, nuts, seeds and allied agro-commodity products to customers located outside India. The Company undertakes export transactions in accordance with applicable Indian export laws, foreign trade policies, customs regulations and complies with the provisions of the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 and the rules and regulations made thereunder.

Export sales are executed based on customer specifications with respect to product grades, certifications, packaging formats and logistics. Through this vertical, the Company is able to diversify its revenue streams, reduce dependence on domestic markets and leverage international demand for Indian-sourced and processed agro-commodities. Export operations also provide the Company with exposure to international trade opportunities.

5) Direct-to-Consumer (D2C)

The Direct-to-Consumer (D2C) vertical comprises retail sales made directly to end consumers without the involvement of intermediaries. This includes sales through the Company's own website, third-party e-commerce marketplaces and direct retail or institutional consumer sales. Products under this vertical are typically sold in consumer-friendly retail packs designed to meet end-user preferences.

The D2C vertical enables the Company to directly engage with consumers, exercise greater control over pricing, branding and customer experience, and respond quickly to changing consumer demand patterns. It also provides higher margin potential compared to traditional wholesale channels and allows the Company to gather consumer insights, strengthen brand recall and expand its retail footprint.

E-COMMERCE SEGMENT

The Company has recently expanded its sales channels by listing its products on various e-commerce platforms including its own website and other e-commerce platforms. This initiative is intended to enhance product visibility, broaden customer reach and complement the Company's existing offline distribution network. The Company continues to evaluate digital sales platforms as part of its overall sales and distribution strategy, subject to commercial feasibility and operational considerations.

For the period ended November 30, 2025, total revenue stood at ₹22,015.16 lakhs, of which the Processing & Packaging segment contributed ₹11,919.88 lakhs (54.14%), while the Trading segment contributed ₹9,922.31 lakhs (45.07%).

Prior to FY 2025–26, the Company's operations were predominantly trading-driven. In FY 2024–25, revenue was entirely derived from trading activities (₹10,303.55 lakhs), with key contributors being dried dates (50.93%) and walnut kernels (33.41%). Similarly, in FY 2023–24 and FY 2022–23, trading remained the sole revenue stream, contributing 100% of total revenue, with dried dates forming a major share at 82.52% and 64.83%, respectively.

With the initiation of processing operations, the revenue mix has diversified significantly. In the current period, major contributors within the Processing & Packaging segment include walnut inshell (19.89%), almond kernels (17.18%), and walnut kernels (12.83%). The Trading segment continues to contribute meaningfully, led by walnuts inshell (26.03%) and dried dates (5.49%).

This transition reflects the Company's strategic shift towards value-added operations, enabling better margin realization, product diversification, and reduced dependence on pure trading activities.

Further, as part of the processing operations, shell waste generated from processing of almonds and walnuts is also sold.

The commencement of the processing and packaging facility has resulted in diversification of our revenue streams and a change in revenue mix, with increasing contribution from value-added activities in the current period.

The Company's purchase profile reflects a consistent scale-up in operations along with a strategic shift towards domestic sourcing. Total purchases have increased significantly from ₹1,737.92 lakhs in FY 2022-23 to ₹5,555.89 lakhs in FY 2023-24 and further to ₹9,043.15 lakhs in FY 2024-25, indicating growth in business volumes. As of November 30, 2025, total purchases stood at ₹15,323.29 lakhs.

While imports constituted a substantial portion of purchases in earlier years, domestic sourcing accounted for 100% of total purchases in FY 2024-25 and approximately 65.36% of total purchases as of November 30, 2025. This transition reflects the Company's focus on developing local supplier relationships, improving supply chain efficiency and mitigating risks associated with import dependencies, while supporting operational scalability.

PROCUREMENT PROCESS

Brief of Procurement Process

Domestic Procurement process

1. Purchase Requisition (PR)

The procurement process commences with the initiation of a Purchase Requisition (PR) by the respective user department, based on demand forecasts, production requirements, and prevailing inventory levels. The PR captures essential details such as the nature of goods, required quantity, delivery schedule, and, where applicable, recommended domestic vendors.

2. Vendor Sourcing & Price Evaluation

Upon receipt of the PR, the procurement team undertakes vendor sourcing from the domestic market. The Company identifies suitable suppliers based on parameters such as quality standards, pricing competitiveness, delivery capability, and past performance. Price quotations are obtained and evaluated to ensure cost efficiency, transparent commercial terms, and timely supply.

3. Purchase Order (PO) Issuance

After finalizing the vendor, a formal Purchase Order (PO) is issued, clearly outlining the specifications, quantity, pricing, delivery terms, payment terms, and other agreed commercial conditions. The PO serves as the binding document governing the transaction.

4. Delivery & Documentation

Goods are delivered directly by the domestic suppliers to the Company's warehouse or to a designated third-party location, as applicable. The supplier is required to provide relevant commercial documents such as the tax invoice, delivery challan, and any applicable quality or compliance certifications.

5. Receipt & Inspection

Upon receipt of goods, a Goods Receipt Note (GRN) is generated after verification of quantity and preliminary quality checks by the Company's team. Detailed quality inspection is carried out to ensure conformity with specifications. Any discrepancies in quantity or quality are documented through a Non-Conformance Report (NCR) and communicated to the vendor for corrective action.

6. Invoicing & Payment

The Finance team processes payments based on a three-way matching of the Purchase Order, GRN, and supplier invoice. Payments to domestic vendors are made through banking channels such as NEFT or RTGS, in accordance with the agreed credit terms.

7. Record Maintenance & Review

All procurement-related documents, including PRs, POs, GRNs, invoices, and payment records, are systematically maintained in the Company's accounting and record-keeping systems to ensure audit readiness and traceability. Periodic reviews are conducted to assess vendor performance, monitor procurement costs, and ensure adherence to delivery timelines, supporting operational efficiency and risk management.

Import Procurement Process

1. Vendor Identification

The Company sources dry fruits from overseas suppliers located in key producing regions. Vendors are identified based on parameters such as product quality, certifications, capacity to supply, pricing, country-specific regulations, and historical performance. Supplier due diligence is conducted to ensure compliance with applicable food safety and trade regulations.

2. Regulatory and Quality Compliance

Prior to procurement, suppliers are required to comply with applicable regulatory standards, including furnishing documents such as Phytosanitary Certificates, Health Certificates, and any other country-specific export certifications. The Company ensures compliance with Indian food safety regulations, including applicable FSSAI requirements for imported food products.

3. Price Quotation & Contract Finalization

Suppliers provide quotations on internationally accepted trade terms such as Free on Board (FOB) or Cost, Insurance, and Freight (CIF). The quotations specify pricing, shipment schedules, payment terms, and quality specifications. Based on evaluation, commercial terms are finalized and documented.

4. Purchase Order Issuance and Shipment Planning

A Purchase Order (PO) is issued detailing product specifications (including grade, moisture content, size, and packaging standards), quantity, tolerances, shipment schedule, port of loading, port of discharge, and agreed Incoterms. Shipment planning is aligned with the Company's inventory management and production requirements.

5. Shipping & Export Documentation

The overseas supplier provides complete export documentation, including Commercial Invoice, Packing List, Bill of Lading (BL) / Airway Bill (AWB), Certificate of Origin (COO), Phytosanitary Certificate, and Insurance Policy, as applicable. These documents form the basis for customs clearance and regulatory verification.

6. Custom Clearance

Upon arrival at the Indian port of entry, the Company or its appointed Customs House Agent (CHA) files the Bill of Entry for home consumption. Applicable Basic Customs Duty (BCD), Social Welfare Surcharge (SWS), Integrated Goods and Services Tax (IGST), and other statutory levies are paid. Imported consignments are subject to Customs examination, FSSAI inspection, and sampling, wherever mandated.

7. Post Clearance Transportation & Warehousing

Following customs out-of-charge, the consignment is transported to the third party warehouses or the Company's warehouse or processing facility under controlled conditions. Upon receipt, Goods Receipt Note (GRN) is generated after verification of quantity and preliminary quality parameters. Detailed quality inspection is undertaken to ensure conformity with agreed specifications.

8. Invoicing & Payment

Payments to overseas suppliers are made in accordance with the agreed commercial terms through permitted banking channels such as Telegraphic Transfer (TT), SWIFT, or Letters of Credit (LC). Foreign remittances are executed in compliance with applicable Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA) and RBI guidelines.

PROCESSING OF DRY FRUITS

Processing of Almonds

Raw Material Procurement & Inspection

Almonds are procured in in-shell form from approved suppliers. Upon receipt, the material undergoes inspection for moisture content, infestation, shell integrity, and overall quality. Accepted lots are stored in clean, dry, and ventilated storage areas.

Mechanical Cracking & Shell Separation

The in-shell almonds are fed into almond cracking machines where controlled mechanical pressure is applied to crack the shell without damaging the kernel. Post-cracking, a sorting and separation machine segregates kernels from shells based on size, weight, and airflow.

Manual Sorting & Quality Grading

After machine separation, kernels are transferred to sorting tables where manual workers inspect and segregate almonds based on size and appearance, broken or damaged kernels, and foreign matter. Rejected material is separated, and only acceptable kernels proceed to packing.

Quality Control & Inspection

Quality control checks are conducted at various stages of the processing cycle to ensure conformity with internal standards and customer specifications. These checks include visual inspection, verification of grading parameters and monitoring of handling and storage conditions. Batch-wise identification and traceability are maintained throughout the process.

Packing

Finished almond products are packed using a combination of semi-automatic and manual packing methods into different pack sizes as per the order received. Each pack is sealed, labeled, and batch-coded as per regulatory and customer requirements.

Processing of Walnuts

Raw Material Procurement & Inspection

Walnuts are procured in in-shell form and inspected for shell condition, kernel quality, moisture, and infestation. Accepted lots are stored under hygienic conditions

Manual Cracking

Walnuts are cracked entirely by manual labor using hand tools. Due to the delicate nature of walnut kernels, mechanical cracking is avoided to prevent excessive breakage

Manual Kernel Extraction & Sorting

After cracking, workers manually extract kernels and sort them based on size and color, whole versus broken kernels, and visual quality and cleanliness. Shell fragments and rejected kernels are removed at this stage

Manual Grading & Quality Control

The extracted kernels undergo further manual grading to meet customer-specific quality specifications. Quality control checks are conducted to ensure conformity with internal quality standards relating to appearance, cleanliness, moisture and absence of defects. Only kernels that meet the prescribed quality parameters are approved for packing.

Packing

Walnut kernels are packed manually into different pack sizes as per the orders received. Packing is done in food-grade packaging materials, followed by sealing, labeling, and batch identification

SALE PROCESS

Summary of Sale Process (Domestic)

1. Order Receipt

The sales process begins with the receipt of a confirmed order from the customer via email, phone call, or through the sales team. The order must clearly specify the product type, required quantity, delivery location, preferred delivery date, and any specific packaging or grading requirements.

2. Order Review and Stock Check

Once the order is received, the sales team reviews it and verifies stock availability in coordination with our team. Based on the order volume and the company's credit policy.

3. Sales Order Creation

Upon receipt and confirmation of the purchase order from the customer, the order details are recorded in our order management system. The recorded information includes the agreed commercial terms, such as product specifications, quantities, pricing, delivery schedule and the applicable credit period.

4. Dispatch and Documentation

The dispatch team is responsible for arranging timely packaging and shipping of goods. They ensure that all products meet quality standards and are packed securely to prevent contamination or damage. Required documentation—such as the invoice, delivery challan, and e-way bill (if applicable)—is prepared and sent along with the shipment.

5. Delivery and Proof of Delivery (POD)

Upon delivery, the customer acknowledges receipt by signing the Proof of Delivery (POD), which is then recorded and stored for future reference.

6. Invoicing and Payment Follow-Up

The invoice is issued either electronically or in physical form, depending on the customer's preference. The Finance team monitors the credit period and follows up for payment through scheduled reminders. In cases where payments are delayed beyond the agreed period, escalations are made and interest or penalties may be applied as per company policy.

7. Record Keeping and Credit Review

All sales-related records—including orders, invoices, dispatch notes, PODs, and payment status—are maintained in the Tally system or sales register. Regular customer credit reviews are carried out to ensure policy compliance, and any risks or deviations are reported to management.

Summary of Sale Process (Export)

Export Order Receipt

The export process commences with the receipt of a confirmed export order from overseas customers through email, trade inquiries, export agents, or the Company's sales team. The export order specifies details such as product type, grade, quantity, destination country, port of discharge, delivery schedule, packaging specifications, and applicable Incoterms.

Order Review, Feasibility & Compliance Check

Upon receipt of the export order, the Company reviews the order for commercial feasibility, stock availability, production capacity, and compliance with destination-country regulations. This includes verification of country-specific import requirements, food safety standards, labeling norms, and shelf-life requirements.

Export Sales Order & Contract Finalization

After internal approvals, an Export Sales Order is created capturing all agreed terms including product specifications, pricing, Incoterms (such as FOB or CIF), shipment schedule, payment terms, and credit period, if any. Where applicable, export contracts or proforma invoices are issued to the overseas customer.

Regulatory Certifications & Export Documentation

Prior to shipment, the Company obtains and prepares requisite export documentation, including Commercial Invoice, Packing List, Phytosanitary Certificate, Certificate of Origin, and Health Certificate, as applicable. Additional documentation required by the importing country or customer is also arranged.

Customs Clearance & Port Operations

The Company or its appointed Customs House Agent (CHA) files the Shipping Bill with the Indian Customs authorities. Goods are presented for customs examination, and export clearance is obtained upon compliance with applicable regulations. Once cleared, the consignment is handed over to the shipping line or airline for onward transportation.

Shipment & Logistics Coordination

The dispatch and logistics team coordinates container stuffing, sealing, and movement of goods to the port of loading. Shipments are executed as per the agreed schedule, and Bill of Lading (BL) or Airway Bill (AWB) is obtained as proof of shipment.

Invoicing & Foreign Currency Realisation

Post shipment, the final export invoice is issued to the customer. Payments are received in foreign currency through permitted banking channels such as SWIFT, Telegraphic Transfer (TT), or Letters of Credit (LC), in accordance with the agreed payment terms and applicable RBI and FEMA regulations.

INDUSTRY AND BUSINESS SPECIFIC REGULATIONS

The Food Safety and Standards Act, 2006 (“FSSA”)

The FSSA was enacted on August 23, 2006 repealing and replacing the Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, 1954. The FSSA seeks to consolidate the laws relating to food and establish the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (“FSSAI”) for setting out scientific standards for articles of food and to regulate their manufacture, storage, distribution, sale and import to ensure availability of safe and wholesome food for human consumption.

The standards prescribed by the FSSAI include specifications for ingredients, contaminants, pesticide residue, biological hazards and labels. Under Section 31 of the FSSA, no person may carry on any food business except under a license granted by the FSSAI. The FSSA sets forth the requirements for licensing and registering food businesses in addition to laying down the general principles for safety, responsibilities and liabilities of food business operators.

The enforcement of the FSSA is generally facilitated by ‘state commissioners of food safety’ and other officials at a local level. Under Section 51 of the FSSA, any person who manufactures sub-standard food for human consumption is liable to pay a penalty which may extend up to ₹ 5,00,000. FSSA has defined sub-standard as, an article of food which does not meet the specified standards but not so as to render the article of food unsafe. The provisions of the FSSA require every distributor to be able to identify any food article by its manufacturer, and every seller by its distributor that should be registered under the FSSA and every entity in the sector is bound to initiate recall procedures if it finds that the food marketed has violated specified standards. Food business operators are required to ensure that persons in their employment do not suffer from infectious or contagious diseases. The FSSA also imposes liabilities upon manufacturers, packers, wholesalers, distributors and sellers requiring them to ensure that, inter alia, unsafe and misbranded products are not sold or supplied in the market.

Furthermore, to address certain specific aspects of the FSSA, the FSSAI has framed several regulations including the Food Safety and Standards (Licensing and Registration of Food Businesses) Regulations, 2011.

The FSSAI has also framed the Food Safety and Standards Rules, 2011 (“FSSR”) which have been operative since August 5, 2011. The FSSR also sets out the enforcement structure of ‘commissioner of food safety’, ‘the food safety officer’ and ‘the food analyst’ and procedures of taking extracts, seizure, sampling and analysis.

Further, FSSAI has issued guidance note on ‘Food Hygiene and Safety Guidelines for Food Businesses during Coronavirus Disease (COVID-19) Pandemic’ (“Guidance Note”) with an intent to provide guidance to food businesses, including their personnel involved in handling of food and other employees to prevent spread of COVID-19 in the work environment and any incidental contamination of food/food packages. It, inter alia, mandates that employers should have a COVID-19 screening protocol in place to screen all personnel entering the premise. The Guidance Note prescribes guidelines for the management of the food establishment to handle a Covid-19 suspect/positive case in accordance with the guidelines issued by Ministry of Health and Family Welfare and clean and disinfect the premises accessed by the suspected Covid-19 case.

The Guidance Note further mandates strict adherence to General Hygiene Practices specified under Schedule 4 of Food Safety and Standards (Licensing and Registration of Food Businesses) Regulation, 2011 (“Schedule”). The Schedule enumerates multiple compulsory measures to be adopted by food business operators in the interest of human nutrition, safety and hygiene.

Subsequently the status of the company was changed to Public limited and the name of our company was changed to "ADON AGRO COMMODITIES LIMITED" vide special resolution passed by the shareholders at the Extra Ordinary General meeting of our company held on 21st December 2024. Our Company operates in the agro-commodity processing and trading sector, primarily engaged in the sourcing, importing, exporting, processing, packing and distribution of dry fruits, nuts, seeds and berries. The sourced products are sold in bulk to business-to-business ("B2B") customers and are also processed, packed and marketed under our proprietary brand "Hunger Nuts" for sale to wholesale and retail customers.

2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIESa. Basis of Preparation

These financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the Generally Accepted Accounting Principles in India ('Indian GAAP') to comply with the Accounting Standards specified under Section 133 of the Companies Act, 2013, as applicable. The financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention on accrual basis, except for certain financial instruments which are measured at fair value.

b. Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities on the date of the financial statement and the reported amount of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Difference between the actual results and estimates are recognized in the period in which results are known/materialized.

c. Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, Plant and Equipment are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation / amortization. Costs include all expenses incurred to bring the asset to its present location and condition. Borrowing cost directly attributable to the acquisition / construction are included in the cost of fixed assets. Adjustments arising from exchange rate variations attributable to the fixed assets are capitalized.

In case of new projects / expansion of existing projects, expenditure incurred during construction / preoperative period including interest and finance charge on specific / general purpose loans, prior to commencement of commercial production are capitalized. The same are allocated to the respective fixed assets on completion of construction / erection of the capital project / fixed assets.

Subsequent expenditures related to an item of tangible asset are added to its book value only if they increase the future economic benefits from the existing asset beyond its previously assessed standard of performance.

The useful life of the Assets has been taken as below:-

Type of Assets	Useful Life
Buildings	60 Years
Furniture and Fixtures	10 Years

Vehicles	8 Years
Office equipment	5 Years
Plant & Machinery	15 Years
Computers	3 Years

Intangible Asset

Intangible assets are recognized only if:

- It is probable that the future economic benefits attributable to the asset will flow to the enterprise; and
- The cost of the asset can be measured reliably. Intangible assets are initially measured at cost and are stated at cost less accumulated amortization and impairment losses, if any.

Amortization is calculated to write off the cost of intangible assets over their estimated useful economic lives and is included in depreciation and amortization in Statement of Profit and Loss. The Company amortises its intangible assets on a systematic basis over their estimated useful lives. The residual value of intangible assets is considered to be Nil, unless there is a contractual commitment by a third party to purchase the asset at the end of its useful life or where an active market exists for the asset. The amortisation method and useful lives are reviewed at the end of each financial year and adjusted prospectively, if appropriate.

The estimated useful life is as follows:

Type of Assets	Useful Life
Software	3 Years

Capital Work in Progress

Projects under which assets are not ready for their intended use are disclosed under Capital Work-in-progress. Property, Plant and Equipment under construction or installation, included in capital work-in-progress are not depreciated.

Intangible Asset Under development

Intangible assets under development which are not yet ready for the intended use are carried at cost comprising direct cost, related incidental expenses and directly attributable expenditure on making the asset ready for intended use. These are capitalised as Intangible assets in the year in which these are ready for intended use.

d. Depreciation and amortization

Depreciation has been provided on the Fixed Asset on the WDV method and in accordance with the useful life of the Asset as prescribed under Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013. Intangible assets are amortised over the life of underlying assets. Computer software are amortized over a period of 3 years.

e. Impairment of Assets

At each balance sheet date, the management reviews the carrying amount of its assets included in each cash generating unit to determine whether there is any indication that those assets were impaired. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset is estimated in order to determine the extent of impairment. Recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's net selling price and value in use. Where it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an individual asset because the asset does not generate independent cash inflows, the Company determines the recoverable amount of the smallest identifiable group of assets that generates largely independent cash inflows (cash-generating unit). For the purpose of impairment testing, the Company has identified its processing unit as a single cash-generating unit, as the assets deployed therein generate cash inflows that are interdependent and not separately identifiable. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows expected from the continuing use of the asset and from its disposal are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects the current market assessments of time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. Reversal of impairment loss is recognised as income in the statement of profit and loss.

f. Leases

Assets taken on lease by the Company in its capacity as lessee, where the Company has substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership are classified as finance lease. Such a lease is capitalised at the inception of the lease at lower of the fair value or the present value of the minimum lease payments and a liability is recognised for an equivalent amount. Each lease rental paid is allocated between the liability and the interest cost so as to obtain a constant periodic rate of interest on the outstanding liability for each year.

Lease arrangements where the risks and rewards incidental to ownership of an asset substantially vest with the lessor, are recognised as operating leases. Lease rentals under operating leases are recognised in the statement of profit and loss on a straight-line basis.

C) General description of significant leasing arrangement

The Company has entered into operating lease arrangements for office premises and factory premises. Lease terms range from 3 to 5 years with renewal options. Certain agreements contain lock-in clauses of 24–36 months. There are no escalation clauses other than annual rent escalation of 5%–10% as specified in the agreements. The leases are cancellable upon mutual consent after expiry of lock-in period.

g. Investment

Investments that are readily realizable and intended to be held for not more than a year from the date on which such investments are made, are classified as current investments. All other investments are classified as non-current investments. On initial recognition, all investments are measured at cost. The cost comprises purchase price and directly attributable acquisition charges such as brokerage, fees and duties.

Current investments are carried in the financial statements at lower of cost and fair value determined on an individual investment basis. Long-term investments are carried at cost. However, provision for diminution in value is made to recognize a decline other than temporary in the value of the investments. On disposal of an investment, the difference between its carrying amount and net disposal proceeds is charged or credited to the statement of profit and loss.

Investment Property

Property which is held for long-term rental yields or for capital appreciation or both, is classified as investment property. Investment property is measured initially at its cost, including related transaction costs. Subsequent expenditure is capitalised to the asset's carrying amount only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the expenditure will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. Investment properties are derecognised either when they have been disposed of or when they are permanently withdrawn from use and no future economic benefit is expected from their disposal. The difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is recognised in Statement of Profit and Loss in the period of derecognition. Long term investments are stated at cost and provision for diminution in value is made to recognise decline other than temporary.

h. Inventories

As per AS -2, the inventories are physically verified at regular intervals by the management. Cost is determined on a FIFO basis. Finished goods produced or purchased by the Company are carried at lower of cost and net realisable value. Cost of inventories comprises of cost of purchase, cost of conversion and other manufacturing cost net of taxes incurred in bringing them to present location and condition.

'Cost components include:-

i. Cash and cash equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid financial instruments, which are readily convertible into known amount of cash that are subject to an insignificant risk of change in value and having original maturities of three months or less from the date of purchase, to be cash equivalents.

j. Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognised in accordance with Accounting Standard (AS) 9 – Revenue Recognition, as notified under the Companies (Accounting Standards) Rules, 2006.

(a) Sale of Goods-

Revenue from sale of goods is recognised when:

- Significant risks and rewards of ownership have been transferred to the customer;
- The Company retains neither continuing managerial involvement nor effective control over the goods sold;
- The amount of revenue can be measured reliably; and
- It is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company.

In case of sale of products, revenue is recognised upon delivery of goods to the customer, which is when significant risks and rewards and title pass to the customer in accordance with the terms of the sale.

Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable and is reported net of discounts, rebates, returns and Goods and Services Tax (GST).

(b) Rendering of Services :-

Revenue from services is recognised in accordance with AS-9 on completion of services or proportionate completion method, as applicable, when:

- The amount of revenue can be measured reliably;
- It is probable that economic benefits will flow to the Company; and
- The stage of completion of the transaction can be determined reliably.

Service income is recognised as per the terms of the underlying contracts and is reported net of GST.

c) Interest Income-

Interest income is recognised on time proportion basis taking into account the amount outstanding and the rate applicable.

k. Employee Benefits

Post-employment benefit plans

Contributions to defined contribution retirement benefit schemes are recognised as expense when employees have rendered services entitling them to such benefits.

For defined benefit schemes, the cost of providing benefits is determined using the Projected Unit Credit Method, with actuarial valuations being carried out at each balance sheet date. Actuarial gains and losses are recognised in full in the statement of profit and loss for the period in which they occur. Past service cost is recognised immediately to the extent that the benefits are already vested, or amortised on a straight-line basis over the average period until the benefits become vested.

The retirement benefit obligation recognised in the balance sheet represents the present value of the defined benefit obligation as adjusted for unrecognised past service cost, and as reduced by the fair value of scheme assets. Any asset resulting from this calculation is limited to the present value of available refunds and reductions in future contributions to the scheme.

Other employee benefits

The undiscounted amount of short-term employee benefits expected to be paid in exchange for the services rendered by employees is recognised during the period when the employee renders the service. These benefits include compensated absences such as paid annual leave, overseas social security contributions and performance incentives.

Compensated absences which are not expected to occur within twelve months after the end of the period in which the employee renders the related services are recognised as an actuarially determined liability at the present value of the defined benefit obligation at the balance sheet date.

l. Borrowing Cost

Borrowing cost that are attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of qualifying assets are capitalized as part of the cost of such assets. A qualifying asset is one that necessarily takes a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use. All other borrowing costs are charged to revenue.

m. Foreign currency transactions

Income and expense in foreign currencies are converted at exchange rates prevailing on the date of the transaction. Foreign currency monetary assets and liabilities other than net investments in non-integral foreign operations are translated at the exchange rate prevailing on the balance sheet date and exchange gains and losses are recognised in the statement of profit and loss. Exchange difference arising on a monetary item that, in substance, forms part of an enterprise's net investments in a non-integral foreign operation are accumulated in a foreign currency translation reserve. Exchange difference has not been considered on non monetary items and same has been considered at historical rate eg- like advance payment made to foreign vendors.

n. Taxes on Income

Current income tax expense comprises taxes on income from operations in India and in foreign jurisdictions. Income tax payable in India is determined in accordance with the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961.

Minimum Alternative Tax (MAT) paid in accordance with the tax laws in India, which gives rise to future economic benefits in the form of adjustment of future income tax liability, is considered as an asset if there is convincing evidence that the Company will pay normal income tax after the tax holiday period. Accordingly, MAT is not recognised as an assets in the balance sheet as company is paying corporate tax as per section 115BAA of Income Tax act 1961 from March 2025 hence MAT provision is not applicable.

Deferred tax expense or benefit is recognised on timing differences being the difference between taxable income and accounting income that originate in one period and is likely to reverse in one or more subsequent periods. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using the tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the balance sheet date.

Advance taxes and provisions for current income taxes are presented in the balance sheet after off-setting advance tax paid and income tax provision arising in the same tax jurisdiction for relevant tax paying units and where the Company is able to and intends to settle the asset and liability on a net basis.

The Company offsets deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities if it has a legally enforceable right and these relate to taxes on income levied by the same governing taxation laws.

o. Earnings Per Shares

Basic earning per share is computed by dividing the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period. Diluted earning per share is computed by taking into account the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period and the weighted average number of equity shares which would be issued on conversion of all dilutive potential equity shares into equity shares.

p. Provisions, Contingent liabilities and Contingent assets

A provision is recognised when the Company has a present obligation as a result of past event and it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation, in respect of which reliable estimate can be made. Provisions (excluding retirement benefits and compensated absences) are not discounted to its present value and are determined based on best estimate required to settle the obligation at the balance sheet date. These are reviewed at each balance sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimates. Contingent liabilities are not recognised in the financial statements. A contingent asset is neither recognised nor disclosed in the financial statements.

Qualitative Disclosure About Market Risk

Credit Risk

Credit risk is the risk of financial loss to the Company, if a customer or the counterparty to a financial instrument fails to meet its contractual obligations, and arises principally from the Company’s receivables from customers and from its investing activities, including deposits with banks. The carrying amounts of financial assets represent the maximum credit risk exposure.

Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the company will encounter difficulty in meeting the obligations associated with its financial liabilities that are settled by delivering cash or another financial asset. Our Company’s approach to managing liquidity is to ensure, as far as possible, that it will always have sufficient liquidity to meet its liabilities when due, under both normal and stressed conditions, without incurring unacceptable losses or risking damage to the Company’s reputation. We believe that our working capital is sufficient to meet our current requirements.

Market Risks

We are exposed to various types of market risks during the normal course of business. Market risk is the risk that the future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk comprises three types of risk: price risk, currency risk and interest rate risk. The objective of market risk management is to manage and control market risk exposures within acceptable parameters, while optimizing the return.

Effect of Inflation

In recent years, India has experienced relatively high rates of inflation. While we believe inflation has not had any material impact on our business and results of operations, inflation generally impacts the overall economy and business environment and hence could affect us.

Phased Implementation of UPI For Bids by Individual Bidders as per the UPI Circulars

SEBI has issued UPI Circulars in relation to streamlining the process of public Issue of equity shares and convertibles. Pursuant to the UPI Circulars, UPI has been introduced in a phased manner as a payment mechanism (in addition to mechanism of blocking funds in the account maintained with SCSBs under the ASBA) for applications by Individual Investors through intermediaries with the objective to reduce the time duration from public Issue closure to listing from six Working Days to up to three Working Days. Considering the time required for making necessary changes to the systems and to ensure complete and smooth transition to the UPI Mechanism, the UPI Circulars proposes to introduce and implement the UPI Mechanism in three phases in the following manner:

- a) Phase I: This phase was applicable from January 01, 2019 and lasted till June 30, 2019. Under this phase, an Individual Bidder, besides the modes of Bidding available prior to the UPI Circulars, also had the option to submit the Bid cum Application Form with any of the intermediaries and use his / her UPI ID for the purpose of blocking funds. The time duration from public Issue closure to listing continued to be six Working Days.

- b) Phase II: This phase was applicable from July 1, 2019 and was to initially continue for a period of three months or floating of five main board public issues, whichever is later. SEBI vide its circular bearing number SEBI/HO/CFD/DCR2/CIR/P/2019/133 dated November 8, 2019 extended the timeline for implementation of UPI Phase II till March 31, 2020. Further, pursuant to SEBI circular number SEBI/HO/CFD/DIL2/CIR/P/2020/50 dated March 30, 2020, this phase was extended till further notice. Under this phase, submission of the ASBA Form without UPI by Individual Bidders through Designated Intermediaries (other than SCSBs) to SCSBs for blocking of funds was discontinued and replaced by the UPI Mechanism. However, the time duration from public Issue closure to listing continued to be six Working Days (T+6) during this phase.
- c) Phase III: This phase has become applicable on a voluntary basis for all issues opening on or after September 1, 2023 and on a mandatory basis for all issues opening on or after December 1, 2023, vide SEBI circular bearing number SEBI/HO/CFD/TPD1/CIR/P/2023/140 dated August 9, 2023 (“T+3 Notification”). In this phase, the time duration from public Issue closure to listing has been reduced to three Working Days. The Issue shall be undertaken pursuant to the processes and procedures as notified in the T+3 Notification as applicable, subject to any circulars, clarification or notification issued by the SEBI from time to time, including any circular, clarification or notification which may be issued by SEBI.

Pursuant to the UPI Circular, SEBI has set out specific requirements for redressal of investor grievances for applications that have been made through the UPI Mechanism. The requirements of the UPI Circular include, appointment of a nodal officer by the SCSB and submission of their details to SEBI, the requirement for SCSBs to send SMS alerts for the blocking and unblocking of UPI mandates, the requirement for the Registrar to submit details of cancelled, withdrawn or deleted applications, and the requirement for the bank accounts of unsuccessful Bidders to be unblocked no later than one day from the date on which the Basis of Allotment is finalized. Failure to unblock the accounts within the timeline would result in the SCSBs being penalised under the relevant securities law. Additionally, if there is any delay in the redressal of investors’ complaints in this regard, the relevant SCSB as well as the post – Issue BRLM will be required to compensate the concerned investor.

All SCSBs offering the facility of making applications in public issues shall also provide the facility to make applications using UPI. Our Company will be required to appoint one of the SCSBs as a Sponsor Bank to act as a conduit between the Stock Exchanges and NPCI in order to facilitate collection of requests and/ or payment instructions of the Individual Bidders using the UPI.

Further, pursuant to SEBI circular no. SEBI/HO/CFD/DIL2/CIR/P/2022/45 dated April 5, 2022, all UPI Bidders applying in public Issues where the application amount is up to ₹ 5,00,000 shall use the UPI Mechanism and shall also provide their UPI ID in the Bid cum Application Form submitted with any of the entities mentioned herein below:

- a syndicate member
- a stock broker registered with a recognized stock exchange (and whose name is mentioned on the website of the stock exchange as eligible for this activity) (“broker”)
- a depository participant (“DP”) (whose name is mentioned on the website of the stock exchange as eligible for this activity) a registrar to the issue and shares transfer agent (“RTA”) (whose name is mentioned on the website of the stock exchange as eligible for this activity)

Further, in terms of the UPI Circulars, the payment of processing fees to the SCSBs shall be undertaken pursuant to an application made by the SCSBs to the BRLM, and such application shall be made only after (i) unblocking of application amounts for each application received by the SCSB has been fully completed, and (ii) applicable compensation relating to investor complaints has been paid by the SCSB.

The processing fees for applications made by Individual Bidders using the UPI Mechanism may be released to the remitter banks (SCSBs) only after such banks provide a written confirmation in compliance with SEBI Circular No: SEBI/HO/CFD/DIL2/P/CIR/2021/570 dated June 2, 2021 read with SEBI Circular No: SEBI/HO/CFD/DIL2/CIR/P/2021/2480/1/M dated March 16, 2021.

Illustration of the Book Building and Price Discovery Process:

Bidders should note that this example is solely for illustrative purposes and is not specific to the Issue; it also excludes Bidding by Anchor Investors. Bidders can bid at any price within the Price Band. For instance, assume a Price Band of ₹ 20 to ₹ 24 per share, Issue size of 3,000 Equity Shares and receipt of five Bids from Bidders, details of which are shown in the table below. The illustrative book given below shows the demand for the Equity Shares of the Issuer at various prices and is collated from Bids received from various investors.

Bid Quantity	Bid Amount (₹)	Cumulative Quantity	Subscription
500	24	500	16.67%
1,000	23	1,500	50.00%
1,500	22	3,000	100.00%
2,000	21	5,000	166.67%
2,500	20	7,500	250.00%

The price discovery is a function of demand at various prices. The highest price at which the Issuer is able to Issue the desired number of Equity Shares is the price at which the book cuts off, i.e., ₹ 22.00 in the above example. The Issuer, in consultation with the BRLM, may finalise the Issue Price at or below such Cut-Off Price, i.e., at or below ₹ 22.00. All Bids at or above this Issue Price are valid Bids and are considered for allocation in the respective categories.
